Damage Light In New Downpour

By STEPHEN COOK

Marin County suffered hail, lightning, thunder, 100-mile-per-hour wind gusts and about two inches of rain last night and today, but the new storm was almost a relief compared to the past weekend's drenching.

"Partly cloudy" was the forecast for tonight and tomorrow.

High tide this morning sent water over creekbanks in some areas and over the breakwater in Sausalito, closing a portion of Bridgeway for a short time.

Steady winds of 80-90 miles an hour were clocked early today at the radar station atop Mount Tamalpais. Gusts went as high as 100 miles an hour.

Hail struck in San Rafael at 6:30 a.m. and was immediately followed throughout the county by thunder and lightning.

At 6:45 a.m., lightning struck the television antenna at the Albert Rouas home, 196 Birch Avenue, Corte Madera, and the television set, which was not turned on, exploded. Damage was estimated at about $300 to the disintegrated set and burned carpets.

In San Anselmo, an apartment house at 20 Luna Lane, just below the Red Hill slide which took out four untenanted apartment houses during the weekend, was evacuated at 4:30 a.m.

San Anselmo police evacuated four families, including owner Karl H. Baeck, when the building seemed threatened by a sudden increase in rainfall.

San Anselmo Building Inspector Robert W. Golcher said the families can move back when the rain subsides. The main slide stopped moving yesterday morning, he said, but about 100 square feet at the top of the cut broke loose last night.

He said the slide area, still too dangerous for removal of the wreckage, will be blanketed with plastic covers and floodlighted at night.

Some residents evacuated from the apartment building, Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Schuster and R. W. Murphy, were quartered for the night at the Edgewater Inn at Corte Madera, with accommodations paid for by the Marin Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Bridgeway, between Richardson and Princess streets in Sausalito, was closed from 2:06 to 2:40 a.m. when high tide and wind drove waves over the street.

In Mill Valley, East Blithedale Avenue was closed at Ashford Avenue from 2:15 to 4:15 a.m. by heavy flooding. Camino Alto at Miller Avenue was closed this morning due to high water. There was deep water also on Miller Avenue in front of Tamalpais High School.

Lightning hit a power pole transformer serving the Mill Valley sewage treatment plant at 5:07 a.m., knocking out power to the plant for an hour.

Other flooding areas reported were:

Novato — Warner Creek went out of its banks at the height of last night's rain, flooding at South Novato Boulevard, Diablo Avenue, Tamalpais Avenue and McClay Road.

Santa Venetia — Gallinas Creek overflowed this morning, covering many back yards on Vendola Drive. James D. Phillips of 601 Vendola said the creek was "the highest I've seen it in 12 years."

Belveron Gardens — Culverts backed up early today and water flooded Karen Way. Marin County Public Works Director Donald R. Frost said he did not know if water entered any houses.

Tiburon — Flooding was reported at Mercury Drive, Main Street and Juanita Lane.

Belvedere — Trees were down in several places. One snapped the antenna off a police car on

Johnson Budget Means 'Sacrifice,' Tax, Stamp Hikes

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson called on the nation today for "a measure of sacrifice"—higher taxes, higher postal rates, higher paycheck deductions—to help finance history's biggest budget.

Along with a $135-billion spending blueprint for fiscal 1968, the year starting next July 1, the President sent a hands-off warning to Congress members who are grumbling loudly at rising deficits, figured at $4.3 billion.

The spending loomed much larger, and the deficit smaller, in two less familiar budget yardsticks mentioned by Johnson. The "cash budget" adds up to $172.4 billion; the "national income accounts" show $167.1 billion with a deficit of only $2.1 billion. Both include Social Security and other trust fund payments along with the regular budget appropriations on which Congress acts.

Deep budget cuts could cause a recession instead of the expected seventh successive year of record prosperity, Johnson's annual budget message said.

He told Capitol Hill: "The economy, the budget, and the aims of our society would be jeopardized by either a larger tax increase than his proposed 6 per cent income tax surcharge, or by large slashes in military or civilian programs.

"I have reviewed these programs carefully. Waste and nonessentials have been cut out," he said.

WAR IMPACT

The budget bears what Johnson called "the deep imprint" of Vietnam. Acknowledging that the war is beginning to pinch, Johnson asked $19.4 billion for Vietnam alone in this year's expanded $67-billion defense Department budget and $21.9 billion in the $72.3-billion Defense Department budget for fiscal 1968. Roughly another $500 million in each year would be spent for economic aid in Vietnam through the Agency for International Development.

The President requested $375 million for start of production of the Nike X antiballistic missile defense "for such purposes as defense of our offensive weapon systems," pending arms limitation talks with the Soviet Union.

The deployment of the defenses—which could cost up to $40 billion—will be deferred, Johnson said.

But he added in the event discussion with Moscow "prove unsuccessful, we will reconsider our deployment decision."

NEW TAXES

The "sacrifice" asked by Johnson includes the 6 per cent surcharge on corporation and most personal income proposed in his State of the Union address—and widely criticized in Congress—as well as a further speedup in corporation tax payments and more "user taxes" on transportation. Successive stepups in Social Security taxes in 1968 and 1696 would be re-

JUDGE DECLARES WESTMORE FREE

College Of Marin Student Slayer Wins Napa State Hospital Release On Petition

By ROSS DAVIS

Hardy Westmore, who 14 months ago murdered a College of Marin student, today was declared a free man.

The ruling came from Judge Thomas F. Keating of Marin Superior Court on a petition by Westmore that he be found sane and ordered released from Napa State Hospital. He had been declared insane and committed last June 27.

Judge Keating, who said the court has no authority to place any sanctions — such as supervision or probation restraints — based his decision on Dec. 12 and Dec. 23 testimony by six psychiatrists.

All declared Westmore, who shot Michael Lazar to death Nov. 5, 1965, and wounded Lazar's companion, Janine Lieberman, has recovered his sanity "within the meaning" of California Penal Code requirements, according to Judge Keating.

He said a court order will be submitted immediately to the Napa hospital, releasing Westmore.

The 45-year-old Westmore, a former janitor at the college, was found insane during court trial on his plea of innocent by reason of insanity. Thus cleared of any criminal charge, he was ordered to the hospital for treatment of at least 90 days.

Last Oct. 21 he filed the petition for release on grounds that he was again mentally competent. In the December petition hearings, Dr. R. S. Rood, assistant superintendent of psychiatric service at the hospital, stated, "In our opinion, he (Westmore) has recovered his sanity with adequate insight."

He said it is "rather improbable that Westmore can now be more easily triggered to a psychotic explosion than other persons.

Dr. James Bakhtiar, in charge of the Marin County admitting ward at Napa, testified that Westmore functioned as "a normal human being" in hospital dining room chores he performed. He also participated will in group therapy sessions at the hospital, the doctor said.

Other psychiatrists testifying included Dr. David G. Schmidt of Larkspur, and Doctors Joseph P. Gutstadt and Robert W. Burke of San Rafael.

Westmore blasted Lazar, 22, of 1155 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield, and the girl, 18, of 4 Hillside Avenue, Kentfield, with a .30-caliber deer rifle during a visit by the pair at Westmore's apartment next door to Lazar's.

Arrested after running across the street to Ross General Hospital, he was unable to give any reason for the attacks, officers said.

Mother Dies, Baby Safe In Car Crash

A three-week-old baby boy yesterday survived uninjured a car crash which killed his mother on Highway 101, a mile south of the Marin-Sonoma county line.

Rescuers tearing their way into the wrecked car found the baby safe and sound under the instrument board where he had been thrown by the impact.

His mother, Cynthia Sue Bailey, 19, of San Ans..., Tex., suffered a chest injury in the one-car crash when she was struck by the steering column, said the California Highway Patrol.

She died in the emergency room at Novato General Hospital at 1:20 p. m. about one and one-half hours after the accident.

Her death brought to six the number of people who have died on Marin roads this year as a result of accidents. Last year, the number was two at this time.

Highway Patrol officers said doctors at the hospital reported Mrs. Bailey may have had an epileptic fit immediately prior to the accident, which caused her to swerve her car off the highway and hit a tree.

A truck driver, Robert Yank of San Jose, told police he saw Mrs. Bailey's car pass him at 55 miles an hour and then skid sideways into the tree. She was alone in the car with her baby.

Highway Patrolman Palmer W. Cunningham said there was no indication of mechanical failure of the vehicle.

The baby, Lloyd Spencer Bailey, was taken to the Novato hospital, where he was picked up later by his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy M. Krueger of Santa Rosa.

Mrs. Bailey had been visiting her parents that morning. Her husband is believed to be in Texas.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Healdsburg, Sonoma County.

Italy Readies For Russ Boss

ROME (AP) — Italy prepared a deluxe welcome today for Soviet President Nikolai Podgorny, but the friendship theme was jarred by the bombing of the Italian Communist party's Rome headquarters.

Regents Seek Faculty Help In Kerr Row

COMBINED AP & UPI

University of California regents moved today to mollify faculty groups over the sudden firing of President Clark Kerr; student groups demanded their say in picking his successor; Gov. Ronald Reagan denied any intention of twisting the regents' arms to fire Kerr, and some Legislature members said the firing doomed Reagan's program for economy in higher education.

Meanwhile, Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael—submitted a constitutional amendment designed to open regents' meetings to the public and prevent any more surprise firing votes.

University of California's Berkeley campus Academic Senate planned to consider today the peace gesture from the regents.

It was apparent, however, the 2,000 member faculty group would not be easily satisfied. They scheduled a meeting late today and another meeting of faculty members was called for Friday night.

Some teachers advocated daily 10-minute vigils of protest, a public ceremony in the Greek Theater — scene of student protest rallies in recent years—

Council Quick To Act On Red Hill Sliding

By FRANK FARRARA

San Anselmo City Council last night approved emergency measures against further slides on Red Hill, where four apartment buildings were collapsed by slides during the weekend storm.

As the council's special session was under way before a packed chamber, a new rain storm started, adding to the threat of more slides.

Councilmen authorized:

1. Plastic covering over soil at the top of the hill to keep it from becoming saturated and sliding downward, estimated to cost $1,000.

2. Creation of a surface drainage system in the mass of earth which has already slid, to prevent it from becoming a moving sea of mud.

3. Removal of all or a portion of the damaged buildings, whichever necessary, to create a "bench" as a safety factor and a "clear path" for city crews to work on drainage.

4. Lighting and surveillance of the upper hill area so that any earth movement would be spotted in its early stages.

Councilmen acted on the recommendations of soils engineer John Becker of Gribaldo, Jacobs, Jones and Associates of San Francisco, who made a "visual inspection" of the hill.

Becker said there is no imminent danger to the apartment building below the demolished buildings, the Pandora Restaurant, east of the slide area, or Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, unless there is an earthquake or "considerable rain in the near future."

He described "considerable rain" as "three to five inches in the next five or eight days."

Becker said he expected further sloughing off of small chunks of earth.

Mayor John M. Reichmuth said the two houses below the slide area would be evacuated if any substantial earth movement starts at the top of the hill.

Becker emphasized that his report was based only on sight inspection and was not to be considered a complete inspection. He said he didn't know how precarious the balance of the soil is at the top of the hill.

"If it got more and more soaked," the likelihood is that it would move," he said, "but I don't know how much."

Reichmuth called the Red Hill slide "a castrophe." The emergency session of the council was called to determine what action had to be taken.

During the two-hour session listeners questioned the events that led to construction of the apartments, and there were a multitude of suggestions for regulations to prevent another hillside disaster.

Reichmuth said the council met last night to act on the immediate crisis, and there would

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

33 Rounded Up

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Police swept through Santo Domingo and other cities during the night, rounding up dozens of persons accused of taking part in a plot to overthrow President Joaquin Balaguer.

Gen. Luis Ney Tejeda, head of the National Police, said about 33 persons have already been rounded up. Dispatches from Santiago, the nation's second city, reported the arrest of a number of men who took part in the April 1965 revolt to restore ex-President Juan Bosch to power.

T. V. Watchers

LONDON (AP) — Swinging, switched-on Britain is a land of stay-at-home television watchers and do-it-yourselfers, according to a government statistical report published today.

"Britain 1967," compiled after much research by the central office of information, reported:

Seven out of eight adults spend nearly every evening at home, watching television or mending things.

Reports Shelling

TOKYO (AP) — A Japanese fishing skipper reported today his boat was shelled by Communist Chinese shore batteries Jan. 14 shortly after he left the southeastern port of Foochow, Japan's Kyodo news service reported.

New Skirmishes

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Skirmishing described as serious to slight has broken out in three sectors of Laos between Laotian government forces and North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao troops, reliable military sources reported today.

Order Too Late

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — A commission of inquiry into the killing of Premier Hendrik Verwoerd reported today that the assassin, Dimitrio Tsafendas, had been ordered deported, but the order was held up until too late.

The report said that Tsafendas was an undesirable with a Communist background and a history of mental disorders who had been deported or denied entry to several countries, including the United States and Britain.

It said when an order for his deportation from South Africa was issued, the government department concerned delayed asking police to carry out the order and during this period of delay "Tsafendas found the opportunity to commit his dastardly act."

Span Meeting

The legislation committee of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District will meet Thursday at 11 a.m. in the administration building at the Golden Gate Bridge toll plaza.

Fear Hundreds Drowned By Brazil Floods

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — About 150 bodies have been recovered following disastrous floods around Rio de Janeiro, and one police estimate said as many as 500 may have died.

With hundreds reported missing, rescue workers combed through mud and debris. No exact casualty figures were available.

Torrential rains Sunday night fed the raging waters and set off landslides which swept one crowded bus off a highway into the swollen Paraiba River 33 miles west of Rio and buried another under mud and rocks. Fifty bodies were recovered.

A construction camp in the same area was engulfed by a tributary of the Paraiba. At least 300 persons were reported living in the area before the floods hits.

Luiz Eduardo Braga, who escaped through a rear window of a bus before it was buried in a landslide, said: "I tried to convince the others to get out of the bus after I left. It was fruitless. After I ran away from the bus, the mud came down and covered it."

Nicaraguan Rebellion Collapses

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) —Uneasy peace returned to Managua today following the collapse of a short-lived rebellion and the release of 44 Americans held hostage by anti-government demonstrators.

The government said the rebels laid down their arms last night and surrendered shortly after allowing the Americans and four other foreign hostages to leave the Gran Hotel in Central Managua where they had been held for 10 hours.

At least 15 persons died in the one-day revolt which broke out Sunday night after national guard troops fired on supporters of opposition leader Fernando Aguero Rochas, the Conservative Party candidate in presidential elections scheduled for Feb. 5. Most of the dead and wounded were civilians.

President Lorenzo Guerrero, in an official communique, announced "this tragic chapter is closed."

Meeting Thursday

The Independent-Journal incorrectly reported yesterday that Mill Valley Board of Appeals would meet today. The board will meet Thursday at 8 p.m. in City Hall to hear appeals of condemnation orders from three homeowners.

Reagan Calls For Welfare Revisions

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan today asked the legislature to take a "jobs, not handouts" approach to California's public welfare programs and stop perpetuating poverty.

He sent the lawmakers a special message outlining his plans to reassess the state's costly welfare programs. The federal, state and local welfare bill is expected to top $1.6 billion in California this year.

'PERPETUATE POVERTY'

"There is a growing recognition that welfare programs, as we have known them in the past, tend really to perpetuate poverty," the Republican governor said.

"We hope to change this approach—to give people the opportunity and the responsibility of earning their own livings.

"A welfare program, to be successful, should aim not at getting people into the program but at seeing how many people can be made self-supporting so they no longer need the program."

He added: "The able-bodied and many of our handicapped need, want and should have jobs, not handouts."

BILLS TO FOLLOW

Reagan said he would follow his formal message with administration-backed bills.

And, acting on his own, he announced plans for a "comprehensive review" of welfare programs, with particular attention to administrative and organizational improvements.

"The truly deserving must not be short-changed because of welfare chiselers and cheats," he said. "And the taxpayer, who bears the load, must be able to know with reasonable assurance that his money is not going to support the lazy and the indolent."

FRAUD CRACKDOWN

Along this line, Reagan said he would back legislation to require the state Department of Social Welfare to assist county welfare departments in establishing fraud investigation units and services. He said this would free case workers and counselors from handling fraud investigations.

And he proposed legislation to establish a central registry in the state Department of Justice for parents of abandoned children who receive public assistance. He said this would be aimed primarily at finding deserting fathers before the wife and children turn to welfare for aid.

The governor also suggested establishment of a governor's Job Training and Placement Council to work with H. C. (Chad) McClellan, whom Reagan already had picked to work with private industry in ifnding jobs for the unemployed.

The council, headed by Lt. Gov. Robert H. Finch, would be composed of six public members and two members from each house of the legislature.

JOB SERVICE

Its major task, Reagan said, would be to enlist "strong and active" support from private industry in developing a statewide job service. It also would develop a system to insure that public funds spent on job training were channeled into a single rehabilitative and placement program.

ARNOLD B. COME

Arnold Come New President Of Seminary

Rev. Arnold B. Come was named president of San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo by the seminary trustees at a special meeting yesterday.

Dr. Come has been acting president since November, 1965, when Theodore A. Gill was granted a leave absence. Dr. Gill later resigned to accept a post with the World Council of Churches.

The new president has been a member of the faculty since 1952 and was Stuart professor of systematic theology and dean of the faculty when he became acting president.

EARLIER CAREER

Prior to joining the Presbyterian Seminary, he was head of the department of philosophy and religion of Centre College in Danville, Ky., and for three years had been pastor of Robert Graham Memorial Church of Philadelphia.

In announcing Come's appointment to the predidency on a permanent basis, James R. MacKay, board chairman, said, "As churchman and scholar, he has made his mark nationally and internationally . . . and as administrator has demonstrated his fitness for the task over the past year."

Come, accepting the appointment, noted demands for change in theological education to meet "radical changes in our culture and world" and pledged an administration keyed to "the ecumenical theological community of the Bay Area."

BUSY AUTHOR

The new seminary president has served as delegate of the Presbyterian Church to both the World Council of Churches and the World Presbyterian Alliance, and is a member of key committees and commissions of both the council and the alliance.

He is the author of four books: "Human Spirit and Holy Spirit," "Agents of Reconsiliation," "Drinking: A Christian Position," and "An Introduction to Karl Barth's Dogmatics for Preachers." He also writes for a wide range of periodicals.

Dr. Come and his wife, the former Betty McClure, have two sons, A. Bruce Jr. and Lee McClure. They live on the San Anselmo campus.

Museum Meeting

The annual meeting of the Louise A. Boyd Natural Science Museum will be tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the Board of Supervisors chambers at Marin Civic Center.

The program includes an illustrated talk on "Adventure in Panama" by David Cavagnaro, an assistant at the California Academy of Science.

General Eludes Death As Reds Down Copter

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist guerrillas shot down two American helicopters near Saigon, U.S. military spokesmen said today. All four crewmen died in one crash but Brig. Gen. Richard T. Knowles and his crew survived the other.

Automatic weapons fire ripped into the helicopter carrying Knowles, commander of the Army's 196th Light Infantry Brigade, about 200 feet above the savage Iron Triangle jungles where his men were fighting in Operation Cedar Falls, the largest U.S. push of the war.

The second helicopter crashed, killing the four crewmen, after being hit Monday while attacking Communist guerrillas who ambushed a U.S. Navy Minesweeper on the southeastern side of Saigon.

The helicopter crashes came yesterday as U. S. spokesmen reported only sporadic fighting in South Vietnam. They also said bad weather hampered American strike pilots over North Vietnam where Communist gunners shot down a U.S. Air Force F4C Phantom. Its two man crew was listed as missing.

American spokesmen also reported an accidental U.S. Marine artillery barrage Saturday killed six civilians and wounded 10 more in two villages in the northern sector of South Vietnam. About the same time the U.S. Navy Seventh Fleet destroyer, firing at shore targets, hit another village killing four and wounding nine civilians.

U.S. Air Force B-52 Stratofortresses, striking three times in the past 24 hours in South Vietnam, struck Communist travel routes and a base camp just south of the North Vietnamese border late yesterday, bombed Communist troops in the border Demilitarized Zone at noon today and hit a suspected Viet Cong headquarters complex northwest of Saigon before dawn today.

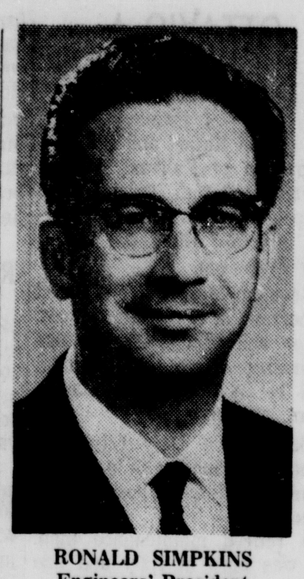

Mao Backers Take Control Of Province

HONG KONG (UPI) — Radio Peking said tonight the followers of Communist Party leader Mao Tse-tung had seized control of Shansi province after a battle involving "several tens of thousands" of workers and Maoist "revolutionary rebels."

If the report were confirmed it would be the largest clash involving pro-and anti-Mao elements in the political chaos Chinese leaders have called open civil war. Lesser clashes were reported throughout Manchuria and in Canton and other southern cities.

Shansi is a huge and rich province in northern China with coal mining and other major industries situated around its capital of Taiyuan, 200 miles southwest of Peking. Workers there were reported to have risen up against the cultural revolution's attempts to cut wages.

In another major development in the worsening Chinese crisis Peking Radio reported "new conspiracies" by Mao's opponents to subvert and split the forces supporting the aged leader. The Czech news agency CTK reported some of Mao's opponents were trying to stage a revolutionary coup to depose Mao.

Novato Planners Approve PG&E Building Plans

The Novato Planning Commission last night approved plans for a new office building for Pacific Gas and Electric Co., to be constructed on a 12,000-square foot lot on Grant Avenue, 160 feet west of Fifth Street.

The Novato Planning Commission also:

1. Approved construction of a Mobil Oil service station at Ignacio Boulevard and Alameda Del Prado.

2. Denied F. Jamespicchi permission to remove a tree at 1202 Grant Avenue.

3. Continued until Feb. 13 Gerald G. Hoytt's request to rezone from single family to retail business three acres at Novato Boulevard and Tamalpais Avenue; and request of Charles P. Smith and David R. Akers to rezone from agricultural to multiple family a lot on the north side of Hill Road, 400 feet west of Diablo Avenue.

Kerr Controversy Rages On, Off State Campuses

and a flood of letters to regents, expressing faculty willingness to "seriously consider other job offers...if (adverse) conditions prevail."

Regents Chairman Theodore R. Meyer asked the university's Academic Council, a group representing faculty members at UC's nine campuses, to appoint a committee to "advise the regents" on appointment of Kerr's successor.

The proposal was accepted by the council after an emergency meeting last night. The council, composed of 13 members, represents 7,000 faculty members at the campuses.

Meyer issued the peace gesture to the faculty as students staged rallies and meetings at the campuses throughout the state. Highlight of the student action was announcement of plans for a motorcade to the state capitol from each campus Saturday night.

More than 6,000 students and faculty members turned out yesterday for a noon rally at UCLA where student president Robert Michaels disclosed formation of a statewide "California Federation of Students."

He said the new organization would include students from every campus of the university as well as representatives from the state system. The federation, he said, would fight Reagan's proposals and insist that it be consulted on the appointment of a new president.

The California Federation of Teachers (CFT), in an angry statement issued in Los Angeles, announced that a mass march would be staged to the Capitol on Feb. 11 to protest Reagan's education policies.

Gov. Reagan today defended the firing of Kerr and said he has no intention of ever "arm twisting" the UC regents.

The administration of the nine-campus university, Reagan said "won't be sullied by partisan politics because this governor has no intention of ever overruling the regents."

At a crowded Capitol news conference, the Republican governor said Kerr, himself, initiated the discussion that led to the 14-8 vote for his dismissal last Friday.

"I voted as one of 14," Reagan said.

Reagan spoke as two leaders of the Democratic majority said Kerr's firing doomed chances for legislative approval of Reagan's higher education economy and tuition plans.

Reagan said he would continue to push for his plans.

"The legislature will beef up the budget so the state can operate and then it will be up to him to cut it," said Sen. Stephen P. Teale, D-Railroad Flat.

"He's got the blue pencil," added Teale.

"When we begin to really deliberate the budget, I don't think he'll be able to justify a 10 per cent cut," said Assembly Majority Leader George N. Zenovich, D-Fresno.

Zenovich said Reagan "is beginning to alienate" Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D-Inglewood, who appears to be moving to the front in the battle against the governor's belt-tightening program.

The firing of Kerr was brought on by his supporters on the Board of Regents, Lt. Gov. Robert Finch says.

Finch told newsmen yesterday in San Diego that pro-Kerr regents wanted to vote again Friday to give Kerr a vote of confidence. But this vote was 14-8 for his dismissal.

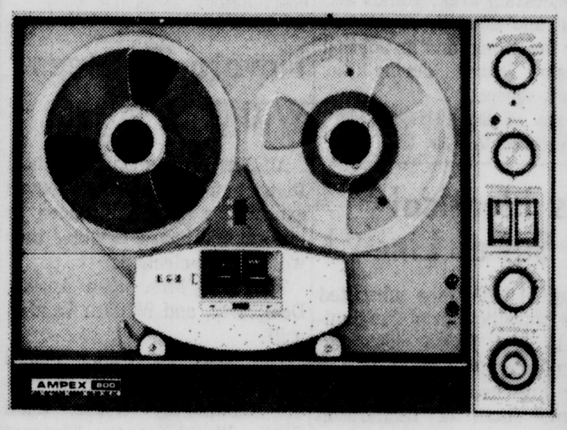

Finch said neither he nor Gov. Ronald Reagan wanted an early vote because they did not want Kerr's dismissal connected with the change of state administrations.

In another development, Assemblyman Bagley objecting to the manner in which Kerr's firing was handled, submitted legislation aimed at preventing abrupt, secret firings of UC employes.

His constitutional amendment —requiring two-thirds approval by the legislature and a vote of the people—calls for closed personnel meetings only if the employe under fire is notified 24 hours in advance that he has the right to a public hearing. Regents meetings would be open except those dealing with personnel, national security, honorary degrees and court matters.

Although Lyndon B. Johnson is the 36th president of the United States, Hubert H. Humphrey is the 38th vice president. Their numerals do not coincide because some presidents had more than one vice president while others had none.

No Tax Increase Expected For Kentfield Schools

The Kentfield School District board, reviewing a preliminary budget last night, said the district should operate in the 1967-68 school year "without seeking additional tax authorization from the voters."

Supt. Anthony G. Bacich said this means some capital outlay items in the preliinary budget will have to be eliminated, and some cutbacks in maintenance may be necessary.

He said he will meet with district principals to decide priorities for capital outlay items.

The board heard reports on team teaching, and ability grouping for mathmatics and reading being started with seventh and eighth grade students.

Quake Issue Laid Aside For A While By Planners

The Marin County Planning Commission yesterday agreed to let the earthquake issue rest, at least until the general plan for the county is discussed further — or until the next earthquake.

County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker told the commission that he would include study of fault line rift zones in an over-all geological study of Marin to be proposed as part of the general plan.

Supervisors last week turned down Zucker's suggestion that a committee of spcialists be appointed to conduct a pilot study of rift zones in connection with land use.

Planning commissioner Claude Stoller, who opposed entry of the planning department into the field, emphasized yesterday that there was a responsibility for study, but said it should be undertaken by the building department.

Commission chairman Margartet Azevedo suggested requesting supervisors to allow the commission to re-examine the matter to clarify the needs for such a study, but other commissioners did not support the proposal.

"We'll let the matter drop," Mrs. Azevedo said.

Records Taken

Theft of a record changer, amplifier and records worth $275 was reported yesterday to Mill Valley police by Kenneth Duncan, 424 West Blithedale Avenue. The theft occurred during the day while the house was empty, he said.

Damage Light In New Downpour Over Marin

Bella Vista Avenue at 3:50 a.m. A slide at 176 Fern Road blocked the road.

The Coast Guard reported five boats aground off Strawberry Point this morning, but no lives in danger. The Coast Guard was also investigating a report that a floating dock at Sausalito was adrift and a threat to shipping.

FOUR BLACKOUTS

At least four power failures were reported. At 9:30 p.m. yesterday, a tree fell across wires on Fern Lane in San Anselmo, knocking out power to about 50 homes.

At 1 a.m. today, a tree broke wires near the Belvedere substation and some 780 customers on Belvedere Island and the lagoon were without electricity until 4:35 a.m.

At 1:30 a.m., 875 customers in Stinson Beach and Bolinas lost power when stiff winds blew three limbs onto power lines. Stinson power was back on by 2:40 a.m., Bolinas by 5:25 a.m.

At 2:30 a.m., the south side of Tiburon along Tiburon Boulevard lost power. Some of the 1,400 customers had electricity again by 3:25 p.m.; the hest had power by 4:21 a.m.

WATER POLLUTED

Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, Marin County Health Officer, warned that Point Reyes Station residents will probably have to boil their water for another week, after weekend floods fouled delivery lines of the Point Reyes Water Co.

Tanker trucks from the Marin County Fire Department carried 31,000 gallons of water to the community yesterday and had the water tank there filled by 10 p.m.

Dr. Albrecht said the county cannot be certain the water is safe for drinking until completion of tests, which take about a week.

SLIDE THREAT

In San Rafael, Public Works Director Norris M. Rawles reported all roads clear, but said a house on Bungalow Avenue in the Bret Harte areas is threatening to slide.

Marin County firemen worked all day yesterday, trying to clear mud and debris that cascaded onto Aberdeen Way in the Second Valley area of Inverness Saturday.

In Larkspur, families evacuated from homes on Polhemus Way, Wilson Way and College Court have all returned to their homes, according to Public Works Director Warren Mistron.

In San Rafael rainfall in the 24 hours to noon today was 1.94 inches.

In other communities, rainfall in the 24 hours to 8 a.m. was:

Ross, 2.28 Larkspur, 1.65; San Anselmo, 2.10; Fairfax, Reyes Station, 1.55; Inverness, 1.65; Bolinas, 1.86; Mill Valley, 1.84; Tamalpais Valley, 1.70; Sausalito, 1.55; Belvedere, 1.62; Civic Center, 2.10; Santa Venetia, 2.00; Terra Linda, 1.85; Hamilton Air Force Base, 2.04; Novato, 2.00.

Elsewhere in the Bay Area, the storm claimed a life last night when 5-year-old Scott Schmidt drowned as he fell from a bridge into rain-swollen San Franciscuito Creek near Menlo Park.

The Weather bureau issued traveler's warnings this morning for heavy snow and strong winds in the mountains.

RED HILL

be investigation "at a later date.'

City officials who approved the construction were governed by a soils engineering report, Reichmuth noted.

City Atty. John G. Buresh said, "I don't see any liability on the part of the city or any board or commission or officer or employee."

Public Works Director Charles R. Leitzell said the soils engineers, Harding Associates, "called for a drainage ditch at the top of the old slide area," but it was never constructed.

"The improvements were not completed because the developer (Meadowbrook Developers of Novato) had financial difficulties and that's why there wasn't any certificates of occupancy issued," he said.

"Maybe if the improvements called for by the soils engineers were made, there wouldn't have been a slide."

There were no representatives of the soils engineers or the developers at the meeting. Leitzell said it was his understanding that the property is now owned by Delta Mortgage Insurance Co. The council authorized him to seek funds from the company for the emergency work.

The council also authorized Leitzell to correct ponding on Red Hill property owned by Mrs. Norman T. Gilroy of Mill Valley, which Leitzell described as an unstable area.

Among suggestions that were made at the meeting were that the city:

Have an ordinance requiring that the drainage and other improvements be completed before buildings are constructed.

Hire a soils engineer to review soils engineer reports prepared for developers.

Require a soils study, covering not only the development area, but all relevant area, in hillside projects.

Place wells in the hill which would pull water from the hill and eliminate the cause of slides.

Seek to have the area designated a disaster area so state and federal funds would be available.

Pass an ordinance forbidding excavation on steep hillsides.

Some of the comments from the audience of more than 50 persons were:

"Those in charge of planning and the planning commission should be held almost directly responsible." (Reichmuth explained that the planning commission and city council, neither consisting of soils experts have to rely on the reports from soils engineers).

"That hill is going to keep coming down"

"I saw the scars and was ashamed. Where you cut, it will crumble."

"In our car pool, we used to bet when they (the apartments) would come down."

The council is scheduled to meet at 8 p.m. today and some initial action is expected to be taken toward steps to tighten controls on hillside building.

MARIN FIRE CALLS

YESTERDAY:

2:40 a.m., Belvedere—Fire reported in home on Peninsula Road, but was found to be reflection from gas fed furnace.

8:36 a.m., Sausalito—Motor in washing machine overheated at home of H. J. Keizer, 12 Cazneau Avenue; no damage.

3:38 p.m., San Anselmo—Short circuit in electric stove at home of Charles Turner at 22 Oakwood Avenue; no damage.

TODAY:

6:45 a.m., Corte Madera—Lightning destroyed television set at home of Albert Rouas, 196 Birch Avenue. Damage was $325 to set and carpet.

Eased Permit Rules Backed In Mill Valley

Mill Valley Planning Commission last night recommended that non-conforming commercial buildings in residential zones be granted conditional use permits if there is a need for them.

Planning Director Harvey E. Bragdon said commissioners agreed that non-conforming "accidents" often are part of the city's charm. At present, nonconforming commercial buildings must be replaced by residential structures if their commercial buildings must be replaced by residential structures if their commercial use ends.

The city council will hear the proposal Feb. 6.

Mill Valley Planning Commission also:

1. Re-elected Chairman Edward J. Bossenecker and Vice Chairman John K. Robinson to second one-year terms.

2. Continued to Feb. 13 amendment of the zoning ordinance to extend provisions of the planned residential district classification to multiple and commercial districts.

3. Set a field trip Feb. 12 at 1 p. m. to tour proposed future city limits.

4. Adjourned in memory of Nancy L. Batchelder, late wife of Commissioner Donald Batchelder.

Talbot Has New Date With Death

Convicted murderer Dorman F. Talbot Jr., 26, has his second date with death in San Quentin's gas chamber set for March 1.

On Death Row since July, 1965, Talbot had his first death date, set for Sept. 14 last year, canceled on his appeal to the Supreme Court for a review of his case.

He was convicted in Santa Barbara County for the 1965 slaying of Michael D. Batholomew, a 20-year-old sailor.

Talbot is the second condemned prisoner who has a death date pending. Last week, David J. Seiterle, 25, was sentenced to die in the gas chamber April 6. There has been no execution there since Jan. 23, 1963.

RAGE To Meet Under New Name

Consumers Assn. of Marin, formerly a housewife picket group called RAGE, will meet at 7:30 p.m. today at Dominican College's Guzman Hall.

Chairman Marilyn Gordon of San Anselmo will talk on Lucky Stores' recent decision to become a discount chain and Safeway Stores' announced intention to match their prices, reported publicity chairman Sara Schickling.

The women members of the association are continuing their comparative price-shopping of 20 Marin markets, said Mrs. Schickling.

Federal Jury Acquits One Peace Marcher

SAN FRANCISCO — A federal jury deadlocked yesterday on tresspassing charges against a 43-year-old Fairfax woman and four other peace pickets arrested last August at the Naval Weapons at Port Chicago.

A sixth defendant, Lawrence D. Cooper, 26, of San Francisco, was acquitted by the jury, which deliberated more than six hours.

Mrs. James A. Holland of 34 Acaica Road, Fairfax, and the others, all of San Francisco or the East Bay, face possible retrial. The U. S. attorney's office was given until Monday by Judge Lloyd Burke to decide on retrial.

Cooper said he was outside the base Aug. 8 to pass out information when arrested. The five, on whom the jury was hung, said they were at the naval station to halt a loaded napalm truck and were pulled onto the base by marines and then arrested.

Burglars Hit TV Center

Theft of $589 worth of television sets and transistor radios in a burglary of Cox's TV Sales and Service, 603 Del Ganado Road, Terra Linda, was reported today by sheriff's officers.

Alton E. Cox told deputies someone possibly used a key to open the front door. He said 13 radios and three television sets, plus $15 cash, were taken.

William G. Young of San Francisco reported a gas kitchen stove was taken from a vacant house he owns at 105 Richardson Drive, Strawberry. Entry was through an open rear door or window, according to deputies.

Records Stolen

About $200 worth of phonograph records were stolen Sunday night from his apartment at 1551 Fourth Street, San Rafael, Henry L. Barrett told police. Entry was by breaking a rear door.

997 On Petition For Sewer Bond

A total of 997 voters signed petitions to consolidate Mill Valley proposed $500,000 sewer bond election with the April 18 school board election, by the 5 p.m. deadline yesterday, Chamber of Commerce Secretary Carol Healy reported today.

A total of 750 signatures was needed.

Most of the signatures appear to meet requirements of the county elections department that signatures be exactly as recorded by the department for previous elections, she said. Deputy City Clerk Lucretia H. Little and county elections department officials will start checking the names tomorrow.

Road Hearing In Session

Hearing on legality of a referendum petition on a Marincello access road resumed today before Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court.

Golden Gate Headlands Committee filed a petition May 11 demanding that the board of supervisors either negate its ordinance granting the road access, or call a referendum. The county clerk later ruled the petition lacked sufficient legal signatures, and the hearings are to determine if that finding is correct.

Judge Wilson said the matter will probably take four days.

Supervisors Call Marin Disaster Area

The Marin County Board of Supervisors today declared Marin County a disaster area as a result of the weekend storm and asked the Governor and President to ratify the declaration.

The action came after an hour-long discussion of the flood damage, including a report from Public Works Director Donald R. Frost. He said the flood was probably worse than flooding in December, 1955.

He estimated damage in the unincorporated area alone at $350,000 to $500,000.

Veterans Service officer James Burdick, who also serves as Civil Defense coordinator, said low interest loans for home owners would be available and some reimbursement to public agencies possible if the two declare Marin a disaster area.

Cities and districts claim reimbursement for work done to repair losses in a distaster area, Burdick said.

Decision On Boat Waste Order Delayed

BLYTHE (AP) — The State Harbor and Water Craft Commission has put off a decision whether to require boating facilities to have equipment for receiving waste matter from boats.

The commission, after hearing testimony yesterday against the proposal, agreed that no boats should empty waste material into fresh water in California. But the commissioners agreed to study the matter further.

Two years ago the California Assembly voted to require facilities in accordance with needs and standards established by the commission.

Mill Valley Parks To Get Equipment

Playground equipment costing the City of Mill Valley $5,000 will be installed at Molino and Freeman parks "in a few weeks," Parks and Recreation Director Don Dimitratos reported last night.

Equipment will be installed in Sycamore Park in about three months, he estimated, when new turf matures there.

In a review of rules governing tennis players at Boyle Park, commissioners agreed to allow singles two set on weekends and to limit doubles players to two sets to prevent small groups from tieing up one court.

Dimitratos reported that city crews will empty trash barrels in Boyle Park immediately after Saturday's little league games, instead of on Monday; that the leagues will repair and repaint the concession area, stands and dugout, and that city crews will repair the infield and install and maintain fences during the baseball season.

Review of the 1967-68 budget was deferred to Feb. 13.

Bids Identical On Sewer Line

Identical bids were submitted to the Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District Board yesterday for replacing 75 feet of 10-inch sewer line under the highway on-ramp south of Richardson Bay Bridge.

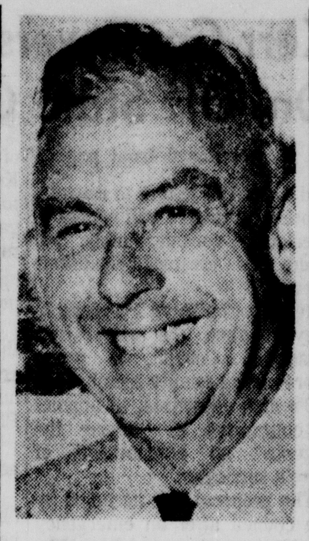

The only two bidders, McGuire and Hester of Oakland and Maggiora and Ghilotti of Corte Madera, both quoted $4,650 for the job. The board awarded the contract to McGuire and Hester.

The line is to be installed by boring under the paving. The State Division of Highways refused to permit cutting the paving to install the line, for which Maggiora and Ghilotti had submitted a low bid of $3,480.

Umbrella Taken

An umbrella and raincoat valued at a total of $35 were stolen from his car parked outsid his home at 225 Nova Albion Way, San Rafael, last night, Arhur G. Sheldon reported to police.

ARTHUR E. WEDEMEYER
Former Larkspur mayor

OBITUARIES

Arthur E. Wedemeyer Dies At 61

Funeral for Arthur Edward Wedemeyer, former Larkspur mayor and city councilman, was held today in Ukiah, Mendocino County.

Wedemeyer, 61, died of a heart attack Saturday at his home in Ukiah, where he moved in 1951 from Larkspur.

His survivors include a son, Arthur E. Wedemeyer Jr. of Larkspur, and a daughter, Patricia Ratto of San Anselmo.

A native of Illinois, Wedemeyer had lived in California for 43 years. In the early '20s he established the first meat market in Beverley Hills, and did stunt flying in the movies.

Later he moved to Larkspur where he owned a confectionery and served the city as councilman in 1948-50 and mayor, in 1950. He was president of the Larkspur Lions Club.

He was a member of the Lake Mendocino Lions Club, past president of Ukiah's Pomo Shrine Club, and belonged to several Masonic groups. He was a member of the Ukiah Civil Service Commission.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Eileen Wedemeyer of Ukiah; his son Arthur; two daughters, Mrs. Ratto and Maureen Foster of San Francisco; three brothers, and two sisters.

$2,812 Made At Cancer Society Feed

The Marin Chapter of the American Cancer Society raised $2,812 last night at its second annual dinner at Sabella's Restaurant in Mill Valley.

About 225 persons attended, headed by actress Nina Foch.

Dinner was provided free by Angelo Sabella, proprietor of the restaurant, with all proceeds to the society. The restaurant staff

Elmer Anderson was dinner chairman. Price Hall served as coordinator.

Novato Trustees Will Run Again

They are Mrs. Jean Ansley, Dougherty, and William Vandergriff.

The board set polling places for the April 18 election at Novato Community House, and Olive, West Novato, Pleasant Valley, Hill, Marion, Novato High, Rancho, Lynwood, Pacheco, Loma Verde, and Lu Sutton schools.

Marinite's Poetry Book Is Released

"Moon Shots," a first poetry book by Etel Adnan of the Dominican College teaching staff, has been released by the Sausalito-Belvedere Gazette in Sausalito.

The S-B Gazette also announced the publication of "Complaintes de la Steppe" by Roger Pecheyrands of France, a book of French poetry about the author's capture and life in a concentration camp during World War II.

OTTAVIO A. GUERRINI

Rosary for Ottavio A. Guerrini, father of Frank O. Guerrini of San Rafael and Nilda R. Lauricella of Fairfax, will be recited at 8 p.m. today at the chapel of Valente, Marini, Perata and Co., 649 Green Street, San Francisco.

Requiem Mass will be offered tomorrow at 9:30 a.m. at St. Peter and Paul's Church, San Francisco. Private entombment will be in Holy Cross Mausoleum, Colma.

Guerrini, a Daly City resident, died Sunday in a Greenbrae convalescent hospital. He was 74.

A retired maintenance man, he was born in Italy and had lived in California for 45 years.

He is also survived by three grandchildren, and a brother and sister in California and Italy.

ELEANORE WHITE

Eleanore E. White, 47, of Olema, died yesterday at a local hospital after a long illness.

A native of Mill Bank, S.D., she had lived in Washington prior to moving 10 years ago to the Boyd Stewart Ranch in West Marin, where her husband, Amel, was employed.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by three daughters, Wendy White of the home, Mrs. Roger Bare of Santa Rosa and Mrs. Duane Oehlschlaeger of Point Reyes Station; her mother, Mrs. Josephine Hughes of Pasco, Wash.; four sisters, Mrs. Ann Coon, Mrs. Viola Hovanic and Mrs. Doris Craig, of Portland, Ore., and Mrs. Marion Schultz of Gypsum, Colo.; three brothers, Leonard Modesky of Seattle, Wash., Edward Modesky of Grand View, Wash., and Arnold Modesky of Seattle, Wash. and five grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 11:45 a.m. Thursday at the Redwood Chapel funeral home in Novato. Burial will be in Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno. Memorial contributions to the cancer society would be appreciated by the family.

LAURENCE B. THOMAS

Private funeral for Laurence B. Thomas of San Rafael, veteran longshoremen's union official, will be held Thursday at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael.

Thomas, 56, of 163 Oak Drive, was killed Saturday when his car struck a guard rail on rainslick Fourth Street in San Rafael.

An ex-seaman, Thomas joined the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union while working on the docks in Stockton.

He rose through the ranks of union leadership until he was named president of Local 13 in Wilmington, Los Angeles County. He served several terms as president in the 1940s. In 1949, he was eected to the ILWU-Pacific Maritime Assn. Coast Labor Relations Committee.

Thomas was appointed union arbitrator for Northern California in 1963.

He belonged to the committee which formed the ILWU-PMA mechanization and modernization fund agreement under which longshoremen and shippers were to split the benefits of automation.

Thomas served with the Navy in the Pacific during World War II.

He was born in Florida and lived in Marin County 15 years.

His death brought to five the nember of traffic fatalities in Marin this year, as compared to two at the same time in 1965.

Survivos are his wife, Eina; two daughters, Terri and Lauren, and a son, Laurence Jr. all of San Rafael.

MISS MARGUERITE F. BURTCHAELL

Private funeral for Marguerite Finlayson Burtchaell, daughter of a Marin County pioneer family, was scheduled today at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael.

Miss Burtchaell, of 94 Forbes Avenue, San Rafael, died Sunday in a local hospital after a long illness.

Born in San Rafael, she was a daughter of the late Peter Burtchaell, who operated one of the city's largest grocery stores on Fourth Street, between C and D streets, for many years.

Miss Burtchaell was retired from the old Crocker Bank in San Francisco. She was active with the Episcopal Church in Ross.

She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Janice Marston and Effie Burtchaell of San Rafael, and a brother, Egbert Burtchaell of San Anselmo.

RUBY JANE WHITE

Funeral for Ruby Jane White, 24-year-old mother of three killed in an auto accident Jan. 20, will be at 10 a.m. Thursday at Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo. Interment will be private.

Mrs. White was killed when her car rolled over on Highway 101 north of St. Vincent's Hill. With her in the car, but uninjured were her three daughters: Denise Irene, 6; Cheryl Marie, 4, and Roberta Lynn, 3.

Mrs. White, a divorcee planning to remarry within a few weeks, and her children lived with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond G. Sidbeck at 404 San Francisco Boulevard, San Anselmo.

Besides her children and parents, Mrs. White is survived by three brothers and three sisters, Mrs. Betty Gilmore and Sylvia, Elsie and Ronald Sidbeck, all of San Anselmo, and Clarence Sidbeck, U.S. Navy, and Robert Sidbeck, U.S. Marine Corps.

HOWARD P. WURTZ

Funeral for Howard P. Wurtz, a former resident of Inverness, will be tomorrow in the chapel of St. Paul Episcopal Church, Walnut Creek, at 2 p.m.

Wurtz died Sunday in a Walnut Creek hospital after a long illness. He was 69.

A retired employee of Prudential Insurance Co., he moved to Inverness in 1962 and moved away in February of last year. He was a member of St. Columba's Episcopal Church in Inverness. He was a native of New York.

He is survived by his wife, Winifred H. Wurtz; a son, Howard P. Wurtz Jr. of Santa Barbara; two sisters, Mrs. Frank Harrison of Phoenix, Ariz., and Mrs. Arthur Roberts of Toronto, Canada, and two grandchildren.

The family prefer memorial contributions to the American Cancer Society.

Damage Light In New Downpour Over Marin

Bella Vista Avenue at 3:50 a.m. A slide at 176 Fern Road blocked the road.

The Coast Guard reported five boats aground off Strawberry Point this morning, but no lives in danger. The Coast Guard was also investigating a report that a floating dock at Sausalito was adrift and a threat to shipping.

FOUR BLACKOUTS

At least four power failures were reported. At 9:30 p.m. yesterday, a tree fell across wires on Fern Lane in San Anselmo, knocking out power to about 50 homes.

At 1 a.m. today, a tree broke wires near the Belvedere substation and some 780 customers on Belvedere Island and the lagoon were without electricity until 4:35 a.m.

At 1:30 a.m., 875 customers in Stinson Beach and Bolinas lost power when stiff winds blew three limbs onto power lines. Stinson power was back on by 2:40 a.m., Bolinas by 5:25 a.m.

At 2:30 a.m., the south side of Tiburon along Tiburon Boulevard lost power. Some of the 1,400 customers had electricity again by 3:25 p.m.; the hest had power by 4:21 a.m.

WATER POLLUTED

Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, Marin County Health Officer, warned that Point Reyes Station residents will probably have to boil their water for another week, after weekend floods fouled delivery lines of the Point Reyes Water Co.

Tanker trucks from the Marin County Fire Department carried 31,000 gallons of water to the community yesterday and had the water tank there filled by 10 p.m.

Dr. Albrecht said the county cannot be certain the water is safe for drinking until completion of tests, which take about a week.

SLIDE THREAT

In San Rafael, Public Works Director Norris M. Rawles reported all roads clear, but said a house on Bungalow Avenue in the Bret Harte areas is threatening to slide.

Marin County firemen worked all day yesterday, trying to clear mud and debris that cascaded onto Aberdeen Way in the Second Valley area of Inverness Saturday.

In Larkspur, families evacuated from homes on Polhemus Way, Wilson Way and College Court have all returned to their homes, according to Public Works Director Warren Mistron.

In San Rafael rainfall in the 24 hours to noon today was 1.94 inches.

In other communities, rainfall in the 24 hours to 8 a.m. was:

Ross, 2.28 Larkspur, 1.65; San Anselmo, 2.10; Fairfax, Reyes Station, 1.55; Inverness, 1.65; Bolinas, 1.86; Mill Valley, 1.84; Tamalpais Valley, 1.70; Sausalito, 1.55; Belvedere, 1.62; Civic Center, 2.10; Santa Venetia, 2.00; Terra Linda, 1.85; Hamilton Air Force Base, 2.04; Novato, 2.00.

Elsewhere in the Bay Area, the storm claimed a life last night when 5-year-old Scott Schmidt drowned as he fell from a bridge into rain-swollen San Franciscuito Creek near Menlo Park.

The Weather bureau issued traveler's warnings this morning for heavy snow and strong winds in the mountains.

be investigation "at a later date.'

City officials who approved the construction were governed by a soils engineering report, Reichmuth noted.

City Atty. John G. Buresh said, "I don't see any liability on the part of the city or any board or commission or officer or employee."

Public Works Director Charles R. Leitzell said the soils engineers, Harding Associates, "called for a drainage ditch at the top of the old slide area," but it was never constructed.

"The improvements were not completed because the developer (Meadowbrook Developers of Novato) had financial difficulties and that's why there wasn't any certificates of occupancy issued," he said.

"Maybe if the improvements called for by the soils engineers were made, there wouldn't have been a slide."

There were no representatives of the soils engineers or the developers at the meeting. Leitzell said it was his understanding that the property is now owned by Delta Mortgage Insurance Co. The council authorized him to seek funds from the company for the emergency work.

The council also authorized Leitzell to correct ponding on Red Hill property owned by Mrs. Norman T. Gilroy of Mill Valley, which Leitzell described as an unstable area.

Among suggestions that were made at the meeting were that the city:

Have an ordinance requiring that the drainage and other improvements be completed before buildings are constructed.

Hire a soils engineer to review soils engineer reports prepared for developers.

Require a soils study, covering not only the development area, but all relevant area, in hillside projects.

Place wells in the hill which would pull water from the hill and eliminate the cause of slides.

Seek to have the area designated a disaster area so state and federal funds would be available.

Pass an ordinance forbidding excavation on steep hillsides.

Some of the comments from the audience of more than 50 persons were:

"Those in charge of planning and the planning commission should be held almost directly responsible." (Reichmuth explained that the planning commission and city council, neither consisting of soils experts have to rely on the reports from soils engineers).

"That hill is going to keep coming down"

"I saw the scars and was ashamed. Where you cut, it will crumble."

"In our car pool, we used to bet when they (the apartments) would come down."

The council is scheduled to meet at 8 p.m. today and some initial action is expected to be taken toward steps to tighten controls on hillside building.

MARIN FIRE CALLS

YESTERDAY:

2:40 a.m., Belvedere—Fire reported in home on Peninsula Road, but was found to be reflection from gas fed furnace.

8:36 a.m., Sausalito—Motor in washing machine overheated at home of H. J. Keizer, 12 Cazneau Avenue; no damage.

3:38 p.m., San Anselmo—Short circuit in electric stove at home of Charles Turner at 22 Oakwood Avenue; no damage.

TODAY:

6:45 a.m., Corte Madera—Lightning destroyed television set at home of Albert Rouas, 196 Birch Avenue. Damage was $325 to set and carpet.

Federal Jury Acquits One Peace Marcher

SAN FRANCISCO — A federal jury deadlocked yesterday on tresspassing charges against a 43-year-old Fairfax woman and four other peace pickets arrested last August at the Naval Weapons at Port Chicago.

A sixth defendant, Lawrence D. Cooper, 26, of San Francisco, was acquitted by the jury, which deliberated more than six hours.

Mrs. James A. Holland of 34 Acaica Road, Fairfax, and the others, all of San Francisco or the East Bay, face possible retrial. The U. S. attorney's office was given until Monday by Judge Lloyd Burke to decide on retrial.

Cooper said he was outside the base Aug. 8 to pass out information when arrested. The five, on whom the jury was hung, said they were at the naval station to halt a loaded napalm truck and were pulled onto the base by marines and then arrested.

Burglars Hit TV Center

Theft of $589 worth of television sets and transistor radios in a burglary of Cox's TV Sales and Service, 603 Del Ganado Road, Terra Linda, was reported today by sheriff's officers.

Alton E. Cox told deputies someone possibly used a key to open the front door. He said 13 radios and three television sets, plus $15 cash, were taken.

William G. Young of San Francisco reported a gas kitchen stove was taken from a vacant house he owns at 105 Richardson Drive, Strawberry. Entry was through an open rear door or window, according to deputies.

Records Stolen

About $200 worth of phonograph records were stolen Sunday night from his apartment at 1551 Fourth Street, San Rafael, Henry L. Barrett told police. Entry was by breaking a rear door.

Eased Permit Rules Backed In Mill Valley

Mill Valley Planning Commission last night recommended that non-conforming commercial buildings in residential zones be granted conditional use permits if there is a need for them.

Planning Director Harvey E. Bragdon said commissioners agreed that non-conforming "accidents" often are part of the city's charm. At present, non-conforming commercial buildings must be replaced by residential structures if their commercial buildings must be replaced by residential structures if their commercial use ends.

The city council will hear the proposal Feb. 6.

Mill Valley Planning Commission also:

1. Re-elected Chairman Edward J. Bossenecker and Vice Chairman John K. Robinson to second one-year terms.

2. Continued to Feb. 13 amendment of the zoning ordinance to extend provisions of the planned residential district classification to multiple and commercial districts.

3. Set a field trip Feb. 12 at 1 p. m. to tour proposed future city limits.

4. Adjourned in memory of Nancy L. Batchelder, late wife of Commissioner Donald Batchelder.

Talbot Has New Date With Death

Convicted murderer Dorman F. Talbot Jr., 26, has his second date with death in San Quentin's gas chamber set for March 1.

On Death Row since July, 1965, Talbot had his first death date, set for Sept. 14 last year, canceled on his appeal to the Supreme Court for a review of his case.

He was convicted in Santa Barbara County for the 1965 slaying of Michael D. Batholomew, a 20-year-old sailor.

Talbot is the second condemned prisoner who has a death date pending. Last week, David J. Seiterle, 25, was sentenced to die in the gas chamber April 6. There has been no execution there since Jan. 23, 1963.

RAGE To Meet Under New Name

Consumers Assn. of Marin, formerly a housewife picket group called RAGE, will meet at 7:30 p.m. today at Dominican College's Guzman Hall.

Chairman Marilyn Gordon of San Anselmo will talk on Lucky Stores' recent decision to become a discount chain and Safeway Stores' announced intention to match their prices, reported publicity chairman Sara Schickling.

The women members of the association are continuing their comparative price-shopping of 20 Marin markets, said Mrs. Schickling.

997 On Petition For Sewer Bond

A total of 997 voters signed petitions to consolidate Mill Valley proposed $500,000 sewer bond election with the April 18 school board election, by the 5 p.m. deadline yesterday, Chamber of Commerce Secretary Carol Healy reported today.

A total of 750 signatures was needed.

Most of the signatures appear to meet requirements of the county elections department that signatures be exactly as recorded by the department for previous elections, she said. Deputy City Clerk Lucretia H. Little and county elections department officials will start checking the names tomorrow.

Road Hearing In Session

Hearing on legality of a referendum petition on a Marincello access road resumed today before Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court.

Golden Gate Headlands Committee filed a petition May 11 demanding that the board of supervisors either negate its ordinance granting the road access, or call a referendum. The county clerk later ruled the petition lacked sufficient legal signatures, and the hearings are to determine if that finding is correct.

Judge Wilson said the matter will probably take four days.

Supervisors Call Marin Disaster Area

The Marin County Board of Supervisors today declared Marin County a disaster area as a result of the weekend storm and asked the Governor and President to ratify the declaration.

The action came after an hour-long discussion of the flood damage, including a report from Public Works Director Donald R. Frost. He said the flood was probably worse than flooding in December, 1955.

He estimated damage in the unincorporated area alone at $350,000 to $500,000.

Veterans Service officer James Burdick, who also serves as Civil Defense coordinator, said low interest loans for home owners would be available and some reimbursement to public agencies possible if the two declare Marin a disaster area.

Cities and districts claim reimbursement for work done to repair losses in a distaster area, Burdick said.

Decision On Boat Waste Order Delayed

BLYTHE (AP) — The State Harbor and Water Craft Commission has put off a decision whether to require boating facilities to have equipment for receiving waste matter from boats.

The commission, after hearing testimony yesterday against the proposal, agreed that no boats should empty waste material into fresh water in California. But the commissioners agreed to study the matter further.

Two years ago the California Assembly voted to require facilities in accordance with needs and standards established by the commission.

Mill Valley Parks To Get Equipment

Playground equipment costing the City of Mill Valley $5,000 will be installed at Molino and Freeman parks "in a few weeks," Parks and Recreation Director Don Dimitratos reported last night.

Equipment will be installed in Sycamore Park in about three months, he estimated, when new turf matures there.

In a review of rules governing tennis players at Boyle Park, commissioners agreed to allow singles two set on weekends and to limit doubles players to two sets to prevent small groups from tieing up one court.

Dimitratos reported that city crews will empty trash barrels in Boyle Park immediately after Saturday's little league games, instead of on Monday; that the leagues will repair and repaint the concession area, stands and dugout, and that city crews will repair the infield and install and maintain fences during the baseball season.

Review of the 1967-68 budget was deferred to Feb. 13.

Bids Identical On Sewer Line

Identical bids were submitted to the Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District Board yesterday for replacing 75 feet of 10-inch sewer line under the highway on-ramp south of Richardson Bay Bridge.

The only two bidders, McGuire and Hester of Oakland and Maggiora and Ghilotti of Corte Madera, both quoted $4,650 for the job. The board awarded the contract to McGuire and Hester.

The line is to be installed by boring under the paving. The State Division of Highways refused to permit cutting the paving to install the line, for which Maggiora and Ghilotti had submitted a low bid of $3,480.

Umbrella Taken

An umbrella and raincoat valued at a total of $35 were stolen from his car parked outsid his home at 225 Nova Albion Way, San Rafael, last night, Arhur G. Sheldon reported to police.

ARTHUR E. WEDEMEYER

OBITUARIES

Arthur E. Wedemeyer Dies At 61

Funeral for Arthur Edward Wedemeyer, former Larkspur mayor and city councilman, was held today in Ukiah, Mendocino County.

Wedemeyer, 61, died of a heart attack Saturday at his home in Ukiah, where he moved in 1951 from Larkspur.

His survivors include a son, Arthur E. Wedemeyer Jr. of Larkspur, and a daughter, Patricia Ratto of San Anselmo.

A native of Illinois, Wedemeyer had lived in California for 43 years. In the early '20s he established the first meat market in Beverley Hills, and did stunt flying in the movies.

Later he moved to Larkspur where he owned a confectionery and served the city as councilman in 1948-50 and mayor, in 1950. He was president of the Larkspur Lions Club.

He was a member of the Lake Mendocino Lions Club, past president of Ukiah's Pomo Shrine Club, and belonged to several Masonic groups. He was a member of the Ukiah Civil Service Commission.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Eileen Wedemeyer of Ukiah; his son Arthur; two daughters, Mrs. Ratto and Maureen Foster of San Francisco; three brothers, and two sisters.

$2,812 Made At Cancer Society Feed

The Marin Chapter of the American Cancer Society raised $2,812 last night at its second annual dinner at Sabella's Restaurant in Mill Valley.

About 225 persons attended, headed by actress Nina Foch.

Dinner was provided free by Angelo Sabella, proprietor of the restaurant, with all proceeds to the society. The restaurant staff

Elmer Anderson was dinner chairman. Price Hall served as coordinator.

Novato Trustees Will Run Again

They are Mrs. Jean Ansley, Dougherty, and William Vandergriff.

The board set polling places for the April 18 election at Novato Community House, and Olive, West Novato, Pleasant Valley, Hill, Marion, Novato High, Rancho, Lynwood, Pacheco, Loma Verde, and Lu Sutton schools.

Marinite's Poetry Book Is Released

"Moon Shots," a first poetry book by Etel Adnan of the Dominican College teaching staff, has been released by the Sausalito-Belvedere Gazette in Sausalito.

The S-B Gazette also announced the publication of "Complaintes de la Steppe" by Roger Pecheyrands of France, a book of French poetry about the author's capture and life in a concentration camp during World War II.

OTTAVIO A. GUERRINI

Rosary for Ottavio A. Guerrini, father of Frank O. Guerrini of San Rafael and Nilda R. Lauricella of Fairfax, will be recited at 8 p.m. today at the chapel of Valente, Marini, Perata and Co., 649 Green Street, San Francisco.

Requiem Mass will be offered tomorrow at 9:30 a.m. at St. Peter and Paul's Church, San Francisco. Private entombment will be in Holy Cross Mausoleum, Colma.

Guerrini, a Daly City resident, died Sunday in a Greenbrae convalescent hospital. He was 74.

A retired maintenance man, he was born in Italy and had lived in California for 45 years.

He is also survived by three grandchildren, and a brother and sister in California and Italy.

ELEANORE WHITE

Eleanore E. White, 47, of Olema, died yesterday at a local hospital after a long illness.

A native of Mill Bank, S.D., she had lived in Washington prior to moving 10 years ago to the Boyd Stewart Ranch in West Marin, where her husband, Amel, was employed.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by three daughters, Wendy White of the home, Mrs. Roger Bare of Santa Rosa and Mrs. Duane Oehlschlaeger of Point Reyes Station; her mother, Mrs. Josephine Hughes of Pasco, Wash.; four sisters, Mrs. Ann Coon, Mrs. Viola Hovanic and Mrs. Doris Craig, of Portland, Ore., and Mrs. Marion Schultz of Gypsum, Colo.; three brothers, Leonard Modesky of Seattle, Wash., Edward Modesky of Grand View, Wash., and Arnold Modesky of Seattle, Wash. and five grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 11:45 a.m. Thursday at the Redwood Chapel funeral home in Novato. Burial will be in Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno. Memorial contributions to the cancer society would be appreciated by the family.

LAURENCE B. THOMAS

Private funeral for Laurence B. Thomas of San Rafael, veteran longshoremen's union official, will be held Thursday at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael.

Thomas, 56, of 163 Oak Drive, was killed Saturday when his car struck a guard rail on rain-slick Fourth Street in San Rafael.

An ex-seaman, Thomas joined the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union while working on the docks in Stockton.

He rose through the ranks of union leadership until he was named president of Local 13 in Wilmington, Los Angeles County. He served several terms as president in the 1940s. In 1949, he was eected to the ILWU-Pacific Maritime Assn. Coast Labor Relations Committee.

Thomas was appointed union arbitrator for Northern California in 1963.

He belonged to the committee which formed the ILWU-PMA mechanization and modernization fund agreement under which longshoremen and shippers were to split the benefits of automation.

Thomas served with the Navy in the Pacific during World War II.

He was born in Florida and lived in Marin County 15 years.

His death brought to five the nember of traffic fatalities in Marin this year, as compared to two at the same time in 1965.

Survivos are his wife, Eina; two daughters, Terri and Lauren, and a son, Laurence Jr. all of San Rafael.

MISS MARGUERITE F. BURTCHAELL

Private funeral for Marguerite Finlayson Burtchaell, daughter of a Marin County pioneer family, was scheduled today at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael.

Miss Burtchaell, of 94 Forbes Avenue, San Rafael, died Sunday in a local hospital after a long illness.

Born in San Rafael, she was a daughter of the late Peter Burtchaell, who operated one of the city's largest grocery stores on Fourth Street, between C and D streets, for many years.

Miss Burtchaell was retired from the old Crocker Bank in San Francisco. She was active with the Episcopal Church in Ross.

She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Janice Marston and Effie Burtchaell of San Rafael, and a brother, Egbert Burtchaell of San Anselmo.

RUBY JANE WHITE

Funeral for Ruby Jane White, 24-year-old mother of three killed in an auto accident Jan. 20, will be at 10 a.m. Thursday at Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo. Interment will be private.

Mrs. White was killed when her car rolled over on Highway 101 north of St. Vincent's Hill. With her in the car, but uninjured were her three daughters: Denise Irene, 6; Cheryl Marie, 4, and Roberta Lynn, 3.

Mrs. White, a divorcee planning to remarry within a few weeks, and her children lived with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond G. Sidbeck at 404 San Francisco Boulevard, San Anselmo.

Besides her children and parents, Mrs. White is survived by three brothers and three sisters, Mrs. Betty Gilmore and Sylvia, Elsie and Ronald Sidbeck, all of San Anselmo, and Clarence Sidbeck, U.S. Navy, and Robert Sidbeck, U.S. Marine Corps.

HOWARD P. WURTZ

Funeral for Howard P. Wurtz, a former resident of Inverness, will be tomorrow in the chapel of St. Paul Episcopal Church, Walnut Creek, at 2 p.m.

Wurtz died Sunday in a Walnut Creek hospital after a long illness. He was 69.

A retired employee of Prudential Insurance Co., he moved to Inverness in 1962 and moved away in February of last year. He was a member of St. Columba's Episcopal Church in Inverness. He was a native of New York.

He is survived by his wife, Winifred H. Wurtz; a son, Howard P. Wurtz Jr. of Santa Barbara; two sisters, Mrs. Frank Harrison of Phoenix, Ariz., and Mrs. Arthur Roberts of Toronto, Canada, and two grandchildren.

The family prefer memorial contributions to the American Cancer Society.

Stuffed Pork Chops--Gelee

6 Pork Chops one inch thick with pocket
(Our meat cutters will do this for you.)

1 Cup sliced celery
½ Cup chopped onion
⅓ Cup butter
2 Cups dry bread crumbs
½ Cup seedless raisins
Small amount of chicken broth or stock
1 10-oz. jar of current jelly
½ Teaspoon sage
½ Teaspoon salt
Pepper to taste

Cook celery and onion in butter until tender. Add bread crumbs, raisins, seasoning and enough stock to moisten. Mix well. Fill pork chop pockets with this dressing, press edges of opening together and secure with tooth-picks. Brown slowly on both sides, cover and cook over low heat or bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour. Add small amount of stock if necessary. Spoon jelly over chops and continue cooking approximately 10 minutes longer.
Serves 6 People.
Serve with a Paul Masson Dry Sauterne

FREIGHT TRAIN STALLED BY STORM

This Southern Pacific freight train made an arty snow scene as it lay trapped west of Donner Summit. Tracks were finally cleared late yesterday to allow one-way train traffic over the summit which had been snowed in since Saturday. Normal service was expected within the next several days. Panel Selected For Screening Job Applicants

Mill Valley School District trustees last night appointed four educators to screen applicants for superintendent to replace G. R. McConnell, who will leave June 30.

The four are Dr. Aubrey Haan, dean of the School of Education at San Francisco State College; Dr. George McCabe, dean of the School of Education at Sonoma State College; Dr. Richard Foster, superintendent of San Ramon Unified School District in Contra Costa County, and Mrs. Frank Webber, first grade teacher at Strawberry Point School.

Trustees last Wednesday invited the first three to join the committee. Mrs. Webber was nominated by Mill Valley Teachers' Assn. The committee will be coordinated by Virgil S. Hollis, county superintendent of schools.

Applications are due Feb. 15, and selection is expected by April 1. Trustees have agreed to offer $17,500 annual pay and a four-year contract to a new superintendent.

Mill Valley School District Trustees also:

1. Received an analysis of the district's education program from Dr. Glenn Skelton, director of instruction.
2. Agreed to co-sponsor with the district's community relations committee a community assembly at Tamalpais High School in March, and allocated $450 for it.
3. Accepted resignation of William J. Tasca, French and Spanish teacher at Edna Maguire School.

Waterfront Open Space Is Favored

Tiburon City Council last night went on record favoring preservation of open space on the waterfront between the Windjammer and Caprice restaurants, but left open whether pedestrians or motorists were to be favored in that area.

At issue was whether the park-like area to be created would be largely devoted to a mall for strollers or to a parkway for scenic driving.

After hearing arguments on both sides, the council left this aspect of the downtown plan to further consideration by the city planning commission.

The council, with Branwell D. Fanning absent, sent the plan to the planning commission with some specific policy recommendations after hearing a report on the plan by Thomas E. Drohan, chairman of the council's lands and development committee.

The council instructed the commission to give prime consideration to resident-oriented activities rather than simple tourist attraction development. It opposed use of the waterfront area as a "jumping-off place" for visitors to Angel Island, and went on record against any San Francisco bridge or tube crossing terminating in Tiburon.

The council, however, rejected a suggestion by Drohan's committee that no more hotels or motels be permitted downtown.

The council approved establishment of a town square downtown but left open suggestions for an administrative complex the "Blackie Pasture" area of Trestle Glen.

Councilmen also asked the planning commission to consider a variable height requirement to conform with the city topography.

Apollo Launch After Feb. 21

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration will launch no earlier than Feb. 21 the first manned flight of its Apollo program designed to land a man on the moon within three years.

The initial orbital mission is scheduled to check out the manned operation and performance of the Apollo spacecraft, ground tracking and control facilities. If the flight is successful, NASA said it could equal the record 14-day Gemini 7 mission in December 1965.

NASA said Monday the crew for the first mission will be commanded by Air Force Lt. Col. Virgil I. Grissom, 40, and will include Air Force Lt. Col. Edward H. White II, 37, and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Roger B. Chaffee, 31.

Tiburon Will Share Hilary Drive Upkeep

Tiburon City councilmen decided last night the city will share cost of improvements on Hilary Drive with subdivider L. B. Fleischman.

City engineer Ray W. Foreaker recommended the speed limit be lowered from 25 to 15 miles per hour between Theresa Court nd 650 Hilary Drive, and a center line stripe be added in the same location, and that new sidewalks be constructed for pedestrian safety.

Hilary Heights developer Fleischman felt he should not have to pay for the city's added requirements for the unimproved portion of the street which he wants to pave.

Several residents in the audience spoke of problems of limited visibility, steepness, and promimity of a school in the area. The council felt the added provisions were necessary and decided to split the cost of striping and signing, with Fleischman to pay for the sidewalks. The city will also pay for a small retaining wall and a guard rail for the street.

Foreaker estimated the improvements would cost about $1,100, in addition to the $2,400 required to improve the street.

The Tiburon City Council Also:

1. Postponed decision until Feb. 27 on a use permit for a parking lot on the Waterfront, sought by Matthew W. Weinberg. Deputy City Atty. Richards S. Breiner said a court hearing is scheduled Feb. 20 in a suit between the city and Michel Demaurex who hopes to build a commercial development on the Waterfront and is associated with Weinberg.
2. Upheld Board of Design Review denial of a "dining room open" sign for Tiburon Lodge, sought by Frederic Z. Zelinsky.
3. Directed City Mgr. Lawerence D. Rose to continue negotiations with Clearview TV to make its proposal conform to the city's community antenna television ordinance, with a deadline of Jan. 27. The council hopes to coordinate their CATV franchise with one for sister-city Belvedere.
4. Decided to spend $11,255.92 for a new street sweeper, rather than buy a used one from the City of Salinas which might have a high maintenance cost.

Five Youths Hear Morals Charges In Muni Court

Five of eight youths charged with statutory rape of a 15-year-old runaway San Anselmo girl were arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday.

The five, Robert Dale Litteral, 19, and Christian Robert Klosset, 18, both of 9 Taylor Street, San Rafael; Paul Lance Keever, 20, of 22 Heather Way, Larkspur; George Jeffrey Dias, 18, of 172 Prince Royal Drive, Corte Madera; and Edward Bonadeo II, 19, of 45 Heather Way, Larkspur, are to enter pleas at 1:30 p.m. Monday.

Stephen Miller, 32 Edison Avenue, Larkspur, failed to appear in court for arraignment and a bench warrant for his arrest was issued.

William Henry Paraspolo, 20, of 904 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield, arrested Friday by Larkspur police, was scheduled for arraignment this afternoon. The eighth youth, Jerome Louis, had not yet been arrested.

Investigators said the youths allegedly had sexual relations with the girl between Dec. 7 and Dec. 12 at her apartment in Larkspur.

Silva In Hospital

City Councilman M. E. (Babe) Silva of Novato entered St. Francis Hospital in San Francisco yesterday for observation.

NEW HOME FOUND FOR WOOD STEED

Dennis Patton's "Trojan horse," a large wooden horse built by Patton to adorn the Marin countryside, has found a home.

The Corte Madera Board of Design, by a vote of 2-to-1, last night agreed to let Patton display the horse on property of Vernon Humber, east of Highway 101. C. William Thomas voted against the display.

Teen-Age Girl Struck By Auto

An 18-year-old San Anselmo girl was injured Sunday night when she was struck by a car at H and Fourth streets in San Rafael.

Elinor M. Hewitson of 36 Madrone Avenue was treated at Marin General Hospital for multiple scrapes and bruises and a cut lip. Police identified the driver of the car as Wanda Hediger, 62, of 107 Palm Drive, Novato.

Dairyman Files For School Board

Raymond A. Romelli, a Valley Ford dairyman who lives on Valley Ford Road in Sonoma County, filed yesterday for election April 18 to the Tomales Bay School District board.

It will be his first bid for the position of trustee, according to the Marin County Superintendent of Schools office.

Landscaping Pact On Novato Agenda

The Novato City Council is expected to approve an agreement on maintaining the landscaping on street center islands in San Marin when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the Novato Community House.

Only routine items are on the short agenda. Mayor J. Wayne Womack and Councilman M. E. Babe Silva will be absent.

Three Sentenced On Driving Count

Roger H. Crane, 44, of 111 Barber Avenue, San Anselmo, was fined $174 and placed on six months probation yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving. California Highway Patrol arrested him Jan. 12 on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Kentfield.

Peggy LaVonna Devin, 39, of 295 Flamingo Road, Mill Valley, was fined $166 and placed on six months probation for the same offense. Sausalito police arrested her yesterday on private property.

William Joseph Sunke, 31, of 20 Liberty Street, Larkspur, was given five days in county jail for drunken driving Nov. 30. Mill Valley police arrested him on Mill Avenue. The jail term is concurrent with six months Sunke already is serving.

SAUSALITO FIREHOUSE PICKETED

William Kress (left) of Mill Valley and William Cluff of Richmond, members of Painters Union Local 83 in San Rafael, picketed the Sausalito Firehouse today because firemen were painting the interior. Franklin C. Gneri, union local president, said the picketing was started yesterday. "This is unfair to the union painters of Local 83. We have more than 50 per cent of local painters out of work," declared Gneri. (Independent-Journal photo)

Redwoods Park Urged In Johnson Message

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson renewed his appeal to Congress today for creation of a redwood national park in Northern California.

"Action must be taken now," the President said in his annual budget message, "to . . . preserve scenic ares of irreplacable natural beauty." He specifically mentioned the redwoods.

Unlike last year, however, the President's budget for the 12 months beginning July 1 did not earmark any money for land acquisition for a redwood park, or for any other national recreation area not already authorized by Congress.

The Interior Department and the California state administration are now reviewing various proposals for a redwood park boundary and the Senate Interior Committee has scheduled a hearing to begin April 18 on authorization legislation.

Federal expenditures totaling $145 million were recommended in the budget for California water resource development activities of the Army Engineers and the Bureau of Reclamation.

In addition, the President recommended legislation to enable the Interior Department's office of saline water to participate to the extent of $57.2 million with the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California in developing and constructing a large prototype power and desalting plant on a man-made island off the Orange County coast. The Atomic Energy Commission already has been authorized by Congress to contribute $15 million to the joint venture.

Drath Talks On Number For Viet Trip

TOKYO (AP)—Two Quakers, who hope to take about one ton of medical supplies to North Vietnam aboard a private ketch, said today "a great number of people" have volunteered to join them on the voyage.

Phillip Drath of San Rafael, Calif., said, however, the trip probably will be limited to only eight persons.

Drath arrived in Japan last Tuesday with another Quaker, Horace Champney of Yellow Springs, Ohio, with plans to sail to North Vietnam next month aboard a 50-foot ketch owned by Pacifist - educator Dr. Earle L. Reynolds.

Besides Drath, 53, and Champney, 61, the other persons booked for the voyage are Reynolds, 59, his Japanese wife, Akie; Mrs. Betty Boardman, a Quaker from Madison, Wis., and three other persons still to be selected.

Drath said in an interview the trip still was scheduled to begin about Feb. 15.

Biff Gallivan To Lead School

There was no lack of candidates in an election Friday at San Rafael's Davidson Junior High School, in which Biff Gallivan was elected as spring semester student body president.

Gallivan won the presidency over two other candidates, Ron Fein and Bob Roumiguiere.

For vice president, Brian Witt won in a field of six, defeating Debbie Daunt, Judy Fraser, Steve Friedman, Steve Jordan, and Jonnell Schmitz. For secretary, Anne Gordon won out over Ann Ekman, Sheri Friedman and Elaine Ragan. Steve Sokolov won election as treasurer over five others: Shelly Hadley, Anita Hultin, Scott Jones, Eva Sharpe, and Mark Wood.

Marin Flood Control Cash In New Budget

President Johnson's recommendations in his budget message to Congress today included expenditures of $411,000 in Marin County for park, recreation and flood control projects.

Largest item recommended in Marin was $300,000 for Corte Madera flood control construction by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. Another $45,000 was requested for study of flood control needs on Novato Creek.

The president also asked $60,200 for construction at Point Reyes National Seashore by the National Park Service and an additional $5,800 for radio communications at the seashore.

No money was requested for the park service to acquire land at the seashore, or at any other national park in the state. Money for land acquisition was to be budgeted by the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation and to come from revenues from admission and user fees.

The local projects were part of $125 million requested by the president for Army engineers' current water projects in California and nearly $3.5 million for construction by the park service in the state.

The lack of new projects for which funding was asked reflected the president's announced slow-down in domestic spending.

Other Bay Area water construction projects listed in the budget request included Oakland Harbor, $500,000, and Walnut Creek flood control, $2.9 million.

Survey funds of $500,000 were asked for water quality and waste disposal in San Francisco Bay and the Sacramento-San Joaquin delta; and $40,000 for drift removal in the bay, and $300,000 for a Napa River survey.

LBJ Budget Holds Few Cutbacks On Departments

quired to pay for the ben increases Johnson proposed to Congress Monday.

Johnson's revised budget for 1967 shows a $9.7 billion federal deficit, the second biggest since World War II. It was exceeded in "peacetime" only by President Dwight D. Eisenhower's $12.4 billion of red ink in 1959.

Comparisons in billions of the revised 1967 budget and the proposed 1968 budget: spending $126.7 and $135.03; receipts $117 and $126.9; deficit $9.7 and $8.1.

The budget carried few surprises, although it called for "an unmanned landing on Mars in 1973 and early-stage construction of a third nuclear aircraft carrier.

GREAT SOCIETY

Keeping his pledge of no-retreat on his "Great Society" programs of education, welfare and housing, Johnson called for "a modest increase in domestic expenditures."

Among the biggest, in spending terms, were $135 million to extend Project Head Start into the elementary grades with followup work, $160 million to help create jobs for slum youths and adults, and $150 million for the "model cities" slum-eradication program.

The downhold was visible also in Johnson recommendations that:

Space outlays be cut $300 million, to $5.3 billion, without delaying the effort to place a man on the moon by 1969.

The decisionto build a supersonic airliner, with Uncle Sam footing nine-tenths of an estimated $4-billion bill, be delayed further while design work goes ahead. A $450 million allowance for contingencies would cover the starting costs, Johnson said, "should an affirmative decision be made to proceed."

A prospective $618 - million postal deficit be erased by mail rate increases totaling $700 million. The proposed new rates would include a one-cent hike for first class and air mail letters and a 20 to 30 per cent increase for second and third class mail. Parcel post would not be affected.

Johnson pinned his rising revenue expectations to sustained high prosperity. He forecast national output in calendar 1967 at $787 billions—a massive $47.5-billion increase from 1966, yet lower than many published predictions of economists.

The outlook for record-breaking individual income tax collections is based on a projected $624-billion total of personal income, Johnson said, and a near-record corporation tax take will be generated by before-tax profits of $83 billion, up $1.2 billion from last year.

The budget went to Congress in a 478-page book, prefaced by the 10,000-word presidential message and backed up by separate "appendix" the size of a city telephone book.

Councilmen's Pay Will Be Discussed

The San Anselmo Homes Assn. will discuss the $150 a month salaries San Anselmo councilmen recently voted themselves at a meeting Thursday at 8 p.m. at Isabel Cook School.

Mrs. Virginia Keating, county librarian, will speak on a reciprocal agreement between the city and county libraries, twice turned down by the city council.

54 Cases Of TB In Marin County In '66

There were 54 cases of tuberculosis in Marin last year, one more than in 1965, according to the Marin Tuberculosis and Health Assn.

Six of the cases were children, ranging in age from two to 14, and 10 cases of reactivations, the association reported.

The highest number of cases occurred in San Rafael, 16 new cases and two reactivations.

San Anselmo had six new cases and two reactivations, Novato, five new and one reactivation, Mill Valley, five cases, Ross, four, Fairfax, four, Sausalito, three, Larkspur, two, Corte Madera, two, Greenbrae, one, and Tiburon, one.

The association also reported that more Marin men than women were stricken, but gave no breakdown by sex. Fourteen persons stricken were from 30 to 60 years of age and 13 persons were in their 70s and 80s.

Reserve Unit Donates Blood

Ninety per cent of the men in San Rafael's Company G, 362nd Regiment, Army Reserve, each donated a pint of blood last week as part of a program set by the parent unit, the 91st Division.

Half of the credit for the blood will be given to federal hospitals for treating wounded from Vietnam and the other half and subsequent donations will be held for use by division members, their families and other individuals determined by local unit committees. The program was a joint project of the division units and local blood banks.

FREIGHT TRAIN STALLED BY STORM

This Southern Pacific freight train made an arty snow scene as it lay trapped west of Donner Summit. Tracks were finally cleared late yesterday to allow one-way train traffic over the summit which had been snowed in since Saturday. Normal service was expected within the next several days. Waterfront Open Space Is Favored

Tiburon City Council last night went on record favoring preservation of open space on the waterfront between the Windjammer and Caprice restaurants, but left open whether pedestrians or motorists were to be favored in that area.

At issue was whether the park-like area to be created would be largely devoted to a mall for strollers or to a parkway for scenic driving.

After hearing arguments on both sides, the council left this aspect of the downtown plan to further consideration by the city planning commission.

The council, with Branwell D. Fanning absent, sent the plan to the planning commission with some specific policy recommendations after hearing a report on the plan by Thomas E. Drohan, chairman of the council's lands and development committee.

The council instructed the commission to give prime consideration to resident-oriented activities rather than simple tourist attraction development. It opposed use of the waterfront area as a "jumping-off place" for visitors to Angel Island, and went on record against any San Francisco bridge or tube crossing terminating in Tiburon.

The council, however, rejected a suggestion by Drohan's committee that no more hotels or motels be permitted downtown.

The council approved establishment of a town square downtown but left open suggestions for an administrative complex the "Blackie Pasture" area of Trestle Glen.

Councilmen also asked the planning commission to consider a variable height requirement to conform with the city topography.

Apollo Launch After Feb. 21

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration will launch no earlier than Feb. 21 the first manned flight of its Apollo program designed to land a man on the moon within three years.

The initial orbital mission is scheduled to check out the manned operation and performance of the Apollo spacecraft, ground tracking and control facilities. If the flight is successful, NASA said it could equal the record 14-day Gemini 7 mission in December 1965.

NASA said Monday the crew for the first mission will be commanded by Air Force Lt. Col. Virgil I. Grissom, 40, and will include Air Force Lt. Col. Edward H. White II, 37, and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Roger B. Chaffee, 31.

Tiburon Will Share Hilary Drive Upkeep

Tiburon City councilmen decided last night the city will share cost of improvements on Hilary Drive with subdivider L. B. Fleischman.

City engineer Ray W. Foreaker recommended the speed limit be lowered from 25 to 15 miles per hour between Theresa Court nd 650 Hilary Drive, and a center line stripe be added in the same location, and that new sidewalks be constructed for pedestrian safety.

Hilary Heights developer Fleischman felt he should not have to pay for the city's added requirements for the unimproved portion of the street which he wants to pave.

Several residents in the audience spoke of problems of limited visibility, steepness, and promimity of a school in the area. The council felt the added provisions were necessary and decided to split the cost of striping and signing, with Fleischman to pay for the sidewalks. The city will also pay for a small retaining wall and a guard rail for the street.

Foreaker estimated the improvements would cost about $1,100, in addition to the $2,400 required to improve the street.

The Tiburon City Council Also:

1. Postponed decision until Feb. 27 on a use permit for a parking lot on the Waterfront, sought by Matthew W. Weinberg. Deputy City Atty. Richards S. Breiner said a court hearing is scheduled Feb. 20 in a suit between the city and Michel Demaurex who hopes to build a commercial development on the Waterfront and is associated with Weinberg.
2. Upheld Board of Design Review denial of a "dining room open" sign for Tiburon Lodge, sought by Frederic Z. Zelinsky.
3. Directed City Mgr. Lawerence D. Rose to continue negotiations with Clearview TV to make its proposal conform to the city's community antenna television ordinance, with a deadline of Jan. 27. The council hopes to coordinate their CATV franchise with one for sister-city Belvedere.
4. Decided to spend $11,255.92 for a new street sweeper, rather than buy a used one from the City of Salinas which might have a high maintenance cost.

Five Youths Hear Morals Charges In Muni Court

Five of eight youths charged with statutory rape of a 15-year-old runaway San Anselmo girl were arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday.

The five, Robert Dale Litteral, 19, and Christian Robert Klosset, 18, both of 9 Taylor Street, San Rafael; Paul Lance Keever, 20, of 22 Heather Way, Larkspur; George Jeffrey Dias, 18, of 172 Prince Royal Drive, Corte Madera; and Edward Bonadeo II, 19, of 45 Heather Way, Larkspur, are to enter pleas at 1:30 p.m. Monday.

Stephen Miller, 32 Edison Avenue, Larkspur, failed to appear in court for arraignment and a bench warrant for his arrest was issued.

William Henry Paraspolo, 20, of 904 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield, arrested Friday by Larkspur police, was scheduled for arraignment this afternoon. The eighth youth, Jerome Louis, had not yet been arrested.

Investigators said the youths allegedly had sexual relations with the girl between Dec. 7 and Dec. 12 at her apartment in Larkspur.

Silva In Hospital

City Councilman M. E. (Babe) Silva of Novato entered St. Francis Hospital in San Francisco yesterday for observation.

Landscaping Pact On Novato Agenda

The Novato City Council is expected to approve an agreement on maintaining the landscaping on street center islands in San Marin when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the Novato Community House.

Only routine items are on the short agenda. Mayor J. Wayne Womack and Councilman M. E. Babe Silva will be absent.

NEW HOME FOUND FOR WOOD STEED

Dennis Patton's "Trojan horse," a large wooden horse built by Patton to adorn the Marin countryside, has found a home.

The Corte Madera Board of Design, by a vote of 2-to-1, last night agreed to let Patton display the horse on property of Vernon Humber, east of Highway 101. C. William Thomas voted against the display.

Teen-Age Girl Struck By Auto

An 18-year-old San Anselmo girl was injured Sunday night when she was struck by a car at H and Fourth streets in San Rafael.

Elinor M. Hewitson of 36 Madrone Avenue was treated at Marin General Hospital for multiple scrapes and bruises and a cut lip. Police identified the driver of the car as Wanda Hediger, 62, of 107 Palm Drive, Novato.

Dairyman Files For School Board

Raymond A. Romelli, a Valley Ford dairyman who lives on Valley Ford Road in Sonoma County, filed yesterday for election April 18 to the Tomales Bay School District board.

It will be his first bid for the position of trustee, according to the Marin County Superintendent of Schools office.

Panel Selected For Screening Job Applicants

Mill Valley School District trustees last night appointed four educators to screen applicants for superintendent to replace G. R. McConnell, who will leave June 30.

The four are Dr. Aubrey Haan, dean of the School of Education at San Francisco State College; Dr. George McCabe, dean of the School of Education at Sonoma State College; Dr. Richard Foster, superintendent of San Ramon Unified School District in Contra Costa County, and Mrs. Frank Webber, first grade teacher at Strawberry Point School.

Trustees last Wednesday invited the first three to join the committee. Mrs. Webber was nominated by Mill Valley Teachers' Assn. The committee will be coordinated by Virgil S. Hollis, county superintendent of schools.

Applications are due Feb. 15, and selection is expected by April 1. Trustees have agreed to offer $17,500 annual pay and a four-year contract to a new superintendent.

Mill Valley School District Trustees also:

1. Received an analysis of the district's education program from Dr. Glenn Skelton, director of instruction.
2. Agreed to co-sponsor with the district's community relations committee a community assembly at Tamalpais High School in March, and allocated $450 for it.
3. Accepted resignation of William J. Tasca, French and Spanish teacher at Edna Maguire School.

Three Sentenced On Driving Count

Roger H. Crane, 44, of 111 Barber Avenue, San Anselmo, was fined $174 and placed on six months probation yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving. California Highway Patrol arrested him Jan. 12 on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Kentfield.

Peggy LaVonna Devin, 39, of 295 Flamingo Road, Mill Valley, was fined $166 and placed on six months probation for the same offense. Sausalito police arrested her yesterday on private property.

William Joseph Sunke, 31, of 20 Liberty Street, Larkspur, was given five days in county jail for drunken driving Nov. 30. Mill Valley police arrested him on Mill Avenue. The jail term is concurrent with six months Sunke already is serving.

Roman Election At A Marin School

FACING THE VOTERS—Murena, Kirk Hooks, left, and Sulpicius, Bob. Densmore, answer questions from the audience beneath the campaign signs.

Pupils Learn Their History In New Way

By PAT PERRY

Lucius Licinius Murena, soldier, ex-governor of Gaul and candidate for Roman consul, ears a mini-print suit, knee-length beads, and long blonde hair.

Servius Sulpicius Rufus, lawyer, member of one Rome's most distinguished families, Murena's opponent for consul, wears a mini-print suit, knee-wears a plum colored Mod shirt, spectacles and braces on his teeth.

And the electorate they woo for votes prance gleefully round waving banners proclaiming "The Red Baron is for Murena" of "Down with Murena, He Cleans Slop Jars."

It's a social studies lesson, new-style, at Miller Creek School in Dixie School District.

EDUCATIONAL FUN

And though it looks like, and is, great fun, it's actually an experimental educational project, exposing students to primary source material on the death of the Roman Republic and a study of politics, elections, corruption, bribery, and the division between violent and orderly solution of problems of state.

Miller Creek is one of five seventh grades in the nation to be chosen for the experimental program by Educational Services, Inc., a non-profit organization principally sponsored by the Massachusetts Institue of Technology and dedicated to improving school curricula.

The five seventh grade classes, led by teachers Dean Nicholas, Mary Lash, Mrs. Martie Moran, Joan Tibbetts and Paul Schaefer, started the five-unit 10-week course two weeks ago.

MUCH MATERIAL

"We were overwhelmed by the volume of material provided for the program," said Nicholas, displaying a room crammed with books, papers and cards and tape recordings.

Students were somewhat overwhelmed with the novely of the program, teachers reported, but have become increasingly adapted to the demands. It is a demanding project, and teachers wondered at first if it wasn't too much for seventh graders.

Part I, already accomplished, introduced children to general features of Rome and Roman history, acquainted them with the governmental and political structure of Rome.

Pat II plunged students into the political realities of the republic in Cicero's time. A complete election was held, culminating with balloting Friday.

In each class a Murena and Sulpicius were chosen, and each student was given a card detailing his identity. For instance, Abby Roach, 12, became Aulus Terentius Varro, and was told: "You are from an old plebeian family. You served as a lieutenant in the army under Murena's father. . . . You were later prosecuted for stealing during your time in Asia. You were defended in court by Hortensius. . . ."

HOW TO VOTE?

Using this identity, students decide how to vote and to whom they owe favors and obligations.

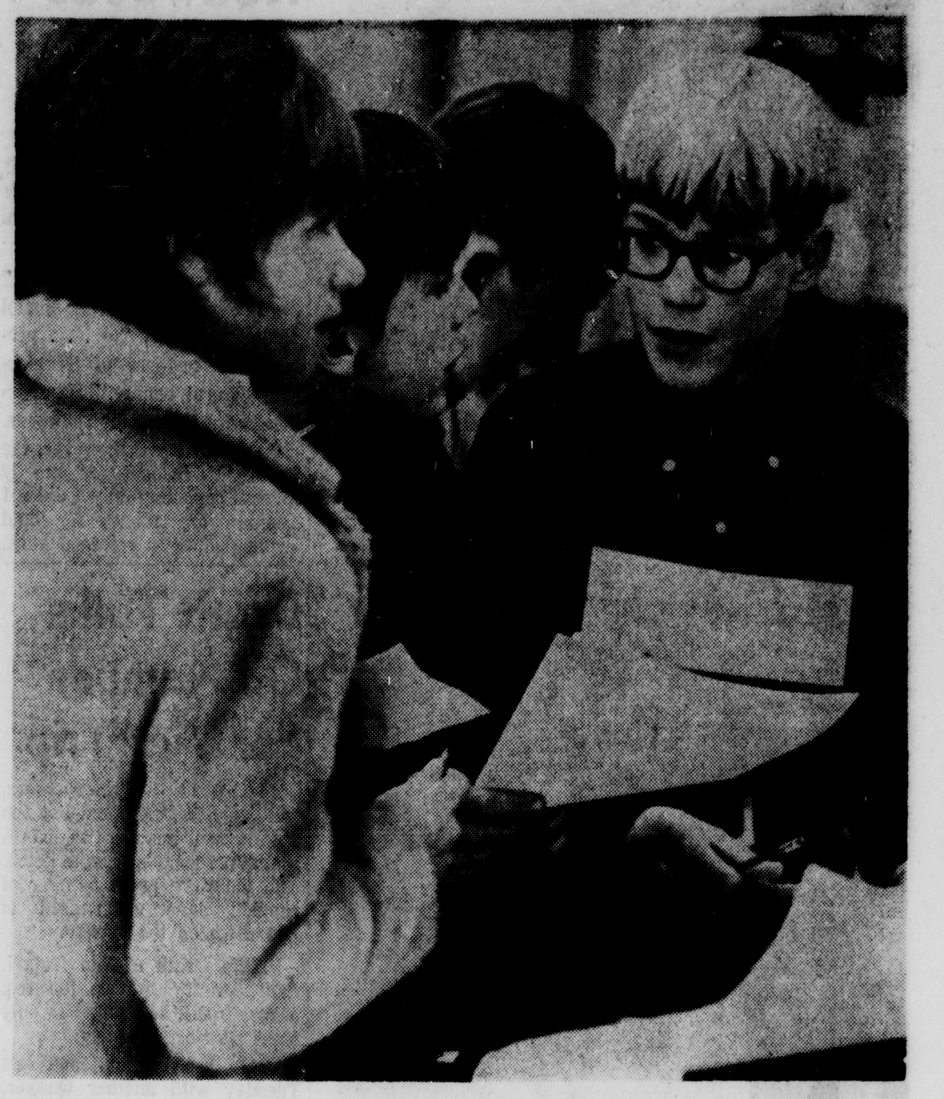

Told that Romans atually went in for swinging election campaigns, the Miller Creek seventh graders certainly entered into the spirit last week. Blackboards and walls were strewn with hand-drawn posters, albeit somewhat updated . . . "Snoopy is for Murena."

It can now be revealed that historically Murena did win the election, and this week a bribery trial resulting from that is scheduled.

(Coincidentally in a recent school election at Miller Creek, the successful candidate has been accused by his opponent of passing out ball-point pens in return for promised votes, and a mock trial on that accusation is also scheduled. "Funny how things don't change, isn't it" remarked Nicholas.)

Future units in the program will include a study of violence versus law in settling disputes, the civil war, and Caesar's dictatorship.

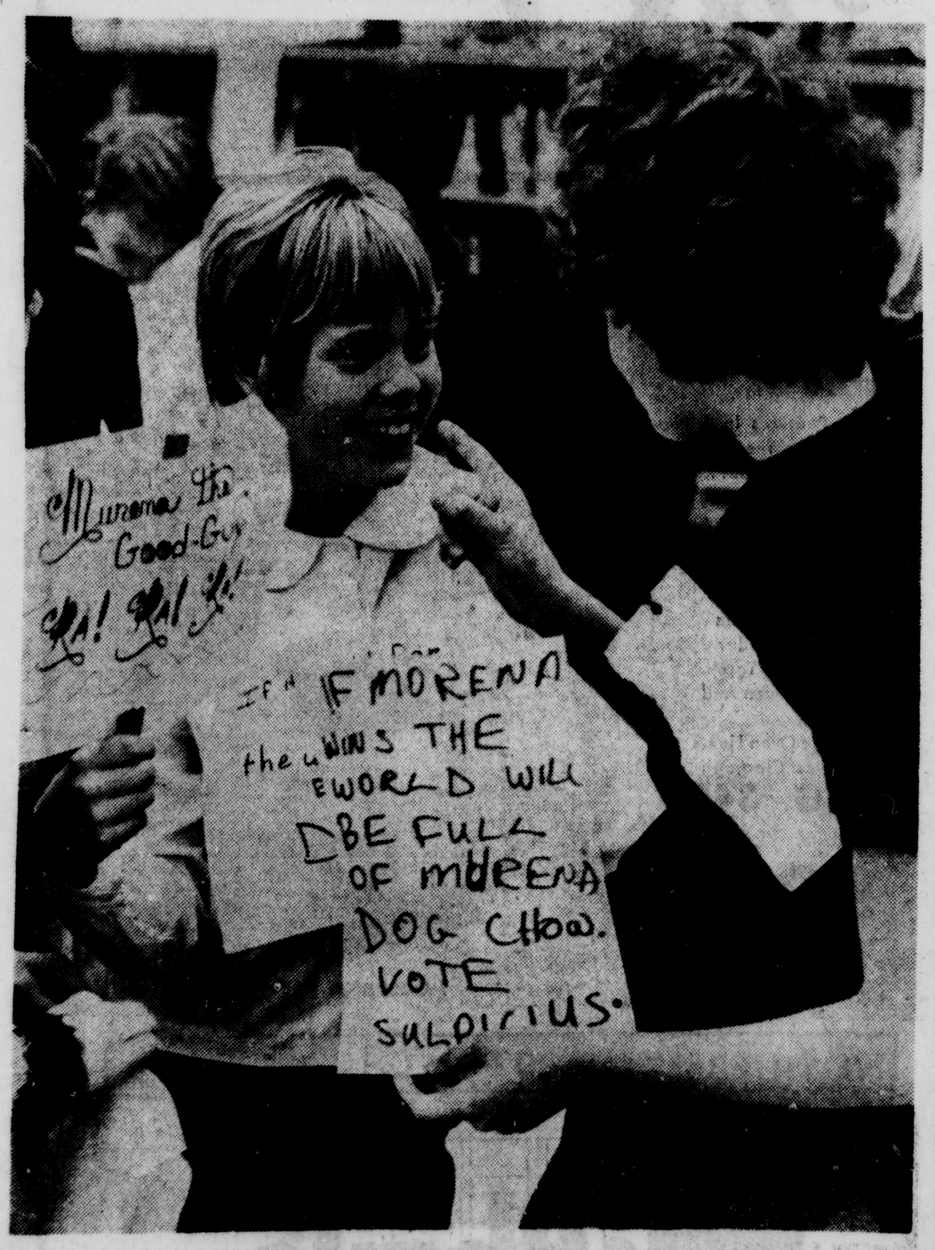

The five Miller Creek teachers will take part in a critical evaluation session on the program at Albuquerque, N. M., in March. So far they report the program has been stimulating and exciting — although the Roman elections were somewhat too stimulating.

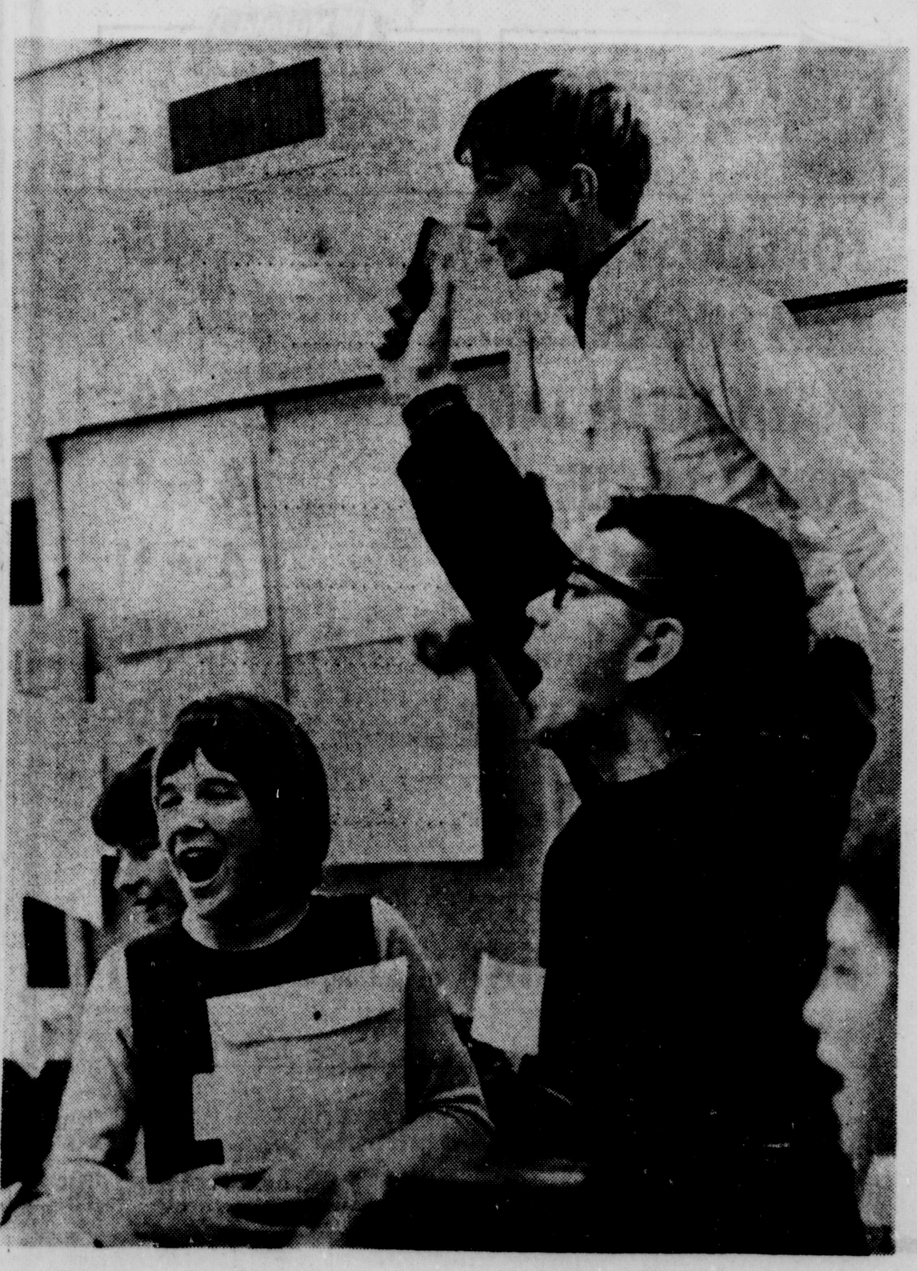

VOTERS' QUESTIONS—Sulpicius, Bob Densmore, answers questions from voters in seventh grade at Miller Creek Junior High School's experimental social studies program—the Roman Republic.

ANCIENT ROME UPDATED — Above, Leslie Lanning (left) and Lisa Wall argued about their chosen candidates. The posters may not have been classical Roman—but they carried the message. SAUSALITO FIREHOUSE PICKETED

William Kress (left) of Mill Valley and William Cluff of Richmond, members of Painters Union Local 83 in San Rafael, picketed the Sausalito Firehouse today because firemen were painting the interior. Franklin C. Gneri, union local president, said the picketing was started yesterday. "This is unfair to the union painters of Local 83. We have more than 50 per cent of local painters out of work," declared Gneri. (Independent-Journal photo)

Redwoods Park Urged In Johnson Message

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson renewed his appeal to Congress today for creation of a redwood national park in Northern California.

"Action must be taken now," the President said in his annual budget message, "to . . . preserve scenic ares of irreplacable natural beauty." He specifically mentioned the redwoods.

Unlike last year, however, the President's budget for the 12 months beginning July 1 did not earmark any money for land acquisition for a redwood park, or for any other national recreation area not already authorized by Congress.

The Interior Department and the California state administration are now reviewing various proposals for a redwood park boundary and the Senate Interior Committee has scheduled a hearing to begin April 18 on authorization legislation.

Federal expenditures totaling $145 million were recommended in the budget for California water resource development activities of the Army Engineers and the Bureau of Reclamation.

In addition, the President recommended legislation to enable the Interior Department's office of saline water to participate to the extent of $57.2 million with the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California in developing and constructing a large prototype power and desalting plant on a man-made island off the Orange County coast. The Atomic Energy Commission already has been authorized by Congress to contribute $15 million to the joint venture.

Drath Talks On Number For Viet Trip

TOKYO (AP)—Two Quakers, who hope to take about one ton of medical supplies to North Vietnam aboard a private ketch, said today "a great number of people" have volunteered to join them on the voyage.

Phillip Drath of San Rafael, Calif., said, however, the trip probably will be limited to only eight persons.

Drath arrived in Japan last Tuesday with another Quaker, Horace Champney of Yellow Springs, Ohio, with plans to sail to North Vietnam next month aboard a 50-foot ketch owned by Pacifist - educator Dr. Earle L. Reynolds.

Besides Drath, 53, and Champney, 61, the other persons booked for the voyage are Reynolds, 59, his Japanese wife, Akie; Mrs. Betty Boardman, a Quaker from Madison, Wis., and three other persons still to be selected.

Drath said in an interview the trip still was scheduled to begin about Feb. 15.

Biff Gallivan To Lead School

There was no lack of candidates in an election Friday at San Rafael's Davidson Junior High School, in which Biff Gallivan was elected as spring semester student body president.

Gallivan won the presidency over two other candidates, Ron Fein and Bob Roumiguiere.

For vice president, Brian Witt won in a field of six, defeating Debbie Daunt, Judy Fraser, Steve Friedman, Steve Jordan, and Jonnell Schmitz. For secretary, Anne Gordon won out over Ann Ekman, Sheri Friedman and Elaine Ragan. Steve Sokolov won election as treasurer over five others: Shelly Hadley, Anita Hultin, Scott Jones, Eva Sharpe, and Mark Wood.

Marin Flood Control Cash In New Budget

President Johnson's recommendations in his budget message to Congress today included expenditures of $411,000 in Marin County for park, recreation and flood control projects.

Largest item recommended in Marin was $300,000 for Corte Madera flood control construction by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. Another $45,000 was requested for study of flood control needs on Novato Creek.

The president also asked $60,200 for construction at Point Reyes National Seashore by the National Park Service and an additional $5,800 for radio communications at the seashore.

No money was requested for the park service to acquire land at the seashore, or at any other national park in the state. Money for land acquisition was to be budgeted by the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation and to come from revenues from admission and user fees.

The local projects were part of $125 million requested by the president for Army engineers' current water projects in California and nearly $3.5 million for construction by the park service in the state.

The lack of new projects for which funding was asked reflected the president's announced slow-down in domestic spending.

Other Bay Area water construction projects listed in the budget request included Oakland Harbor, $500,000, and Walnut Creek flood control, $2.9 million.

Survey funds of $500,000 were asked for water quality and waste disposal in San Francisco Bay and the Sacramento-San Joaquin delta; and $40,000 for drift removal in the bay, and $300,000 for a Napa River survey.

quired to pay for the ben increases Johnson proposed to Congress Monday.

Johnson's revised budget for 1967 shows a $9.7 billion federal deficit, the second biggest since World War II. It was exceeded in "peacetime" only by President Dwight D. Eisenhower's $12.4 billion of red ink in 1959.

Comparisons in billions of the revised 1967 budget and the proposed 1968 budget: spending $126.7 and $135.03; receipts $117 and $126.9; deficit $9.7 and $8.1.

The budget carried few surprises, although it called for "an unmanned landing on Mars in 1973 and early-stage construction of a third nuclear aircraft carrier.

GREAT SOCIETY

Keeping his pledge of no-retreat on his "Great Society" programs of education, welfare and housing, Johnson called for "a modest increase in domestic expenditures."

Among the biggest, in spending terms, were $135 million to extend Project Head Start into the elementary grades with followup work, $160 million to help create jobs for slum youths and adults, and $150 million for the "model cities" slum-eradication program.

The downhold was visible also in Johnson recommendations that:

Space outlays be cut $300 million, to $5.3 billion, without delaying the effort to place a man on the moon by 1969.

The decisionto build a supersonic airliner, with Uncle Sam footing nine-tenths of an estimated $4-billion bill, be delayed further while design work goes ahead. A $450 million allowance for contingencies would cover the starting costs, Johnson said, "should an affirmative decision be made to proceed."

A prospective $618 - million postal deficit be erased by mail rate increases totaling $700 million. The proposed new rates would include a one-cent hike for first class and air mail letters and a 20 to 30 per cent increase for second and third class mail. Parcel post would not be affected.

Johnson pinned his rising revenue expectations to sustained high prosperity. He forecast national output in calendar 1967 at $787 billions—a massive $47.5-billion increase from 1966, yet lower than many published predictions of economists.

The outlook for record-breaking individual income tax collections is based on a projected $624 billion total of personal income, Johnson said, and a near-record corporation tax take will be generated by before-tax profits of $83 billion, up $1.2 billion from last year.

The budget went to Congress in a 478-page book, prefaced by the 10,000-word presidential message and backed up by separate "appendix" the size of a city telephone book.

Councilmen's Pay Will Be Discussed

The San Anselmo Homes Assn. will discuss the $150 a month salaries San Anselmo councilmen recently voted themselves at a meeting Thursday at 8 p.m. at Isabel Cook School.

Mrs. Virginia Keating, county librarian, will speak on a reciprocal agreement between the city and county libraries, twice turned down by the city council.

54 Cases Of TB In Marin County In '66

There were 54 cases of tuberculosis in Marin last year, one more than in 1965, according to the Marin Tuberculosis and Health Assn.

Six of the cases were children, ranging in age from two to 14, and 10 cases of reactivations, the association reported.

The highest number of cases occurred in San Rafael, 16 new cases and two reactivations.

San Anselmo had six new cases and two reactivations, Novato, five new and one reactivation, Mill Valley, five cases, Ross, four, Fairfax, four, Sausalito, three, Larkspur, two, Corte Madera, two, Greenbrae, one, and Tiburon, one.

The association also reported that more Marin men than women were stricken, but gave no breakdown by sex. Fourteen persons stricken were from 30 to 60 years of age and 13 persons were in their 70s and 80s.

Reserve Unit Donates Blood

Ninety per cent of the men in San Rafael's Company G, 362nd Regiment, Army Reserve, each donated a pint of blood last week as part of a program set by the parent unit, the 91st Division.

Half of the credit for the blood will be given to federal hospitals for treating wounded from Vietnam and the other half and subsequent donations will be held for use by division members, their families and other individuals determined by local unit committees. The program was a joint project of the division units and local blood banks.

Baker Trial Evidence Ruled Out As Bugging

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The jury trying Robert G. (Bobby) Baker was told today to ignore a major inconsistency in his testimony because the government obtained evidence relating to it by a bugging operation.

The action by U.S. district Judge Oliver Gasch ruled out testimony Thursday in which the government disproved a claim by the former Senate Democratic secretary that he spent part of the first weekend in November, 1962, in New York City.

Gasch did not give any details of the bugging but it was learned that government agents recorded a telephone conversation, with a device hidden in a Las Vegas hotel.

In the telephone conversation, Edward Levinson, an executive of the Fremont Hotel, allegedly advised Baker Nov. 1, 1962, that he would have a room ready for him that coming weekend.

Baker had conceded in cross examination Thursday that he probably was mistaken in saying he had made a return trip to Washington that weekend from Los Angeles via New York. Baker acknowledged he probably had stopped in Las Vegas.

The bugging that caused Gasch to rule out this testimony was connected with a government investigation of activities by Levinson, not Baker.

The government today finally completed its tough cross examination of Baker after a total of about 12 hours on the grill. But the ex-page boy and former intimate of such Senate bigwigs as Lyndon B. Johnson and the late millionaire Sen. Robert S. Kerr faced more questioning by his own lawyers.

Baker's defense attorney, Edward Bennett Williams, said he would question his client on re-direct examination, then call additional witnesses. Among these were likely to be William Reynolds, a former Kerr aide, and Glenn Troop, a Washington lobbyist and top official of the U.S. Savings and Loan League.

Bid Opening Set On Harbor Bonds

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — State Treasurer Ivy Baker Priest will open bids for the sale of $10 million in San Francisco harbor improvement bonds at 10 a.m., Feb. 8.

Mrs. Priest said proceeds from the sale will be used for development and improvements at the port of San Francisco. The issue is part of a $60-million bond issue approved by the voters in 1958. With the sale, it will leave $7.5 million in bonds remaining to be sold.

State Snagging Building Of Two Schools

Bureaucratic red tape, which may delay construction of San Marin High School, may also delay construction of an elementary school at San Marin.

Both schools were planned by Novato Unified School District for opening in September of next year, but both may be delayed because of the state school planning rulings.

The district planned the elementary school according to a state regulation of 33 children per classroom. But since it was planned, the state limit has been changed to 29 pupils per room in primary grades, Supt. James G. Bunker told the board last night.

So now the blueprints for the elementary school must be revamped, he said.

Two weeks ago, Bunker told the board that the state wanted the gymnasium of the new San Marin High School constructed in two stages instead of all at once as the district had planned. The state also insisted that a shop building be added to the first stage development. The district had planned to use the shops at Novato High School for San Marin students until the second phase of the new school was built.

The board authorized application to the state for the first phase of San Marin High School of 85,370 square feet to cost $2,508,196. It also authorized selling $1,055,000 in bonds, which is the district's bonded capacity up to March 15.

Floor plans for five of the initial seven buildings at the high school were shown by Richard Banwell. These are gymnasium, English, business education, library and science buildings. Still to come are the administration building and shops.

The Novato Unified School District Board also:

1. Accepted the Hamilton School and additions to the San Jose and Hill junior high schools as completed.

2. Approved a summer school program, similar to last year's at a cost of $80,630.

3. Accepted the audit by Wolfe and Co. of the Associated Student Body Fund at Novato High School.

4. Hired Lora Fagan to teach third grade at Rancho School; Robert Huntington, mathematics at Novato High School; Joseph Lareau, mathematics at Hill Junior High School, and Victor Martz, art at Novato High.

Committee On Freedom Formed

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A temporary California Freedom of Information Committee will become permanent, its organizers report.

This was decided yesterday at a meeting of representatives of various news organizations from throughout the state.

The committee will report in May to a regional meeting of Sigma Delta Chi.

First chairman of the permanent committee is Larry Sisk, managing editor of the San Diego Evening Tribune and national vice chairman of Sigma Delta Chi's freedom of information committee.

Hamilton Jets Depend On Crew Chiefs' Care

With a portion of the 84th Fighter Interceptor Squadron from Hamilton Air Force Base in Florida practicing the actual shooting of their weapons, credit for their success goes in large part to the men who maintain their planes.

The pilots themselves will be the first to admit that their crew chiefs are one of the most important people when it comes to "keep 'em flying" referring to the versatile Voodoo F-101B Fighters.

Take A/3c Dane A. Parreira, a 78th Organizational Maintenance squadron crew chief, for example. His day begins early as he has to make a thorough check of his "bird" several hours before the flight time. In making this pre-flight check, he inspects everything from ground power equipment to the electrical systems.

In addition he must check the tires for proper inflation, and look for hydraulic leaks in those systems.

He also checks all warning systems and sees that the flight controls move easily.

Then he must assist the pilot in his pre-flight walk-around, help strap him in the cockpit and then start the ground power equipment which ignites the engine. After that he must remove the ground power equipment and assist the pilot in his final takeoff check.

As the pilot warms up the engine, he watches for trouble, such as smoke, leaking oil lines etc. If he is sure that all looks okay, he signals the takeoff.

He gets a breather while his plane is out, but then he may help other crew chiefs.

When his plane returns, he helps the pilot park it and then makes mechanical check up of it. Then he may spend hours cleaning the plane.

For every F-101 in the squadron, there is one man who knows that plane from engine to wheel strut, that is the crew chief.

Hospital Voting Plan Introduced

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The hospitalized would have an easier time of voting under legislation introduced by Assemblyman Charles J. Conrad, R-Sherman Oaks.

Conrad proposed Monday that such persons be allowed to get ballots up to election day and return them on the voting day. In Los Angeles County, the hospitalized could return ballots even on the second day after the election.

Roman Election At A Marin School

FACING THE VOTERS—Murena, Kirk Hooks, left, and Sulpicius, Bob Densmore, answer questions from the audience beneath the campaign signs.

By PAT PERRY

Lucius Licinius Murena, soldier, ex-governor of Gaul and candidate for Roman consul, ears a mini-print suit, knee-length beads, and long blonde hair.

Servius Sulpicius Rufus, lawyer, member of one Rome's most distinguished families, Murena's opponent for consul, wears a mini-print suit, knee-wears a plum colored Mod shirt, spectacles and braces on his teeth.

And the electorate they woo for votes prance gleefully round waving banners proclaiming "The Red Baron is for Murena" of "Down with Murena, He Cleans Slop Jars."

It's a social studies lesson, new-style, at Miller Creek School in Dixie School District.

EDUCATIONAL FUN

And though it looks like, and is, great fun, it's actually an experimental educational project, exposing students to primary source material on the death of the Roman Republic and a study of politics, elections, corruption, bribery, and the division between violent and orderly solution of problems of state.

Miller Creek is one of five seventh grades in the nation to be chosen for the experimental program by Educational Services, Inc., a non-profit organization principally sponsored by the Massachusetts Institue of Technology and dedicated to improving school curricula.

The five seventh grade classes, led by teachers Dean Nicholas, Mary Lash, Mrs. Martie Moran, Joan Tibbetts and Paul Schaefer, started the five-unit 10-week course two weeks ago.

MUCH MATERIAL

"We were overwhelmed by the volume of material provided for the program," said Nicholas, displaying a room crammed with books, papers and cards and tape recordings.

Students were somewhat overwhelmed with the novely of the program, teachers reported, but have become increasingly adapted to the demands. It is a demanding project, and teachers wondered at first if it wasn't too much for seventh graders.

Part I, already accomplished, introduced children to general features of Rome and Roman history, acquainted them with the governmental and political structure of Rome.

Pat II plunged students into the political realities of the republic in Cicero's time. A complete election was held, culminating with balloting Friday.

In each class a Murena and Sulpicius were chosen, and each student was given a card detailing his identity. For instance, Abby Roach, 12, became Aulus Terentius Varro, and was told: "You are from an old plebeian family. You served as a lieutenant in the army under Murena's father. . . . You were later prosecuted for stealing during your time in Asia. You were defended in court by Hortensius. . . ."

HOW TO VOTE?

Using this identity, students decide how to vote and to whom they owe favors and obligations.

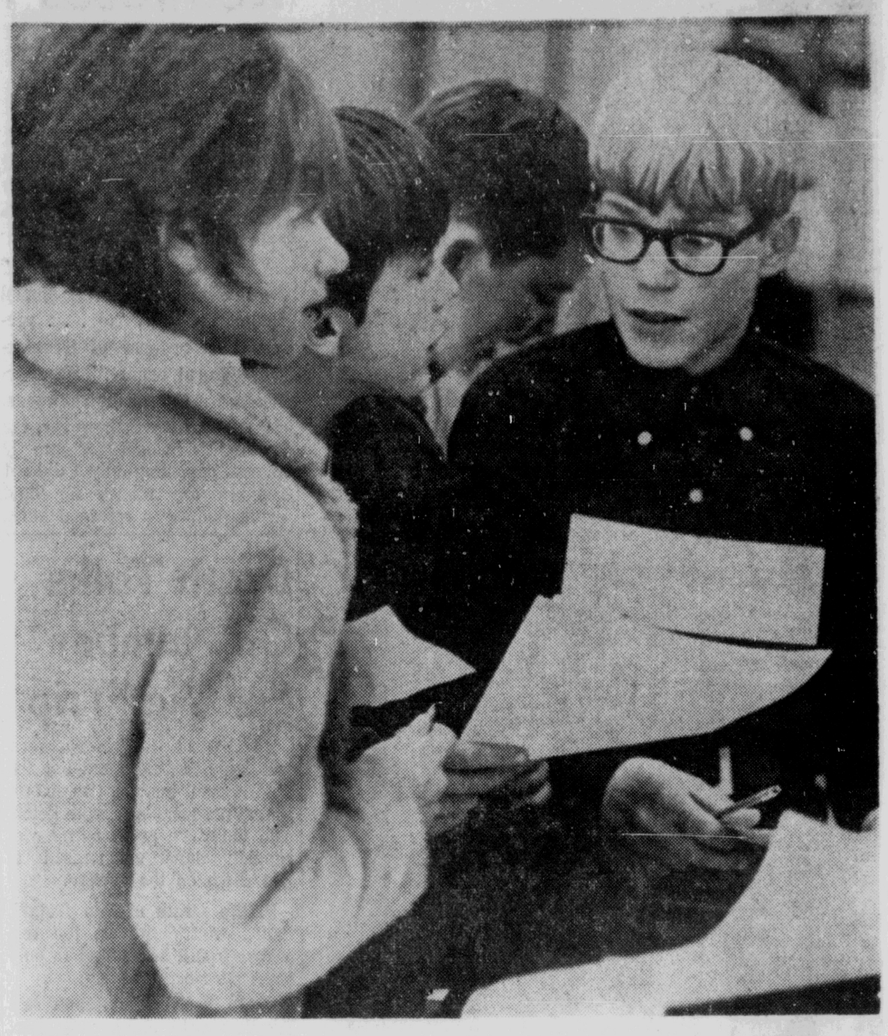

Told that Romans atually went in for swinging election campaigns, the Miller Creek seventh graders certainly entered into the spirit last week. Blackboards and walls were strewn with hand-drawn posters, albeit somewhat updated . . . "Snoopy is for Murena."

It can now be revealed that historically Murena did win the election, and this week a bribery trial resulting from that is scheduled.

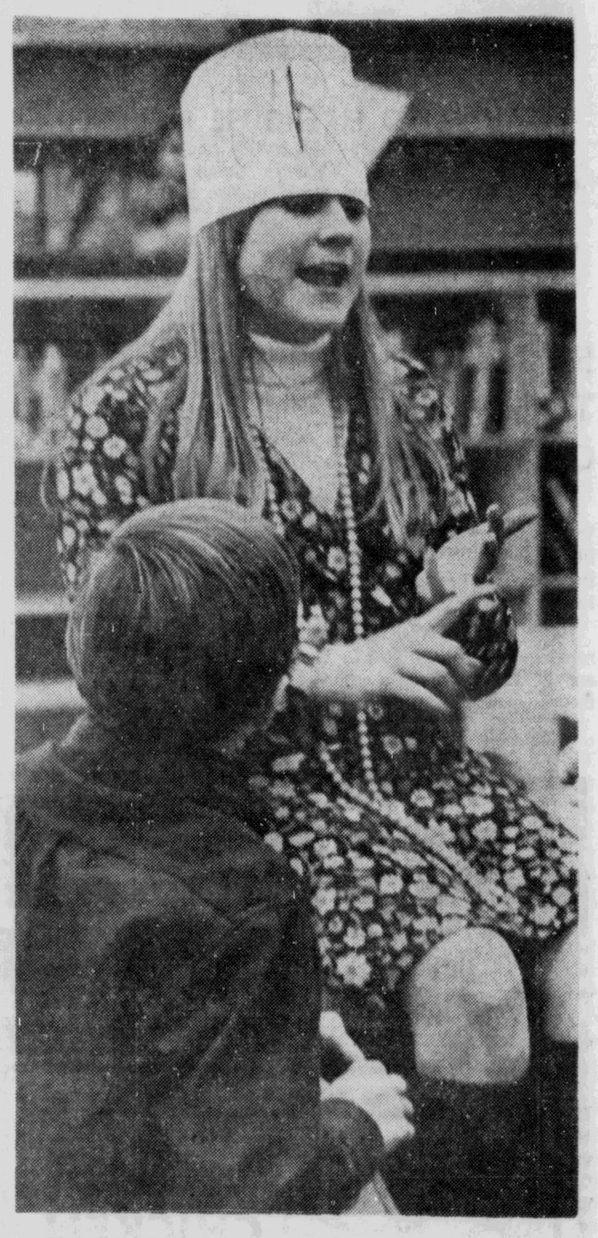

(Coincidentally in a recent school election at Miller Creek, the successful candidate has been accused by his opponent of passing out ball-point pens in return for promised votes, and a mock trial on that accusation is also scheduled. "Funny how things don't change, isn't it" remarked Nicholas.)

Future units in the program will include a study of violence versus law in settling disputes, the civil war, and Caesar's dictatorship.

The five Miller Creek teachers will take part in a critical evaluation session on the program at Albuquerque, N. M., in March. So far they report the program has been stimulating and exciting — although the Roman elections were somewhat too stimulating.

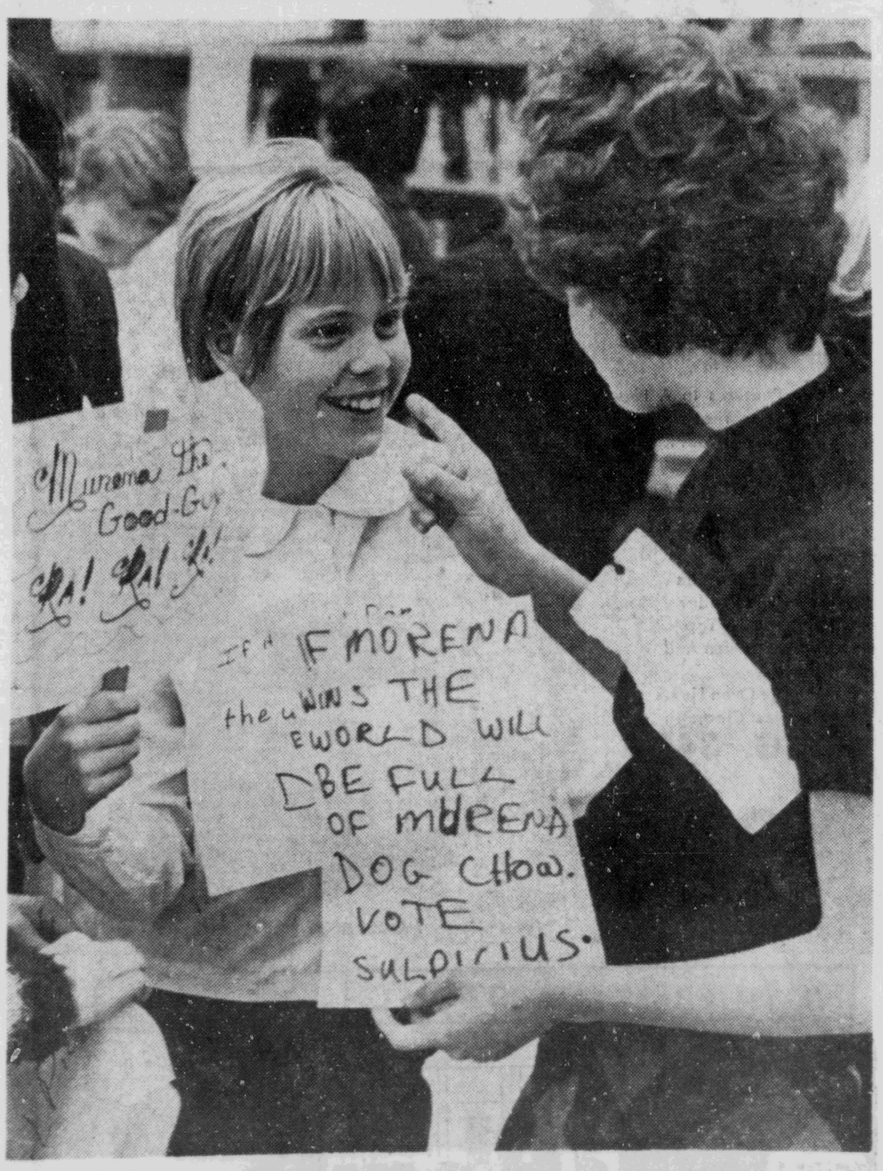

VOTERS' QUESTIONS—Sulpicius, Bob Densmore, answers questions from voters in seventh grade at Miller Creek Junior High School's experimental social studies program—the Roman Republic.

ROMAN CONSUL—Shawn Braman, playing Lucius Licinius Murena, candidate for Consul, perched on the library counter to deliver her campaign speeches to the Roman electorate.

Baker Trial Evidence Ruled Out As Bugging

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The jury trying Robert G. (Bobby) Baker was told today to ignore a major inconsistency in his testimony because the government obtained evidence relating to it by a bugging operation.

The action by U.S. district Judge Oliver Gasch ruled out testimony Thursday in which the government disproved a claim by the former Senate Democratic secretary that he spent part of the first weekend in November, 1962, in New York City.

Gasch did not give any details of the bugging but it was learned that government agents recorded a telephone conversation, with a device hidden in a Las Vegas hotel.

In the telephone conversation, Edward Levinson, an executive of the Fremont Hotel, allegedly advised Baker Nov. 1, 1962, that he would have a room ready for him that coming weekend.

Baker had conceded in cross examination Thursday that he probably was mistaken in saying he had made a return trip to Washington that weekend from Los Angeles via New York. Baker acknowledged he probably had stopped in Las Vegas.

The bugging that caused Gasch to rule out this testimony was connected with a government investigation of activities by Levinson, not Baker.

The government today finally completed its tough cross examination of Baker after a total of about 12 hours on the grill. But the ex-page boy and former intimate of such Senate bigwigs as Lyndon B. Johnson and the late millionaire Sen. Robert S. Kerr faced more questioning by his own lawyers.

Baker's defense attorney, Edward Bennett Williams, said he would question his client on re-direct examination, then call additional witnesses. Among these were likely to be William Reynolds, a former Kerr aide, and Glenn Troop, a Washington lobbyist and top official of the U.S. Savings and Loan League.

Bid Opening Set On Harbor Bonds

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — State Treasurer Ivy Baker Priest will open bids for the sale of $10 million in San Francisco harbor improvement bonds at 10 a.m., Feb. 8.

Mrs. Priest said proceeds from the sale will be used for development and improvements at the port of San Francisco. The issue is part of a $60-million bond issue approved by the voters in 1958. With the sale, it will leave $7.5 million in bonds remaining to be sold.

State Snagging Building Of Two Schools

Bureaucratic red tape, which may delay construction of San Marin High School, may also delay construction of an elementary school at San Marin.

Both schools were planned by Novato Unified School District for opening in September of next year, but both may be delayed because of the state school planning rulings.

The district planned the elementary school according to a state regulation of 33 children per classroom. But since it was planned, the state limit has been changed to 29 pupils per room in primary grades, Supt. James G. Bunker told the board last night.

So now the blueprints for the elementary school must be revamped, he said.

Two weeks ago, Bunker told the board that the state wanted the gymnasium of the new San Marin High School constructed in two stages instead of all at once as the district had planned. The state also insisted that a shop building be added to the first stage development. The district had planned to use the shops at Novato High School for San Marin students until the second phase of the new school was built.

The board authorized application to the state for the first phase of San Marin High School of 85,370 square feet to cost $2,508,196. It also authorized selling $1,055,000 in bonds, which is the district's bonded capacity up to March 15.

Floor plans for five of the initial seven buildings at the high school were shown by Richard Banwell. These are gymnasium, English, business education, library and science buildings. Still to come are the administration building and shops.

The Novato Unified School District Board also:

1. Accepted the Hamilton School and additions to the San Jose and Hill junior high schools as completed.

2. Approved a summer school program, similar to last year's at a cost of $80,630.

3. Accepted the audit by Wolfe and Co. of the Associated Student Body Fund at Novato High School.

4. Hired Lora Fagan to teach third grade at Rancho School; Robert Huntington, mathematics at Novato High School; Joseph Lareau, mathematics at Hill Junior High School, and Victor Martz, art at Novato High.

Committee On Freedom Formed

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A temporary California Freedom of Information Committee will become permanent, its organizers report.

This was decided yesterday at a meeting of representatives of various news organizations from throughout the state.

The committee will report in May to a regional meeting of Sigma Delta Chi.

First chairman of the permanent committee is Larry Sisk, managing editor of the San Diego Evening Tribune and national vice chairman of Sigma Delta Chi's freedom of information committee.

Hamilton Jets Depend On Crew Chiefs' Care

With a portion of the 84th Fighter Interceptor Squadron from Hamilton Air Force Base in Florida practicing the actual shooting of their weapons, credit for their success goes in large part to the men who maintain their planes.

The pilots themselves will be the first to admit that their crew chiefs are one of the most important people when it comes to "keep 'em flying" referring to the versatile Voodoo F-101B Fighters.

Take A/3c Dane A. Parreira, a 78th Organizational Maintenance squadron crew chief, for example. His day begins early as he has to make a thorough check of his "bird" several hours before the flight time. In making this pre-flight check, he inspects everything from ground power equipment to the electrical systems.

In addition he must check the tires for proper inflation, and look for hydraulic leaks in those systems.

He also checks all warning systems and sees that the flight controls move easily.

Then he must assist the pilot in his pre-flight walk-around, help strap him in the cockpit and then start the ground power equipment which ignites the engine. After that he must remove the ground power equipment and assist the pilot in his final takeoff check.

As the pilot warms up the engine, he watches for trouble, such as smoke, leaking oil lines etc. If he is sure that all looks okay, he signals the takeoff.

He gets a breather while his plane is out, but then he may help other crew chiefs.

When his plane returns, he helps the pilot park it and then makes mechanical check up of it. Then he may spend hours cleaning the plane.

For every F-101 in the squadron, there is one man who knows that plane from engine to wheel strut, that is the crew chief.

Hospital Voting Plan Introduced

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The hospitalized would have an easier time of voting under legislation introduced by Assemblyman Charles J. Conrad, R-Sherman Oaks.

Conrad proposed Monday that such persons be allowed to get ballots up to election day and return them on the voting day. In Los Angeles County, the hospitalized could return ballots even on the second day after the election.

WHAT'S SO DIFFERENT about the CO-OP?

What's so different is that the families who shop at the Co-op own the Co-op.

And because they own it, what they really want in goods and services comes first. What Co-op member-owners want—and get—is free child care while mothers shop . . . a free home economist service . . . their own Federal credit union . . . as well as top quality groceries at family budget prices.

Seven East Bay Co-ops—and a new one in Corte Madera in March.

Balmain Raises The Waistline Above Hipbone, Adds A Belt

By LUCIE NOEL

PARIS (AP) — Pierre Balmain made fresh spring news today with his tailored suit sporting a short hipbone jacket and flared skirt.

One in emerald green and another in gray shadow glen checks are the newest in Paris to date.

LITTLE sailors often faced with the dotted twill of the blouse fabric, and black or navy organdie peasant coifs, add youth and charm.

Balmain raises his wastline to above the hipbone and often belts and buckles it for every hour, including a lavishly jewelled Empire evening dress.

BALMAIN, famous for impeccable tailoring, shows beautiful coats, often in one color ensembles as a bright scarlet with matching jersey dress and navy belt.

Wild jungle floral prints in gigantic patterns are Balmain's choice for summer. He makes dressy ensembles for every hour of these prints. For evening they're on chiffon, a one-shouldered silhouette derived from Greek statuary has flowing scarves and wings.

CARRYING out the jungle feeling Balmain selects "spotted cats" for spring and summer, tailoring these de luxe animals in simple sophisticated redingotes, narrow topcoats and swing toppers. His favorites are a new "tortoise shell panther," jaguar and leopard. For afternoon there's a broadtail suit: for evening palomino or white mink.

Slide Tour Of Brundage Art Planned By Outdoor Art Club

"An inside look at the Brundage Collection" will be the program presented by the Cultural Arts Section of the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley at its guest day Thursday at 2 p.m.

Chairman Mrs. Roger Verran has arranged for a tour by means of slides through the San Francisco De Young Museum's recently completed wing for the Brundage Collection of Oriental art.

Mrs. William S. Jones, club member, will present the pictures. A graduate of Rollins College in Florida, she studied English and drama and was in the first group of docents trained by the museum to take people through the Brundage Collection.

FUND ENTERTAINMENT

Stage, screen and television actress Nina Foch, left, and Tom Haller, right, catcher for the San Francisco Giants, were among the list of entertainers at last night's Project Victory fund-raising dinner for the benefit of the Marin Chapter of the American Cancer Society. Greeting the two prior to the dinner and show at Sabella's Restaurant are Jordan Martinelli Jr. and Mrs. John Horton of the local chapter. More than 250 persons attended the dinner which was contributed by proprietor Angelo Sabella. (Jim Kean photo)

INTERNIST'S ADVICE

Should Women Enter Medical Field?

The election of Dr. Marjorie E. Belknap to a third term as president and Chief of Staff of Ross General Hospital points up the active role played by women in vocations dominated by men.

Would she advise young women to enter medicine?

"Yes," answers the internist, "But with reservations. There is much greater acceptance of women in the profession, particularly in the last 10 years. But that is not the only consideration — a young woman must resolve her personal life with her professional life — and it's a big decision."

As a youngster in Southern California, she loved all kinds of sports — as a participant — including the sometimes bone-cracking game of field hockey. Today, in rare leisure moments, she enjoys horseback riding in the Marin watershed district and trout fishing on the Trinity River. She has had many hobbies, including art and photography, and now is trying her hand with bonzai shrubs.

One of four children — with two older brothers and a younger sister — Dr. Belknap was born in Denver, Colo. Her family moved almost immediately to San Dimas, a small town about 30 miles east of Los Angeles. She was influenced in her choice of a career by a girl friend who entered medicine. Chemistry was her first love and it was not until her senior year at Pomona College that she decided on a medical career. Proving that even a Phi Beta Kappa can encounter academic obstacles, she mastered one course in calculus but winced at the thought of the next course in differential calculus. At this point she switched her major to biological science.

THEN, FINDING MORE interest in people than in research, she made a major decision in favor of medicine. Following graduation from Pomona College, where she was president of the Associated Women Students and a member of Mortar Board, she studied medicine at Stanford University where she received her degree in 1952. She is a member of Alpha Omega Alpha, national medical honorary society.

Looking back, Dr. Belknap says, "Without question, those first two years of medical school were the roughest of all and I don't know whether I'd want to try it again."

Apart from the difficulty of the medical course, she found the transition from the small campus at Pomona to the large one at Stanford a further difficulty.

FOLLOWING FOUR years at Stanford Hospital where she was the first woman to become chief resident, Dr. Belknap came to Marin County and began practice as an internist. Her specialty is somewhat unusual for a woman, most of whom specialize in gynecology or pediatrics.

As chief of staff at Ross General Hospital, her duties include liason between the medical staff and the hospital's board of directors, administrative duties and helping to set and maintain standards of patient care. She has been active, as well, in planning Ross General Hospital's new intensive care unit, a seven-bed facility which will open soon.

DR. BELKNAP'S SCHEDULE is a busy one, taking 70 to 80 hours a week, beginning at 7:30 a.m. at the hospital, followed by office hours. Her day concludes with hospital rounds at 8 p.m.

In between, and sometimes after, are meetings with the hospital board or with one of several organizations or committees on which she is active. She is a member of the board of directors of the Marin County Heart Assn and was its president in 1964-65. Dr. Belknap is active in Marin County Home Care, Inc., and is chairman of the Advisory Committee on Older Adults for Marin County. She is a consultant in internal medicine at Hamilton Air Force Base, and is presently on the Nurtition Committee of the California Heart Assn.

She serves on the advisory committee of the registered nurses program at the College of Marin, on the Marin Medical Society Nursing Home Committee and, for the Red Cross, on the Advisory Committee for Volunteer Visitors.

DISCUSSING plans for the new intensive care unit, Ross General Hospital's chief of staff, Dr. Marjorie E. Belknap busies herself with administrative duties and helping to set and maintain standards of patient care. (Independent-Journal photo)

St. Patrick's Sisters To Join In Celebration

The Sisters at St. Patrick School in Larkspur will join the other Dominican Sisters of Adrian, Michigan, in opening a year to commemorate their Diamond Jubilee on Saturday.

The Most Rev. Floyd L. Begin, Bishop of Oakland, will be the principal concelebrant of a Mass at St. Louis Bertrand Church, Oakland, at 11 o'clock.

Mother John Joseph, provincial of Holy Cross Province, and the Adrian Dominicans of Northern California will gather for the celebration. This area will be represented by the Sisters from five grade schools and Bishop O'Dowd High School in the Oakland Diocese.

June Debutante Outings Will Include Picnic And Boat Ride

By MOLLY MARIN

PARTY DATES are being selected by parents and friends of the Marin girls who will bow at the San Francisco Debutante Ball on June 16. Already planned for the Admiral's Cabin at Trader Vic's is a June 13 luncheon given by Mrs. Myron DuBain of Kentfield for her daughter, Cindy, who attends Chadwick School in Palos Verdes.

The same evening a dance will be hosted by the John Harold Dollars Jr. of Kent Woodlands for their daughter, Lisa. No definite date has yet been chosen by the Frank Howard Abbots III for a picnic and boat ride in honor of their daughter, Susan, who is a San Domenico senior.

THE JANUARY LUNCHEON of Tiburon Peninsula women who have ties with the Junior League will be held at the home of Mrs. Leslie Daggett in Belvedere tomorrow. Cohostesses are Mesdames Orton Buckner, Christopher Rivers and Charles Eberle. Sustaining, active and provisional members will attend the luncheon.

MRS. PHLIN LAURANCE has been selected as debutante adviser for the 1967 Hamilton Air Force Base Officers Wives Club debutante presentation to be held in July. Mrs. Laurance and her husband, Lt. Cl. Laurance, are residents at Hamilton.

The number of debs will be limited to 24 daughters of active Hamilton Officers' Wives Club members because of the limitation of facilities at Hamilton Officers' Club where the ball is held.

The girls are graduates of the 1967 senior high school class or college freshmen.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

'Mother Says To Bring The Boys Home—Then Dad Runs Them Off'

DEAR HELEN:

I am a 15-year-old girl. My mother always says, "Bring the boys home so I can meet them." (They won't let me ride in cars with them.)

But when they come over, my father says, "Get the ——out of here!"

So what can I do?—CLOSED OFF

DEAR C.O.:

Your parents should unscramble their signals and get together on an age-15 behavior code. . . . Which I think should include visits from boys—(Aw, come on, Pop, your little girl is big enough!), school dances and games, and very casual dating, but — if they say so — no car dates until you're 16. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Someone should tell those sneaky parents who bugged their daughter's telephone that the Federal Communications Commission pinches about five hundred frogskins out of a person's pocket each time he pulls such an evil stunt as this. It makes no difference who knows the phone is bugged, it's still illegal unless an audio tone of the proper frequency is sounded over it at least once every 15 seconds of the conversation.

I know this is a fact because I am a licensed radio amateur and keep up with FCC rules and regulations. — THE COOL ONE

DEAR COOL:

Illegal or not, who's going to "fink" on her own father? Even if she's furious! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I am a boy of 16, a junior, I've had sporadic crushes on girl classmates but have got over them because I never got to know any one them really well.

But now something has happened that is totally unprecedented.

I have fallen in love with my new English teacher. She is young, beautiful and single, with a warm and radiant personality. I don't exactly falter in my other activities, but I spend a lot of time thinking of things to say to her when I ask for a library pass, etc. She is nice to everyone, but I know she doesn't like me any better than the next.

The fact that this love is unrequited breaks my heart. I can't get over her. It gets worse every day. She is more attractive, mature, and intelligent than the high school girls. She is wonderful. I'm going mad!

In her class (in which I have a near-A average) I disintegrate. Everytime I see her I fall apart. If I were nine years older, we could be a perfect match. What can I do about this dilemma? — D. L.

DEAR D:

Welcome to the club, my friend. You're now in the elite group of young men who have Fallen In Love With An Older Woman. You won't believe me until six months from now, but you're benefitting greatly from the experience. Trying to be worthy of her, you'll become more mature, your grades will improve, you'll develop a lasting interest in English — who knows, you may be a famous author someday — you'll like school and almost all your teachers a little bit better, for having put one of them on a pedestal.

So enjoy your unrequited love — go ahead and worship from afar. It's good for you. Even now you're vaguely aware that if she came any closer you'd be disappointed and disillusioned. And long after you've found a cute little gal your own age to go around with, you'll remember the specialness of Miss ——— and the happy misery of that wonderful heart-pounding 16th year. You may even laughingly tell her so one of these future times — and if she's worthy of a boy's love, she'll act surprised. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Balmain Raises The Waistline Above Hipbone, Adds A Belt

By LUCIE NOEL

PARIS (AP) — Pierre Balmain made fresh spring news today with his tailored suit sporting a short hipbone jacket and flared skirt.

One in emerald green and another in gray shadow glen checks are the newest in Paris to date.

LITTLE sailors often faced with the dotted twill of the blouse fabric, and black or navy organdie peasant coifs, add youth and charm.

Balmain raises his wastline to above the hipbone and often belts and buckles it for every hour, including a lavishly jewelled Empire evening dress.

BALMAIN, famous for impeccable tailoring, shows beautiful coats, often in one color ensembles as a bright scarlet with matching jersey dress and navy belt.

Wild jungle floral prints in gigantic patterns are Balmain's choice for summer. He makes dressy ensembles for every hour of these prints. For evening they're on chiffon, a one-shouldered silhouette derived from Greek statuary has flowing scarves and wings.

CARRYING out the jungle feeling Balmain selects "spotted cats" for spring and summer, tailoring these de luxe animals in simple sophisticated redingotes, narrow topcoats and swing toppers. His favorites are a new "tortoise shell panther," jaguar and leopard. For afternoon there's a broadtail suit: for evening palomino or white mink.

Slide Tour Of Brundage Art Planned By Outdoor Art Club

"An inside look at the Brundage Collection" will be the program presented by the Cultural Arts Section of the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley at its guest day Thursday at 2 p.m.

Chairman Mrs. Roger Verran has arranged for a tour by means of slides through the San Francisco De Young Museum's recently completed wing for the Brundage Collection of Oriental art.

Mrs. William S. Jones, club member, will present the pictures. A graduate of Rollins College in Florida, she studied English and drama and was in the first group of docents trained by the museum to take people through the Brundage Collection.

St. Patrick's Sisters To Join In Celebration

The Sisters at St. Patrick School in Larkspur will join the other Dominican Sisters of Adrian, Michigan, in opening a year to commemorate their Diamond Jubilee on Saturday.

Mother John Joseph, provincial of Holy Cross Province, and the Adrian Dominicans of Northern California will gather for the celebration. This area will be represented by the Sisters from five grade schools and Bishop O'Dowd High School in the Oakland Diocese.

FUND ENTERTAINMENT

Stage, screen and television actress Nina Foch, left, and Tom Haller, right, catcher for the San Francisco Giants, were among the list of entertainers at last night's Project Victory fund-raising dinner for the benefit of the Marin Chapter of the American Cancer Society. Greeting the two prior to the dinner and show at Sabella's Restaurant are Jordan Martinelli Jr. and Mrs. John Horton of the local chapter. More than 250 persons attended the dinner which was contributed by proprietor Angelo Sabella. (Jim Kean photo)

INTERNIST'S ADVICE

Should Women Enter Medical Field?

The election of Dr. Marjorie E. Belknap to a third term as president and Chief of Staff of Ross General Hospital points up the active role played by women in vocations dominated by men.

Would she advise young women to enter medicine?

"Yes," answers the internist, "But with reservations. There is much greater acceptance of women in the profession, particularly in the last 10 years. But that is not the only consideration — a young woman must resolve her personal life with her professional life — and it's a big decision."

As a youngster in Southern California, she loved all kinds of sports — as a participant — including the sometimes bone-cracking game of field hockey. Today, in rare leisure moments, she enjoys horseback riding in the Marin watershed district and trout fishing on the Trinity River. She has had many hobbies, including art and photography, and now is trying her hand with bonzai shrubs.

One of four children — with two older brothers and a younger sister — Dr. Belknap was born in Denver, Colo. Her family moved almost immediately to San Dimas, a small town about 30 miles east of Los Angeles. She was influenced in her choice of a career by a girl friend who entered medicine. Chemistry was her first love and it was not until her senior year at Pomona College that she decided on a medical career. Proving that even a Phi Beta Kappa can encounter academic obstacles, she mastered one course in calculus but winced at the thought of the next course in differential calculus. At this point she switched her major to biological science.

THEN, FINDING MORE interest in people than in research, she made a major decision in favor of medicine. Following graduation from Pomona College, where she was president of the Associated Women Students and a member of Mortar Board, she studied medicine at Stanford University where she received her degree in 1952. She is a member of Alpha Omega Alpha, national medical honorary society.

Looking back, Dr. Belknap says, "Without question, those first two years of medical school were the roughest of all and I don't know whether I'd want to try it again."

Apart from the difficulty of the medical course, she found the transition from the small campus at Pomona to the large one at Stanford a further difficulty.

FOLLOWING FOUR years at Stanford Hospital where she was the first woman to become chief resident, Dr. Belknap came to Marin County and began practice as an internist. Her specialty is somewhat unusual for a woman, most of whom specialize in gynecology or pediatrics.

As chief of staff at Ross General Hospital, her duties include liason between the medical staff and the hospital's board of directors, administrative duties and helping to set and maintain standards of patient care. She has been active, as well, in planning Ross General Hospital's new intensive care unit, a seven-bed facility which will open soon.

DR. BELKNAP'S SCHEDULE is a busy one, taking 70 to 80 hours a week, beginning at 7:30 a.m. at the hospital, followed by office hours. Her day concludes with hospital rounds at 8 p.m.

In between, and sometimes after, are meetings with the hospital board or with one of several organizations or committees on which she is active. She is a member of the board of directors of the Marin County Heart Assn and was its president in 1964-65. Dr. Belknap is active in Marin County Home Care, Inc., and is chairman of the Advisory Committee on Older Adults for Marin County. She is a consultant in internal medicine at Hamilton Air Force Base, and is presently on the Nurtition Committee of the California Heart Assn.

She serves on the advisory committee of the registered nurses program at the College of Marin, on the Marin Medical Society Nursing Home Committee and, for the Red Cross, on the Advisory Committee for Volunteer Visitors.

DISCUSSING plans for the new intensive care unit, Ross General Hospital's chief of staff, Dr. Marjorie E. Belknap busies herself with administrative duties and helping to set and maintain standards of patient care. (Independent-Journal photo)

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

By MOLLY MARIN

PARTY DATES are being selected by parents and friends of the Marin girls who will bow at the San Francisco Debutante Ball on June 16. Already planned for the Admiral's Cabin at Trader Vic's is a June 13 luncheon given by Mrs. Myron DuBain of Kentfield for her daughter, Cindy, who attends Chadwick School in Palos Verdes.

The same evening a dance will be hosted by the John Harold Dollars Jr. of Kent Woodlands for their daughter, Lisa. No definite date has yet been chosen by the Frank Howard Abbots III for a picnic and boat ride in honor of their daughter, Susan, who is a San Domenico senior.

THE JANUARY LUNCHEON of Tiburon Peninsula women who have ties with the Junior League will be held at the home of Mrs. Leslie Daggett in Belvedere tomorrow. Cohostesses are Mesdames Orton Buckner, Christopher Rivers and Charles Eberle. Sustaining, active and provisional members will attend the luncheon.

MRS. PHLIN LAURANCE has been selected as debutante adviser for the 1967 Hamilton Air Force Base Officers Wives Club debutante presentation to be held in July. Mrs. Laurance and her husband, Lt. Cl. Laurance, are residents at Hamilton.

The number of debs will be limited to 24 daughters of active Hamilton Officers' Wives Club members because of the limitation of facilities at Hamilton Officers' Club where the ball is held.

The girls are graduates of the 1967 senior high school class or college freshmen.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

'Mother Says To Bring The Boys Home–Then Dad Runs Them Off'

DEAR HELEN:

I am a 15-year-old girl. My mother always says, "Bring the boys home so I can meet them." (They won't let me ride in cars with them.)

But when they come over, my father says, "Get the ——out of here!"

So what can I do?—CLOSED OFF

DEAR C.O.:

Your parents should unscramble their signals and get together on an age-15 behavior code. . . . Which I think should include visits from boys—(Aw, come on, Pop, your little girl is big enough!), school dances and games, and very casual dating, but — if they say so — no car dates until you're 16. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Someone should tell those sneaky parents who bugged their daughter's telephone that the Federal Communications Commission pinches about five hundred frogskins out of a person's pocket each time he pulls such an evil stunt as this. It makes no difference who knows the phone is bugged, it's still illegal unless an audio tone of the proper frequency is sounded over it at least once every 15 seconds of the conversation.

I know this is a fact because I am a licensed radio amateur and keep up with FCC rules and regulations. — THE COOL ONE

DEAR COOL:

Illegal or not, who's going to "fink" on her own father? Even if she's furious! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I am a boy of 16, a junior, I've had sporadic crushes on girl classmates but have got over them because I never got to know any one them really well.

But now something has happened that is totally unprecedented.

I have fallen in love with my new English teacher. She is young, beautiful and single, with a warm and radiant personality. I don't exactly falter in my other activities, but I spend a lot of time thinking of things to say to her when I ask for a library pass, etc. She is nice to everyone, but I know she doesn't like me any better than the next.

The fact that this love is unrequited breaks my heart. I can't get over her. It gets worse every day. She is more attractive, mature, and intelligent than the high school girls. She is wonderful. I'm going mad!

In her class (in which I have a near-A average) I disintegrate. Everytime I see her I fall apart. If I were nine years older, we could be a perfect match. What can I do about this dilemma? — D. L.

DEAR D:

Welcome to the club, my friend. You're now in the elite group of young men who have Fallen In Love With An Older Woman. You won't believe me until six months from now, but you're benefitting greatly from the experience. Trying to be worthy of her, you'll become more mature, your grades will improve, you'll develop a lasting interest in English — who knows, you may be a famous author someday — you'll like school and almost all your teachers a little bit better, for having put one of them on a pedestal.

So enjoy your unrequited love — go ahead and worship from afar. It's good for you. Even now you're vaguely aware that if she came any closer you'd be disappointed and disillusioned. And long after you've found a cute little gal your own age to go around with, you'll remember the specialness of Miss ——— and the happy misery of that wonderful heart-pounding 16th year. You may even laughingly tell her so one of these future times — and if she's worthy of a boy's love, she'll act surprised. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

PLANNING A SUMMER wedding are Nancy Margaret Lawrence of Greenbrae and George Henry Westfall of Alamo.

Nancy Margaret Lawrence To Marry George Westfall

Announcement has been made of the engagement of their daughter, Nancy Margaret, to George Henry Westfall of Alamo by Dr. and Mrs. C. Stanley Lawrence of Greenbrae.

The bride-elect is the sister of Susan Lawrence of Los Gatos and Anne and Kathleen Lawrence of Greenbrae. She was graduated from Marin Catholic High School and attended University of California at Davis. She will receive a bachelor's degree from California State College at Haywward in June.

George is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Westfall of Alamo and the brother of Barbara and William Westfall of Alamo. He was graduated from California State College and is an ensign in the U. S. Naval Air Force. A summer wedding is planned.

Marin Women

St. Anselm's Church Setting For Friery-Grange Wedding

In a noon ceremony Saturday at St' Anselm's Church in San Anselmo Frances Sonja Grange became the bride of John Franklin Friery of Houston.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carson Dean of San Anselmo, officiated at the rite for which the bride wore a white crepe gown.

Judith Monson of Fairfax was the maid of honor, wearing a pink Empire style crepe gown. The bride's sister, Rosita Dean, was the flower girl.

Serving as best man was Melvin Ramsey of Valiejo, with Fred and Frank Grange, the bride's brothers, both of San Rafael, ushering.

The couple will make their home at Davis, where the bride is attending the University of California as a freshman. Her husband is serving with the U. S. Air Force and is en route to Fairbanks, Alaska. He has been stationed for 18 months at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Frances is a Sir Francis Drake High School graduate, and her husband was graduated from high school in Houston and attended Sam Houston State Teachers College. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Friery of Houston, and has two sisters living there also.

Cake Decorating Class Is Offered

Surprise your family and friends with a professionally decorated cake for dessert. Learn the art of cake decorating. The San Rafael Recreation and Park Department is offering this class for men and women at the Community Recreation Center. Mrs. Jean Heacox is the instructor. There are 8 two hour lessons.

Pre-registration will be held at the Center tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. for all classes. Beginning Class will be on Wednesday night and depending on the response there will be advanced, special occasions, and potpourrie classes offered.

All classes will start the following week.

Agency Calls For Skilled Workers

Volunteers with skill in widely different fields are needed now by organizations that serve the county. Several can use typists, one needs an amateur photographer and in southern Marin a person to work in arts and crafts can find a volunteer job immediately.

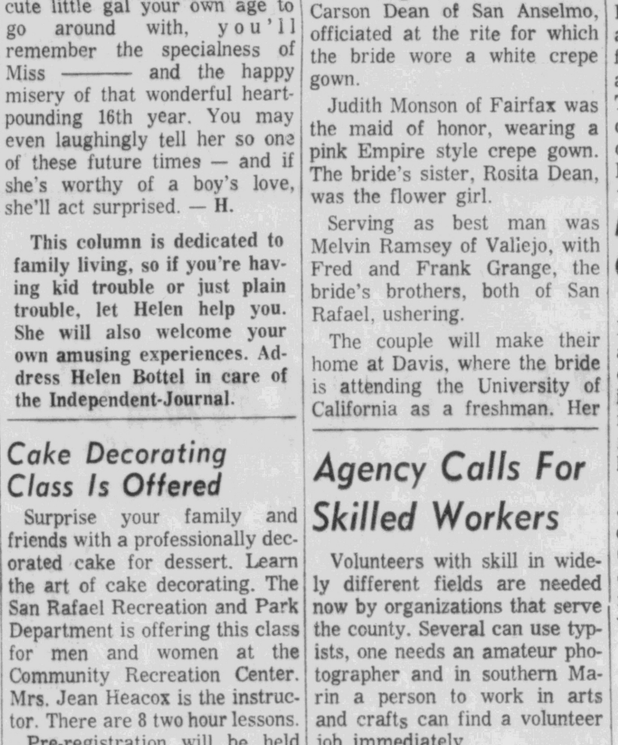

Typists should be available to work in San Rafael agencies for several hours once or twice a week.

The Volunteer Bureau suggests that interested people call for an interview appointment. The Bureau is located at 725 A St., in San Rafael.

Day School Begins Class In Afternoon

Pacific Day School, 40 Shell Rd., Mill Valley, will begin an afternoon class for four-year-olds on Jan. 30. Several openings are available, and parents may observe the school and meet the directors at an open house Sunday from 1 to 4 p.m.

Mrs. Margaret Kelly and Mrs. Jean Raible encourage each student from pre-schoolers through 6-to-9-year-old primary class to develop his own curriculum by following his special interests.

County Planners Continue Alto Gas Station Hearing

The Marin County Planning Commission yesterday, over protests of developers, voted 6-1 to continue until Feb. 6 consideration of architectural supervision for a gas station north of Sabella's Restaurant in Alto.

Commissioner Niels Schultz Jr. dissented, arguing that the details could be worked out between the planning staff and the developers; but other commissioners thought Humble Oil Co. had not yet presented sufficient plans.

The commission two weeks ago approved a use permit for the station after the developers said the land would be lost through default if sale to the station could not go through. George Arntz, representing Alcan-Marin, said at that time the use permit was a condition of sale. Yesterday he said the architectural supervision was also a condition of sale.

Commissioners were reluctant to be persuaded by this argument a second time. Arntz finally agreed reluctantly to a two-week continuance.

The Marin County Planning Commission Also:

1. Agreed to ask a joint meeting with the Mill Valley Planning Commission and other city officials for a general airing of differences and goals. Chairman Margaret Azevedo suggested the session.
2. Approved a land division asked by A. H. White to create a second building site at 61 Black Log Road in Kentfield, conditioned on obtaining an additional 20 feet to be added to the proposed 90-foot frontage.
3. Approved tentative map for the 11-lot Sky Acres on seven acres north of Tiburon Boulevard in Alto. The lots will be served by a cul de sac.
4. Approved the tentative map for Reedlands Woods Unit 2, a 79-lot tract planned on 44 acres on the north side of Bel Aire Estates near Tiburon.
5. Granted architectural supervision to allow remodeling the Guasco market into quarters for the College of Marin Newman Club on College Avenue on the west side of the campus.
6. Approved a use permit for a small neighborhood market at Ricardo Road and 5 Highway 101 frontage road in Alto. Consideration of architectural supervision was put off until Feb. 6.
7. Granted architectural supervision for a six-unit apartment planned by Robert A. Middagh at 407 Maple Street in Tamalpais Valley. A drainage canal runs through the property, and Middagh plans to build the apartment on piers above the ditch, enclosing the ditch. Permission was continued on approval of the Army Corps of Engineers and the Flood Control Zone Board.
8. Approved a variance for William J. Guinnane to allow encroachment into setback areas by 6-1 vote, with Mrs. Azevedo dissenting. Guinnane plans a house on pilings on Mar East Street, 50 feet north of Agreste Avenue near Tiburon.
9. Spent two hours learning more about data processing and how it can be applied to planning surveys. The session included a tour of the county's Data Processing Center.
10. Adjourned at 6:30 p.m.

Tiff Erupts Over Bolinas Harbor Plans

Gene McDaniel, chairman of the board of the Bolinas Harbor District, wanted to know what members of the county planning staff were going to say about he district's harbor plans at a meeting of the Bolinas-Stinson Beach unit of the Marin Conservation League at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Bolinas Community Center.

He noted that Albert Solnit, chief of advance planning, and Darryl Coneybeare of the staff were to speak on "The County-Wide Impact of an Urbanized Bolinas Lagoon."

McDaniel wondered out loud at yesterday's county planning commission session if this meant the planners were equating the harbor development with urbanization.

There was considerable discussion on the right of county planners to state their views as private citizens. Solnit said he understood he had that right. County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker said he expected his staff members to recognize that they could not fully disassociate themselves from the county.

The commission said the staff should not be censored.

McDaniel said this was not his point. He wated to know the nature of the thesis to be discussed.

Commission chairman Margaret Azevedo advised him to attend the meeting.

McDaniel and other members of the board were present to discuss a joint board-commission meeting on development of the second phase of the harbor district's study. Solnit, who has been investigating costs and scope of the study, said he was not ready to make a report.

Avant-Garde Plays Set At Redwood

Exploration into the "Theater of the Absurd" will be dealt with in the Redwood High School Drama Club's production of three one-act plays early in March.

"It is hoped," said director Greg Duncan, "that the plays: 'The Zoo Story' by Edward Albee, 'Impromptu' by Tad Mosel and 'Fam and Yam,' also by Albee, will serve to illustrate the versatility of the avant-garde theater."

"The Zoo Story," described as being a harrowing portrait of a young man alienated with society, will include in its cast Kurt Gjullin and Atom Levi, both of Tiburon. "Impromptu," a brief glimpse into the lives of four actors who try to improvise existence, will consist of Bruce Gerhard, Lee McErchern, Cliva Mee of Corte Madera and Sue Torrey of Greenbrae. Portraying the title roles in "Fam and Yam," concerning an imaginary interview between a famous American playwright and his younger counterpart, will be Greg Duncan of Ross and Bruce Gerhard.

February Date For Symphony

The Oakland Symphony Orchestra under direction of Gerhard Samuel will make its first appearance in Marin on Feb. 25 at 8 p.m. in the College of Marin gymnasium.

This will be as part of the college's concert-lecture series, Dr. Eugene A. Farrar, assistant dean of community services, has announced.

The 90-piece orchestra will do a program of new and traditional music including works by Mozart, Beethoven and the young San Francisco composer Richard Felciano.

Short-Circuit Cause Of Blaze

The $35,000 fire which destroyed a Marinwood Home Jan. 6 was caused by an electrical short-circut, Marinwood Fire Chief James Cameron announced today.

The Eichler-built home at 641 Appleberry Drive was occupied by Athur Katz. Owners were William and Joseph Bahner of San Rafael.

Italian Art Funds Sought

The Marin Society of Artists is sponsoring a drive for contributions to help restore Italian art partially destroyed by recent floods in Florence.

Mrs. Caroline Livermore of Ross is honorary chairman of the campaign. Contributions should be mailed to Trust Fund Committee to Restore Italian Art, Marin Society of Artists, Box 825.

ART REVIEW

Rasmusen At Top Form As A Mystic

By LAURA DEVENDORF

In painting's upper echelon, mysticism is giving way to bluntness, and subtlety to the shocking. Yet, noted painter that he is, Henry Rasmusen is definitely a mystic.

The exhibit of his work through Feb. 3 at the Unitarian-Universalist Church in San Rafael doesn't shock or stun. It is meant to be lingered over — thoughtfully.

Rasmusen doesn't make blunt statements. He suggests things. In both "Adam and Eve" and "Prince of Darkness," the figures are less fact than possibility, thready suggestions of body forms set against streaked planes.

His many landscapes are equally indefinite. They could be anything from microscopic to aerial views, from closeups of a slice of earth to vast perspectives. It's all in how you interpret them and the point is that you want to.

Rasmusen's technique is a major reason for involving the viewer so deeply in his work. The method, like the result, is indirect. The overlaid images are not painted directly onto the paper but pressed on from separate textured and painted grounds.

For indirect painting he shows great control in the intricacies and depths through which the paint is led. But more important, what he gets from this technique are lush masses of detail, of drips, pocks and tracery hardly possible through other means.

It is just this detail that gives Rasmusen's work its mystery and beauty. Focused by a moody palette of blues, blacks and greens, indefinable yet always suggestive, it forms the basis of the Rasmusen mystique —the open end for discovery and interpretation.

It is of interest that Rasmusen's credits include 26 major one-man shows, innumerable awards, listing in such published references as "Who's Who In American Painting" and that he has authored three books. Perhaps it is even more interesting that he is at this level, with work that is less of substance than of dream — work that is subtle, remote and shamelessly beautiful.

Commercial Olema Zone Hearing Set

Marin County Planning commissioners yesterday set a hearing Feb. 6 on changing all commercial zoning in Olema to include stricter limitations and controls, trying to comply with the "historic commerical" designation in the yet-unadopted west Marin Master Plan.

The action was prompted by the request of Ralph and Jaynlee Sommer for a change from agricultural to commercial zone on a one-acre piece at the north end of the community.

Larry Marks Jr. of Novato told the commission he has an option on the property, at the Bear Valley Road turnoff, and would like to put a gasoline station on it.

The commission will consider the Sommers' application on Feb. 6 also, but it will be with the restrictions for limited uses and controls.

'Sing-Out 67' Choral Group Is Organized

"Sing-Out 67" a patriotic choral group for boys and girls from 13 to 18, has been organized by San Rafael Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Coordinator Timothy Korn said the group already numbers 20, and meets each Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at San Rafael High School's music room.

An offspring of the Moral Rearmament organization, the sing-out group is one of 70 flourishing nationwide, with "Up the People" the most successful, appearing on television and tours.

"The kids sing patriotic songs and have discussions, which we call greenroom sessions," said Korn. "After we get organized the group will be available for bookings."

Instructors are Peter Bowman of Mill Valley and Judy Johnson of San Francisco, a former folk-singing team. Teen-age musicians and singers may join by attending any session, said Korn.

Marin Youth Orchestra Concert Set

The Marin Youth Orchestra will open its 13th season Sunday at 7:30 p.m. in Angelico Hall on the Dominican College campus in San Rafael.

Under direction of Hugo Rinaldi, head of the San Rafael Schools music department, the youth orchestra is composed of 85 young musicians from 20 schools. It is sponsored and supported by the Symphony Guild of Marin.

Sunday's program will feature two soloists: Megan Roberts, who will play the first movement of the J. S. Bach Violin Concerto in A Minor, and Mike Wellen, clarinetist, who will be soloist in the C. M. von Weber symphonic poem, "Over the Hills and Far Away," "Outdoor Overture" by Aaron Copland, and Bizet's "Carmen Suite No. 1."

San Francisco radio station KKHI will tape record the program and broadcast it on Feb. 11 at 9 a.m.

Marin Youth Orchestra alumni will be honored after the concert at a reception, where they will be greeted by first chair members of the orchestra.

Redwood Empire History Meeting

Stuart Nixon, publicity director of the Redwood Empire Assn., will talk about the early days of the Redwood Empire at 8 p.m. Feb. 15 at the Novato Community House.

Nixon, author of the pictorial history, "Redwood Empire," will speak on the subject "North From Sacramento — Pioneers Under Seven Flags."

The meeting, sponsored by the Redwood Coast Outpost of the Westerners, will be open to the public at no charge.

Report Incorrect On Cash Receipts

San Rafael police incorrectly reported last Friday that Michael E. Thiercof of 15 Chanticleer Avenue, Larkspur, had lost the day's receipts from Mac's Disco Service Station last Wednesday night in San Rafael.

Michael Sullivan, assistant manager of the station, told police that the $74 cash and $42 in checks were from the housewares department in the discount store, a separate business from the gas station. Thiercof is an employee of the store, Sullivan said.

CHP Reports 69 Storm Accidents

The California Highway Patrol reported 69 traffic accidents in its jurisdiction in Marin County during the storm from Friday to Sunday.

During the heavy rains Friday, there were 42 accidents. On Saturday there were 21. Yesterday, when roads were drying out, there were only six accidents.

Show By Members

The Marin Society of Artists is holding a member show at the Zellerbach Building, Market and Battery streets, San Francisco, open to the public through Jan 31. Othello Michetti and Marge Reese are co-chairmen of the show at which 40 members are represented.

Concert By Pianist Already Been Held

There will be no concert tonight by pianist Eugene Pridonoff at Dominican College, San Rafael.

The Independent-Journal erred in announcing the concert in yesterday's edition. The concert has already been presented.

City, County Feuding Over E. San Rafael

San Rafael City Planner Herbert G. Hotchner and County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker squared off yesterday before the county planning commission over the future of East San Rafael, now in county territory.

The city has a 41-acre annexation proposal before the Local Agency Formation Commission. When first heard before that commission, Zucker appeared to oppose annexation until the county could develop plans. He said the area was one of the main entrances to San Rafael and was one of the county's most critical concerns of planning.

He repeated these arguments before the planning commission yesterday and submitted a list of restrictions, including prohibition of roof signs and bill boards, undergrounding of utilities landscaping requirements and strict architectural control.

Reading between the lines, Hotchner said it apeared that Zucker was accusing the city of being incapable of good planning. Planning commissioner Niels Schultz Jr. had the same thought.

Zucker said the city had been known to skirt the underground utility requirement and had allowed billboards.

"Your're asking us to wait for a study not begun," Hotchner said, "a study that has no direction, and no time limit for completion."

Hotchner said that the city, in compliance with the local agency formation commission's request, is trying to bring other properties into the proposed annexation, and will ask for a continuance when the matter goes before that commission again on Feb. 2.

Zucker said this would give his staff more time to do work on planning. "Actually, I don't think we are too far apart on this," Zucker said.

Hotchner agreed, but reserved exception to the implications he believed Zucker had made.

Marin County Planning commissioners yesterday continued hearing on a proposed ordinance that would ban roof signs and all types of flashing or moving signs until Feb. 20, to provide for more adequate notice on the hearing.

No one appeared yesterday, and commissioners wanted notices sent out to individuals and organizations concerned.

The ordinance would also limit the size of signs on the side of buildings to a maxium

Falls are the second most common cause of accidental death, next to highway accidents.

CHP Check Turns Up Defective Autos

Motorists, are you having trouble with your steering lately? Has your horn developed a screech or is it your exhaust is smoking too much?

Never fear, the California Highway Patrol is here—with spot checks all around Marin County to insure that your car is safe enough to be allowed out.

Drivers may think the old chariot runs as sweet and safe as the day it came out of Detroit, but five-minute checks by highway patrol teams will soon show if essentials like mirrors or lights are defective.

The team picks a different location each day. Yesterday it was Novato. Last week, in Belvedere and Tiburon. Tomorrow, it may be an off-highway spot at the end of the block.

"Most peaple are pleased with the inspections," said Marin patrol Lt. William H. Porter. "Drivers have come up to the team voluntarily and requested inspections.

"Others have returned home with an inspected car and brought back the family's second car for a going over."

Porter has been pleased with the results and is working with Alameda County Patrol Officer Willian Flanigan to establish a permanent private vehicle inspection team.

These are some of the items patrol officers are looking at: Lights, brakes, window glass, tires, wipers, mufflers and smog control devices.

According to Porter, the team has found a large number of late model cars have needed adjustment of headlights.

Drivers, too, will be inspected, in a way. Registration papers and driving licenses are being scrutinized and officers are watching to see if changes of address have been notified and if cards are signed.

Drivers with faulty cars are being issued a slip with the defects listed. After they have been corrected, the vehicles have to be re-examined.

Cars with no defects have a blue "all clear" slip placed in the lower corner of the windshield.

But smug smiles are banished with this warning from the highway patrol: "The sticker shows the vehicle is equipped as required by law . . . however, this is no guarantee it will remain in this condition."

Porter stressed the need for regular inspection and maintenance if vehicles are to be kept roadworthy.

Unlike some other states, California does not insist motorists have their vehicles checked to conform to law.

But a bill passed in 1965 in Sacramento provides for the highway patrol to make spot checks on motor vehicles.

The first phase of the program ends next Tuesday. Anticipating a collective sigh of relief, Porter added: "Afterwards, it may be on a continuing basis in Marin County."

Sausalito Trustees Plan One School For All Pupils

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Sausalito school district trustees last night voted to build a new school plant at the Bayside School site to house all pupils in the district.

If a topographical survey of the site confirms advice by district architects Weibach, Boutmy and Silver that 1,200 kindergarden through eight grade pupils can be accommodated on the 13-acre site, other schools will be sold to finance a new plant. Trustees agreed, however, that if a new plant cannot be accommodated there, the Manzanita site in their next choice.

SALE VALUE

According to the architects, a new plant at Bayside will cost $2,½23,600. Sale value of Manzanita, Richardson Bay and Central schools has been estimated at $2,555,000. Thus, development at Bayside would cost $68,600 of the figures hold up.

Vote on the site selection was 3-1, trustee Martha Freebairn-Smith dissenting on the ground that more information was needed before selection.

Chairman Nathaniel Johnson abstained. The site, he objected, "looks so cramped to me." Arguing for the Manzanita site, Johnson noted that purchase of nine of 32 adjacent acres owned by Tamalpais high school district would allow later addition of pre-school facilities for all children. There is no room for pre-school facilities at the Bayside site, The architects said.

A new plant on the Manzanita site would give the district a profit of $230,000 after sale of other sites, according to the architects. Most expensive of the sites to develop as a single plant would be Richardson Bay, they said, which would cost to the district at $2,160,100 after sale of other sites.

OTHER AGENCIES

Their estimates did not take into account $452,000 the district expects to get from other agencies for a new school plant. The county board of supervisors had pledged $209,000, the county housing authority, $173,000, and the state, $70,000, Asst. Supt. Joseph Amato reported.

At present, however, state funds cannot be used for the Bayside site, Amato noted, because it lies outside the census tract picked by the legislature last year to insure that funds going to sausalito district would benefit Marin City residents. Amendment of the legislation to permit use of the funds for a new Bayside plant is expected this year, he said.

Trustee David E. Freedheim, a member of the district finance committee, said the committee would need about a month to review financing of a Bayside plant. Also to be considered, he said, is whether estimates of the sale value of other is realistic, and how quickly sale could be expected in the present tight money market.

The district's title to Central School is clouded, he noted, and 4.5 of the 9.8 acres at Manzanita revert to the county housing authority if it is abandoned as a school site. Housing authority director Donald O. Stutsman, however, told trustees that the authority coulde release the district from that condition.

Also, Freedheim said, sale of Bayside before 1976 would require payment of $45,000 to the federal government, which turned over the site to the district for a school.

FEDERAL FUNDS

Trustees asked Supt. Phillip W. Schneider to seek $3,400 in federal funds this week to pay for a topographical survey. If the funds are available, they agreed, he is to conduct a "telephone poll" of trustees to approve use of the funds to pay a surveyor.

In an eight-page general description of a new plant, Schneider also said class areas should contain not more than 25 pupils. Also, he said, a computer center should be provided.

SOME IDEAS

His outline, Schneider explained, "does not represent final thinking, but is a jumping-off point to give the architects some ideas to start preliminary drawings."

Sausalito School District trustees also:

1. Accepted resignation Joan Peterson, fifth grade teacher at Richardson Bay School, effective Feb. 3.

2. Endorsed a communtiy assembly to be held in March at Tamalpais High School to promote community relations.

3. Set their next meeting Feb. 14, because Feb. 13 is a school holiday.

No Visitors Allowed Yet At Quentin

Six days after last week's racial flare-up, San Quentin Prison inmates were today still cut off from contact with the outside world.

All tours and organization activities which brought people in from the outside have been discontinued indefinitely, Associate Warden James W. L. Park said. Visiting privileges by relatives have been withdrawn.

He said, "We hope to resume visiting for the inmates as soon as possible."

Today, about 1,300 men were released for work from their cells as an uneasy calm remained at the prison.

Park said about 200 prisoners were being questioned closely about the parts they played in last Wednesday's massive confrontation between Negro and white inmates.

"We are taking extra precautions with several hundred men. Each has to be interviewed to determine who among them pose continuing hazards," said Park.

He expected it would be "several weeks" before the prison returned to the routine it had before the clash.

Special Meeting

A special meeting has been called by trustees of Tomales High School District for 8 p.m. next Monday at the high school to go over the preliminary plans for the new high school.

Joint Planning With Cities–Key Problem

Marin County supervisors and members of the County Planning Commission agreed today that the biggest problem the county faces is working out some joint approach to planning with the cities.

County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker told the county officials his proposal for joint development of a uniform countywide zoning ordinance should be tabled because of negative responses from the cities.

FUNDS LACKING

He said it is doubtful that federal funds will be available for development of such a study or for development of a countywide general plan until some kind of agreement is reached.

Zucker said he sees the general plan as "self-renewing vehicle" that could change as conditions and desires change, not some kind of report that says what things will be like in 1980 or 1990 if present trends continue.

Supervisor John F. McInnis endorsed this approach, but said he was disturbed, and believed many city officials were also disturbed by the present situation in county planning.

PLAN CITED

He cited the Tamalpais Valley Master Plan, which was adopted several years ago but never backed up by zoning ordinances to implement it. He asked for a status report on all community plans. He said a master plan, without zoning backup, means the situation "only worsens and results in chaos."

McInnis agreed cooperation is needed, but said the county has long taken a patronizing attitude toward the cities.

Supervisors suggested that the planning commission try to meet with commissions of cities to reach accord.

Also discussed were changing proceedure to lift some of the details from the commission, giving more responsibility to the planning staff, relationship between the planning commission and parks and recreation commission, and some means of encouraging more citizen participation in developing county goals, such as another "future of Marin" conference.

TWO BODIES

Zucker wondered if there might be two commissions developed, one concerned with the county territory only, and the other with the general county-wide goals of both the county and its cities.

The two bodies agreed to meet again in about three months for further discussion.

Claude Stoller and Michael Praszker were absent from the commission and Peter H. Behr from the board of supervisors.

Two Trustees To Seek Ross Posts Again

Trustees Gay McLise and A. Crawford Greene Jr. will seek re-election to the Ross School District Board April 18.

Greene was absent at the board meeting last night, but McLise said he and Greene would seek re-election. Polls will be open from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m. in Ross School.

The board approved a proposal to begin separate instruction of emotionally disturbed children for an hour each day during school hours, beginning Feb. 1. State funds will help defray the cost.

The Ross School District Board also:

1. Voted to participate in the All-County Music Festival March 11 and 12 in College of Marin, and instructed Thomas Chesnut, music director, to survey needs for new instruments.

2. Scheduled a meeting in two weeks to discuss Parent-Teacher Assn. special events committee suggestion to install a stove in Ross School.

3. Granted leaves of absence to Mrs. Dortea Botermans and Mrs. Loraine H. Miller, teachers.

Association Of Merchants Is Discussed

Clifford S. Lund, president of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce, met with 35 merchants from downtown San Rafael this morning in a first step toward organizing independent merchants associations in the city's various commercial districts.

At the head of the associations would be a Merchants' Business Council, with representatives from each association. This would be tied to the chamber, since it would subscribe to a chamber-produced promotion campaign, he explained.

Areas which might wish separate associations, he said, are downtown San Rafael, Bret Harte, Montecito Shopping Center, Francisco Boulevard and Northgate Shopping Center.

Under Lund's plans, merchants in the associations would subscribe to the chamber's "Mission to Progress" promotional campaign this year.

Cost of participation in the program would be $125 a year for businesses which do not belong to the chamber. Members would pay only $87.50 a year, he said.

The Mission to Progress campaign would be a year-long celebration of the 150th anniversary of Mission San Rafael, and the 14th day of each month, ending Dec. 14, would be "Mission Day" in San Rafael.

"Friar Buyer Mission Day Sepcials" would be offered on those days, he said. The campaign costs would pay for all promotions throughout the year, including the purchase of Christmas decorations.

Student From Sweden Wins School Post

Beatrice Lundquist, exchange student from Sweden, has become the first exchange student elected to a student body office at Novato High School.

Miss Lundquist won the post of commissioner of internal affairs in voting last Friday.

Mike Ferretti was elected president of the student body for the spring semester. Debbie Donaldson was elected vice president, and Jo Anne Fagnani, secretary.

Others winning were: Hal McDowell, commissioner of justice; Donna Briggs, commissioner of public relations; Diana Bright, commissioner of student activities; Steve Freeberg, commissioner of athletics and awards, and Judy Fleming, commissioner of finance.

Sound Appointment To Highway Commission

We were disappointed that Don Emerson of Lake County was not named to the State Highway Commission.

At the same time, we are delighted that the northern counties are represented in one of the appointments made by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Moon Lim Lee, Weaverville businessman and member of a pioneer California family, will insure representation for counties to the north of San Francisco.

The choice of Lee, who is of Chinese ancestry, is significant in another respect.

From the outset of the gubernatorial campaign, some of Reagan's opponents attempted to pin the "extremist" and "racist" labels on him.

Reagan insisted, and subsequent events seem to bear out his contention, that he would not indulge in discrimination because of race, color or creed.

The appointment "is part of the continuing process this Administration is undertaking to assure that the best qualified men are named to key positions," said Governor Reagan. It also serves to dispel some of the "racist" charges flung at him during the campaign.

Lee has been in business in Weaverville, Trinity County, since 1922. He is past president of the Trinity County Historical Society, a member of the Chinese Historical Society of America, and serves on the advisory committee of the California National Highway Week Commission.

Lee traces his ancestry back to Chinese immigrants who came to work in the mines in the gold rush days and settled in Weaverville.

In local civic affairs, he has been active in the Weaverville Chamber of Commerce, Highway 299 Assn., Trinity County Recreation Park and Parkway District and the Weaverville Sanitary District.

We laud the Governor for a sound appointment and for providing Northern California with representation on the important State Highway Commission.

Fireplace Smoke

These chill, damp winter evenings is there any sight more cozy or comforting than smoke drifting out of a fireplace chimney? What vision of warmth and delight in watching the licking tongues of flame! It's everyman's bit of retrained pyromania coming to the foreground, a happy release.

And the aroma of the wood smoke, particularly Marin's fragrant eucalyptus, hanging close to the ground makes it a pleasure to inhale deeply.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

PARENTS CAN SHOW LEADERSHIP

The magazine headline that read "Parents Are More Important Than Anybody!" drew attention to a plain fact that is too often overlooked.

Parental responsibilities to children come first, to be sure. But the world outside the home needs their time and talents as well.

Parents who show a continuing personal interest in raising the level of public life invariably set a similar standard of leadership for their children.

Promote the common good of all people by voting intelligently at every election . . . Indicate by your obedience to authority that it is meant to protect freedom . . . Show an active concern for your schools . . . Participate conscientiously in worthwhile organizations and community affairs . . . Try to upgrade the level of literature and entertainment.

If you do these things, chances are, by the grace of God, your children will also do them when they become adults. But, if you don't, they probably won't either.

"Above all, hold unfailing your love for one another." (I Peter 4:8)

Impress on me, Lord, the need to bring about a better world through better families.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Lawmakers Make Sure Budget Doesn't Halt Four-Quarter Idea

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—The wolf-cry of educators that the conversion to the four-quarter year in the field of higher education would be jeopardized if funds in the University of California budget were curtailed got short shrift from the state Legislature as it considered resolutions assuring the program.

The resolutions were introduced by Sen. George Miller, D-Contra Costa, and Assemblyman Robert W. Crown, D-Alameda, respectively chairmen of Senate Finance and Assembly Ways and Means committees.

THE RESOLUTIONS contained a statement of the intention of the Legislature to finance the conversion program with $7,240,464 in the 1967-68 budgets of the university at Berkeley and Los Angeles, and the Los Angeles State College.

The Legislature, on recommendation of the Co-ordinating Council for Higher Education approved conversion some time ago. To date, some $4.5 million has been spent in setting up the quarter system.

The program, calling for full use of university and college buildings and facilities may save taxpayers about $208 million capital outlay during the next 10 years.

"Planning for conversion represents a tremendous investment in state funds and administration planning," said Senator Miller. "It would be grossly irresponsible to waste this investment at the last minute by not funding the conversion procedure."

THE SENATOR also pointed out the situation now requires "a special assurance by the Legislature that its past support of full-year operation of our campuses continues."

With the passage of the resolutions, the university regents and state college trustees will have no excuse to scuttle the program, which never has found much favor with educators anyhow, requiring as it does, that a lot more educators will have to work the year round.

"WE HAVE every intention," said Miller, "of taking advantage of the potential $208 million savings represented by year-round operation of the campuses."

When the conversion program was approved by the Legislature, the major argument in its favor was that students could obtain college educations in a far shorter time by attending college the year-round if they so chose.

Much support was seen for placing the entire school system of California on the year-round basis, both to speed the process of education, and to make maximum use of costly school facilities.

However, more or less as a compromise to the objections voiced by educators, it was decided to start at the top level in education, and put the university on the all-year plan, rather than attempt to make a sudden drastic change.

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Just a note to express our appreciation for the excellent coverage on our Hospital Emergency Department which appeared in the Jan. 17 issue of the Independent-Journal.

Not only was this presentation pictorially excellent, but we feel that the content was concise and informative in its attempt to enlighten the public on a service which is sometimes overlooked, except when it is vitally needed during times of stress.

My note brings with it appreciation from the Board of Directors, the Medical Staff, and Administration.

Drath's Trip— A Good Thing

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Phil Drath's departure to give aid and comfort to the enemy in North Vietnam appears to me to be a very good thing.

It makes his allegiance so very clear that the voters are not likely to have any doubts about him again, should he again have the temerity to attempt to be elected to any office.

If he were really "Pro-people" as he says, instead of Comrat he might bleat and bleed about the thousands of people in China, Hungary and Russia who have been tortured and butchered by the Reds.

May he never come back to Marin.

He Walks So Proud, The GI

Editor, Independent-Journal:

You sit at home and watch T.V.

You're sipping a glass of cold ice tea,

The news comes on and you hear

The All-star game is drawing near.

Then you see a far-off land

Where men are dying in the sand.

A frown appears across your face,

You're tired of hearing of that place.

Who cares about Vietnam across the sea?

That far-away place doesn't concern me.

You would rather hear the Beatles play,

Than listen to the world today!

But stop and think for a moment or two,

And ask yourself "Does this concern me?"

It's great to be alive and free,

But how about the guy across the Sea?

He gives up his life for you and me

So that you and I can live in Liberty.

He's far away to fight a war,

Instead of fighting it at your door.

This boy who lives in filth and slime,

How can he do it all the time?

The days are hot and the nights are, too.

What wonders a Coke could do!

He dreams of cold drinks and juicy steaks,

Then someone shouts "We got a hill to take."

You'll recognize him when he walks by

For there's a saddened look within his eye.

He walks so proud, yet looks so mean,

Girl Wearing Purple Dress Conducive To Love At First Sight

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

Eight out of 10 American husbands—old jokes to the contrary — actually get along with their mothers-in-law about as well as they do their wives.

You can always tell a poor neighborhood by the fact the young couples in it buy the most expensive-looking baby carriages.

If the authorities in any high school issued a decree that girl students had to wear miniskirts as a uniform, most of the girls would immediately show up in hoop skirts.

The only real fun I know of in attending a big public dinner is to place side bets on which of the famous people on the dais will fall asleep first.

Have adenoids gone out of style? You hardly ever hear them mentioned any more.

A COCKTAIL party never really comes alive until they run out of coat hangers and have to start piling things on the beds.

Pickpockets are usually lousy lovers and their girl friends constantly cheat on them.

Even in the hottest weather, no U.S. Supreme Court justice has ever had the courage to go into court wearing nothing but his underwear under his dark robe. But why not? The old Greeks and Romans did.

Cops say the cheapest crooks today are those who try to live it up on stolen credit cards.

I always suspect that a guy who uses a first initial, a three syllable second name and a two syllable last name—for instance one such as J. Bellington Bilker—is a con man at heart. However, over the years, a surprising number of them have headed philanthropic foundations.

THERE IS NO case on record of a man falling head over heels in love at first sight with a girl wearing a purple dress.

The only sure thing about sex is that there is less of it than there is talk about it. The same thing is true of rain.

The quickest way to shorten the war in Vietnam might be to hire Vince Lombardi of the Green Bay Packers as offensive coach.

An old-fashioned husband is one who knows where the refrigerator is in the kitchen, but has no idea how many burners there are on the stove.

When you apply for a bank loan nowadays, the fellow behind the desk is likely to ask, "Are you planning to buy a new car, or just making a visit to your dentist?"

The seasons are really getting confusing. It is now possible to see the first robin of spring before viewing the final football game left over from last year.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

REMEMBER AL Johnson's often-imitated posture while he belted out songs like "Mammy" and "April Showers" — down on one knee, stretching his arms out to the audience? Well, David Ewen, in his anecdote-packed book, "American Popular Songs," declares that necessity was the mother of this stance. Jolson, scheduled to star in an extravaganza called "Honeymoon Express," in 1913, at the Winter Garden, developed an ingrown toenail during rehearsals. He was suffering such pain on opening night that when it came time to sing the still-popular "You Made Me Love You: I Didn't Want to Do It," he dropped to one knee to ease the pressure on the aching foot, then stretched out his arms to keep his balance. The audience responded ecstatically, and this became a standard part of his act for the rest of his life.

Shining Hour Of Liberalism Passes In Halls Of Congress

WASHINGTON — The liberal impulse in this new 90th Congress already looks puffed-out. Not that it won't keep trying to prevail. But the odds are against it.

The mood of liberalism had its most shining hour, perhaps for years to come, in the 89th Congress. There the Democrats completely dominated, thanks to the 1964 elections which swept in a wave of liberals.

BUT IN THIS 90th Congress, this time thanks to the 1966 elections, the mood and the people are more conservative.

Three recent events show it.

The vote to keep the playboy-preacher-politician Democrat from Harlem, Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, from taking his House seat until he can be investigated; the vote making it tougher to get action from the House Rules Committee; and the obvious defeat of an attempt to make it easier to kill a Senate filibuster.

Emerging now is a revived coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats who had been the tycoons of Congress for generations until the 89th moved in.

THAT CONGRESS, extending over 1965 and 1966, gave President Johnson a honeymoon, the kind he may never see again even if he serves two terms. It set a record for passing major legislation.

In the 1966 elections the Republicans gained 47 House seats and three in the Senate where Democrats outnumber them 64 to 36.

Although they still look vastly outnumbered there, the Republicans' leader there, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, is a powerful voice and influence, both of them highly conservative.

LAST WEDNESDAY Dirksen was in the forefront—although in this case Mansfield was by his side—in all but polishing off a liberal attempt to make it simpler to throttle a filibuster.

As the year goes on Dirksen will be the dominant conservative force in the Senate where a coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats could stymie a lot of Johnson programs.

But in the House that coalition has already been in operation. After viewing what the House did on its opening day, Jan. 10, a New York liberal Democrat, Rep. Emanuel Celler, said "what happened today is a forerunner of what you can expect in this Congress. The Republicans and Dixiecrats are going to kill all liberal legislation. They will be entirely reactionary."

ON THAT OPENING day the coalition deprived Powell of his seat, which he had held 22 years, until a special committee investigates his qualifications. This action did not specifically spell out the complaint against him.

But the argument related to two main questions: The finding of a House committee that he had many personal trips at taxpayers' expense; and a criminal contempt of court charge against him in New York after a verdict against him for defamation of character.

ON THE KEY VOTE 126 Democrats, almost all outside the South, and no Republicans were on his side. Against him were 119 Democrats, mostly from the South, and 186 Republicans, for a total of 305.

Then the coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats teamed up to abolish a rule requiring the House Rules Committee, often a bottleneck for liberal legislation, to report out a bill within a reasonable time.

Federal Red Tape Is Hearings' Target

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Due to get underway in the Senate is the most searching examination of the confusion, red tape, waste, bungling and incompetence in federal, state and local government since the penetrating studies by the noted Hoover Commission two decades ago.

Starting Jan. 31, leading state governors are scheduled to testify before the Senate Subcommittee on Intergovernmental Relations, headed by San. Edmund Muskie, D-Me. on the generally little-known but pressingly important "management crisis in government" and what should be done about it.

The following week, a number of prominent mayors and other local officials will present their complaints, views and recommendations. They will be followed by distinguished experts and specialists in the field of public administration.

HEARINGS WILL be concluded with the subcommittee visiting a number of states and cities "to learn first-hand," says Senator Muskie, "the problems of those on the firing line, and to find out how Congress and the federal establishment can help them without intruding on their local autonomy."

"Intergovernmental relations," explains Muskie, involve people — their health their homes, their jobs, their rights as citizens, and their security as free men. When governmental systems do not bring the full force of their resources to hear on urgent social and economic problems, it is the people who suffer and the nation that loses."

"The problems of American federalism are not the fault of any one agency, system or individual," says Muskie. "We are all involved — the voter, the elected official, the management administrator, even the judiciary. Riots, tension unmet needs, frustration and disillusionment are caused just as much by local attitudes as by indifferent and discriminatory policies of state agencies, or the effective administration of federal programs."

FOLLOWING A preliminary series of hearings last fall, at which cabinet members and other authorities testified, Senator Muskie held "there are three roads we must follow to solve our management crisis in government:"

1. "We must combine our federal programs, and stop the senseless proliferation which is confusing state and local administrators.

2. "We must reorganize our federal departments to concentrate fewer programs under fewer agencies."

3. "Where reorganization will not do the job, or combining programs is not achieved, we must develop an efficient method of coordination at the Washington level and in the field."

Muskie strongly favors setting up a "National Intergovernmental Affairs Council." In the last Congress the Senate passed this proposal, but the House didn't get around to considering it.

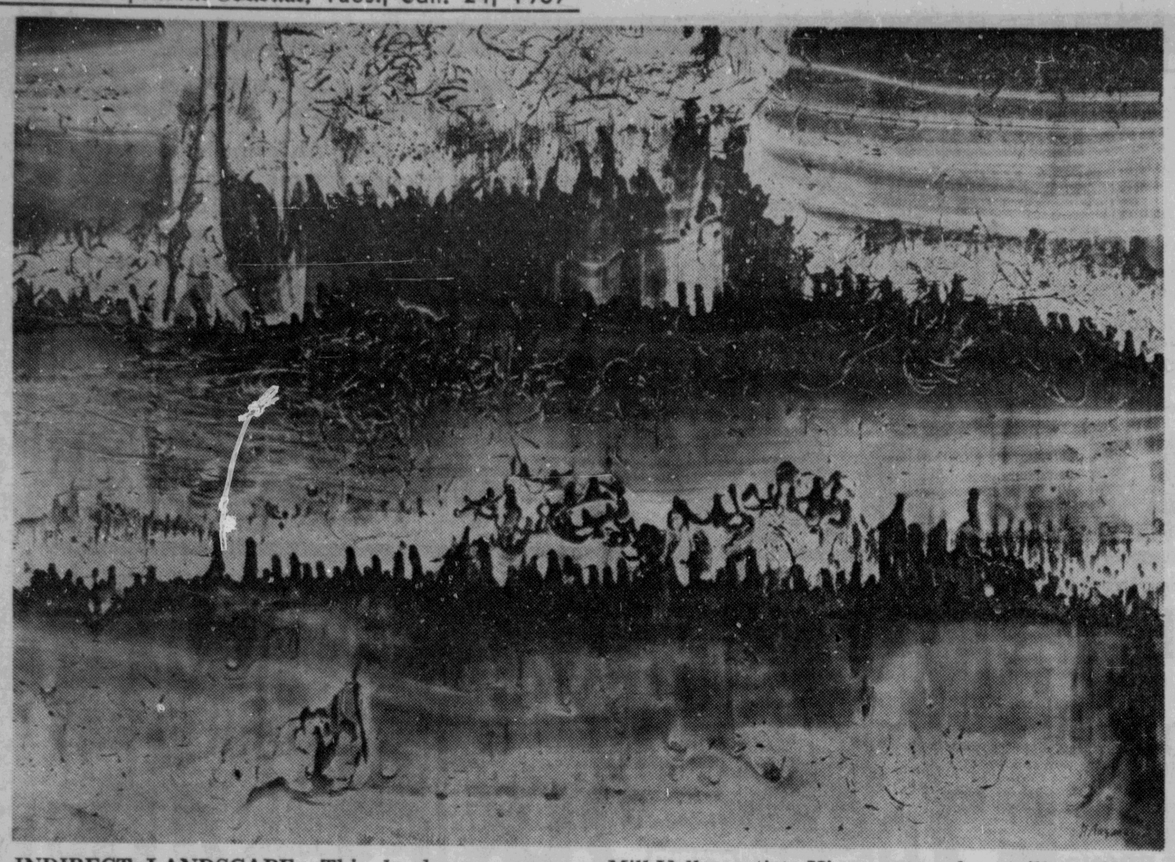

A STRONGER version of the measure will be introduced by Muskie in the near future and its enactment vigorously pushed.

As described by him, the proposed Intergovernmental Affairs Council would "sit at the right hand of the President" with the four-fold purpose of developing the policy of coordinating federal assistance, seeing that it is implemented, ironing out conflicts and contradictions and, most importantly, monitoring the effectiveness of this policy at state and local levels.

INDIRECT LANDSCAPE—This landscape combining detailed masses and flat planes results from the indirect painting method of Henry Rasmusen, Mill Valley artist. His one-man show will continue through Feb. 3 at the Unitarian-Universalist Church of Marin in San Rafael.

Avant-Garde Plays Set At Redwood

Exploration into the "Theater of the Absurd" will be dealt with in the Redwood High School Drama Club's production of three one-act plays early in March.

"It is hoped," said director Greg Duncan, "that the plays: 'The Zoo Story' by Edward Albee, 'Impromptu' by Tad Mosel and 'Fam and Yam,' also by Albee, will serve to illustrate the versatility of the avant-garde theater."

"The Zoo Story," described as being a harrowing portrait of a young man alienated with society, will include in its cast Kurt Gjullin and Atom Levi, both of Tiburon. "Impromptu," a brief glimpse into the lives of four actors who try to improvise existence, will consist of Bruce Gerhard, Lee McErchern, Cliva Mee of Corte Madera and Sue Torrey of Greenbrae. Portraying the title roles in "Fam and Yam," concerning an imaginary interview between a famous American playwright and his younger counterpart, will be Greg Duncan of Ross and Bruce Gerhard.

February Date For Symphony

The Oakland Symphony Orchestra under direction of Gerhard Samuel will make its first appearance in Marin on Feb. 25 at 8 p.m. in the College of Marin gymnasium.

This will be as part of the college's concert-lecture series, Dr. Eugene A. Farrar, assistant dean of community services, has announced.

The 90-piece orchestra will do a program of new and traditional music including works by Mozart, Beethoven and the young San Francisco composer Richard Felciano.

Short-Circuit Cause Of Blaze

The $35,000 fire which destroyed a Marinwood Home Jan. 6 was caused by an electrical short-circut, Marinwood Fire Chief James Cameron announced today.

The Eichler-built home at 641 Appleberry Drive was occupied by Athur Katz. Owners were William and Joseph Bahner of San Rafael.

Cameron said the blaze started in the wiring within the wall, behind the outlet for the dishwasher.

Italian Art Funds Sought

The Marin Society of Artists is sponsoring a drive for contributions to help restore Italian art partially destroyed by recent floods in Florence.

Mrs. Caroline Livermore of Ross is honorary chairman of the campaign. Contributions should be mailed to Trust Fund Committee to Restore Italian Art, Marin Society of Artists, Box 825.

Rasmusen At Top Form As A Mystic

By LAURA DEVENDORF

In painting's upper echelon, mysticism is giving way to bluntness, and subtlety to the shocking. Yet, noted painter that he is, Henry Rasmusen is definitely a mystic.

The exhibit of his work through Feb. 3 at the Unitarian-Universalist Church in San Rafael doesn't shock or stun. It is meant to be lingered over — thoughtfully.

Rasmusen doesn't make blunt statements. He suggests things. In both "Adam and Eve" and "Prince of Darkness," the figures are less fact than possibility, thready suggestions of body forms set against streaked planes.

His many landscapes are equally indefinite. They could be anything from microscopic to aerial views, from closeups of a slice of earth to vast perspectives. It's all in how you interpret them and the point is that you want to.

Rasmusen's technique is a major reason for involving the viewer so deeply in his work. The method, like the result, is indirect. The overlaid images are not painted directly onto the paper but pressed on from separate textured and painted grounds.

For indirect painting he shows great control in the intricacies and depths through which the paint is led. But more important, what he gets from this technique are lush masses of detail, of drips, pocks and tracery hardly possible through other means.

It is just this detail that gives Rasmusen's work its mystery and beauty. Focused by a moody palette of blues, blacks and greens, indefinable yet always suggestive, it forms the basis of the Rasmusen mystique —the open end for discovery and interpretation.

It is of interest that Rasmusen's credits include 26 major one-man shows, innumerable awards, listing in such published references as "Who's Who In American Painting" and that he has authored three books. Perhaps it is even more interesting that he is at this level, with work that is less of substance than of dream — work that is subtle, remote and shamelessly beautiful.

Commercial Olema Zone Hearing Set

Marin County Planning commissioners yesterday set a hearing Feb. 6 on changing all commercial zoning in Olema to include stricter limitations and controls, trying to comply with the "historic commerical" designation in the yet-unadopted west Marin Master Plan.

The action was prompted by the request of Ralph and Jaynlee Sommer for a change from agricultural to commercial zone on a one-acre piece at the north end of the community.

Larry Marks Jr. of Novato told the commission he has an option on the property, at the Bear Valley Road turnoff, and would like to put a gasoline station on it.

The commission will consider the Sommers' application on Feb. 6 also, but it will be with the restrictions for limited uses and controls.

'Sing-Out 67' Choral Group Is Organized

"Sing-Out 67" a patriotic choral group for boys and girls from 13 to 18, has been organized by San Rafael Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Coordinator Timothy Korn said the group already numbers 20, and meets each Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at San Rafael High School's music room.

An offspring of the Moral Rearmament organization, the sing-out group is one of 70 flourishing nationwide, with "Up the People" the most successful, appearing on television and tours.

"The kids sing patriotic songs and have discussions, which we call greenroom sessions," said Korn. "After we get organized the group will be available for bookings."

Instructors are Peter Bowman of Mill Valley and Judy Johnson of San Francisco, a former folk-singing team. Teen-age musicians and singers may join by attending any session, said Korn.

CHP Reports 69 Storm Accidents

The California Highway Patrol reported 69 traffic accidents in its jurisdiction in Marin County during the storm from Friday to Sunday.

During the heavy rains Friday, there were 42 accidents. On Saturday there were 21. Yesterday, when roads were drying out, there were only six accidents.

Show By Members

The Marin Society of Artists is holding a member show at the Zellerbach Building, Market and Battery streets, San Francisco, open to the public through Jan 31. Othello Michetti and Marge Reese are co-chairmen of the show at which 40 members are represented.

Marin Youth Orchestra Concert Set

The Marin Youth Orchestra will open its 13th season Sunday at 7:30 p.m. in Angelico Hall on the Dominican College campus in San Rafael.

Under direction of Hugo Rinaldi, head of the San Rafael Schools music department, the youth orchestra is composed of 85 young musicians from 20 schools. It is sponsored and supported by the Symphony Guild of Marin.

Sunday's program will feature two soloists: Megan Roberts, who will play the first movement of the J. S. Bach Violin Concerto in A Minor, and Mike Wellen, clarinetist, who will be soloist in the C. M. von Weber symphonic poem, "Over the Hills and Far Away," "Outdoor Overture" by Aaron Copland, and Bizet's "Carmen Suite No. 1."

San Francisco radio station KKHI will tape record the program and broadcast it on Feb. 11 at 9 a.m.

Marin Youth Orchestra alumni will be honored after the concert at a reception, where they will be greeted by first chair members of the orchestra.

Redwood Empire History Meeting

Stuart Nixon, publicity director of the Redwood Empire Assn., will talk about the early days of the Redwood Empire at 8 p.m. Feb. 15 at the Novato Community House.

Nixon, author of the pictorial history, "Redwood Empire," will speak on the subject "North From Sacramento — Pioneers Under Seven Flags."

The meeting, sponsored by the Redwood Coast Outpost of the Westerners, will be open to the public at no charge.

Report Incorrect On Cash Receipts

San Rafael police incorrectly reported last Friday that Michael E. Thiercof of 15 Chanticleer Avenue, Larkspur, had lost the day's receipts from Mac's Disco Service Station last Wednesday night in San Rafael.

Michael Sullivan, assistant manager of the station, told police that the $74 cash and $42 in checks were from the housewares department in the discount store, a separate business from the gas station. Thiercof is an employee of the store, Sullivan said.

Concert By Pianist Already Been Held

There will be no concert tonight by pianist Eugene Pridonoff at Dominican College, San Rafael.

The Independent-Journal erred in announcing the concert in yesterday's edition. The concert has already been presented.

County Planners Continue Alto Gas Station Hearing

The Marin County Planning Commission yesterday, over protests of developers, voted 6-1 to continue until Feb. 6 consideration of architectural supervision for a gas station north of Sabella's Restaurant in Alto.

Commissioner Niels Schultz Jr. dissented, arguing that the details could be worked out between the planning staff and the developers; but other commissioners thought Humble Oil Co. had not yet presented sufficient plans.

The commission two weeks ago approved a use permit for the station after the developers said the land would be lost through default if sale to the station could not go through. George Arntz, representing Alcan-Marin, said at that time the use permit was a condition of sale. Yesterday he said the architectural supervision was also a condition of sale.

Commissioners were reluctant to be persuaded by this argument a second time. Arntz finally agreed reluctantly to a two-week continuance.

The Marin County Planning Commission Also:

1. Agreed to ask a joint meeting with the Mill Valley Planning Commission and other city officials for a general airing of differences and goals. Chairman Margaret Azevedo suggested the session.
2. Approved a land division asked by A. H. White to create a second building site at 61 Black Log Road in Kentfield, conditioned on obtaining an additional 20 feet to be added to the proposed 90-foot frontage.
3. Approved tentative map for the 11-lot Sky Acres on seven acres north of Tiburon Boulevard in Alto. The lots will be served by a cul de sac.
4. Approved the tentative map for Reedlands Woods Unit 2, a 79-lot tract planned on 44 acres on the north side of Bel Aire Estates near Tiburon.
5. Granted architectural supervision to allow remodeling the Guasco market into quarters for the College of Marin Newman Club on College Avenue on the west side of the campus.
6. Approved a use permit for a small neighborhood market at Ricardo Road and 5 Highway 101 frontage road in Alto. Consideration of architectural supervision was put off until Feb. 6.
7. Granted architectural supervision for a six-unit apartment planned by Robert A. Middagh at 407 Maple Street in Tamalpais Valley. A drainage canal runs through the property, and Middagh plans to build the apartment on piers above the ditch, enclosing the ditch. Permission was continued on approval of the Army Corps of Engineers and the Flood Control Zone Board.
8. Approved a variance for William J. Guinnane to allow encroachment into setback areas by 6-1 vote, with Mrs. Azevedo dissenting. Guinnane plans a house on pilings on Mar East Street, 50 feet north of Agreste Avenue near Tiburon.
9. Spent two hours learning more about data processing and how it can be applied to planning surveys. The session included a tour of the county's Data Processing Center.
10. Adjourned at 6:30 p.m.

City, County Feuding Over E. San Rafael

San Rafael City Planner Herbert G. Hotchner and County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker squared off yesterday before the county planning commission over the future of East San Rafael, now in county territory.

The city has a 41-acre annexation proposal before the Local Agency Formation Commission. When first heard before that commission, Zucker appeared to oppose annexation until the county could develop plans. He said the area was one of the main entrances to San Rafael and was one of the county's most critical concerns of planning.

He repeated these arguments before the planning commission yesterday and submitted a list of restrictions, including prohibition of roof signs and bill boards, undergrounding of utilities landscaping requirements and strict architectural control.

Reading between the lines, Hotchner said it apeared that Zucker was accusing the city of being incapable of good planning. Planning commissioner Niels Schultz Jr. had the same thought.

Zucker said the city had been known to skirt the underground utility requirement and had allowed billboards.

"Your're asking us to wait for a study not begun," Hotchner said, "a study that has no direction, and no time limit for completion."

Hotchner said that the city, in compliance with the local agency formation commission's request, is trying to bring other properties into the proposed annexation, and will ask for a continuance when the matter goes before that commission again on Feb. 2.

Zucker said this would give his staff more time to do work on planning. "Actually, I don't think we are too far apart on this," Zucker said.

Hotchner agreed, but reserved exception to the implications he believed Zucker had made.

Falls are the second most common cause of accidental death, next to highway accidents.

Marin County Planning commissioners yesterday continued hearing on a proposed ordinance that would ban roof signs and all types of flashing or moving signs until Feb. 20, to provide for more adequate notice on the hearing.

No one appeared yesterday, and commissioners wanted notices sent out to individuals and organizations concerned.

The ordinance would also limit the size of signs on the side of buildings to a maxium

Tiff Erupts Over Bolinas Harbor Plans

Gene McDaniel, chairman of the board of the Bolinas Harbor District, wanted to know what members of the county planning staff were going to say about he district's harbor plans at a meeting of the Bolinas-Stinson Beach unit of the Marin Conservation League at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Bolinas Community Center.

He noted that Albert Solnit, chief of advance planning, and Darryl Coneybeare of the staff were to speak on "The County-Wide Impact of an Urbanized Bolinas Lagoon."

McDaniel wondered out loud at yesterday's county planning commission session if this meant the planners were equating the harbor development with urbanization.

There was considerable discussion on the right of county planners to state their views as private citizens. Solnit said he understood he had that right. County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker said he expected his staff members to recognize that they could not fully disassociate themselves from the county.

The commission said the staff should not be censored.

McDaniel said this was not his point. He wated to know the nature of the thesis to be discussed.

Commission chairman Margaret Azevedo advised him to attend the meeting.

McDaniel and other members of the board were present to discuss a joint board-commission meeting on development of the second phase of the harbor district's study. Solnit, who has been investigating costs and scope of the study, said he was not ready to make a report.

To Abide By Self-Imposed Rule, He Would Vote To Keep Powell

THUS A LETTER from a young Negro college student on a recent column: "Well, here you are again, with your racist justice, kicking a black man when he's down. I take it you'd like to be in Congress so you could vote to take Adam Clayton Powell's seat away and turn it over to an Uncle Tom."

For balm, I turn to a note from a colored lady who agreed with me on an older piece dealing with the excesses of CORE and SNCC: "Surely you don't believe the so-called Negro leadership speaks for us. What Mr. and Mrs. Average Negro American want are equal opportunities in jobs, education and voting rights. And when one of us steps out of line, we want him punished, too."

Which only proves—what I have long contended—that people are individuals and refuse to be herded into a monolith. The NAACP does not represent 20,000,000 Negroes, nor the Anti-Defamation League 10,000,000 Jews, nor the National Council of Churches 40,000,000 Protestants. When those organizations speak, they voice only the majority opinion of the handful that make up their executive boards. Even Mao, it now appears, doesn't speak for all of Red China.

BUT I WOULD remind the college student that this is the first time in 22 years that Adam Powell has been down. And that in all the previous times I have jabbed at him, Adam has been up—away up.

I think it's incontestable that the House was right in voting to strip Powell of the chairmanship of his important committee and barring him, pending further investigation of his conduct, from his seat. Not because of his private peccadilloes—which are outside my jurisdiction—but because they were apparently carried on at public expense. Thereupon they become every taxpayer's concern, and we are entitled to a public airing of the expense accounts involved.

NEVERTHELESS, I would vote to let him retain his seat. Certainly not because of the threats of Negro leaders all the way from A. Philip Randolph and Roy Wilkins down to the likes of Stokely Carmichael that to vote otherwise is to be marked for political extinction and could possibly bring on a third party, not to say—as some have—a Negro revolution. If America has fallen so low, it deserves oblivion, anyhow.

No, I would vote for the retention of Powell in his seat because it is crystal-clear that, whatever his derelictions, he remains the overwhelming choice of his constituency. And in a republic—so I believe—each section thereof is entitled to be represented by the man its electorate chooses. Whether he be rogue or saint, that verdict must be honored. Anything else is to open a Pandora's box that would allow a temporory majority to subvert the Constitution by denying an unpopular legislator his rightful seat.

IT IS FOR THAT same reason that, though I abhor the expressed views of Julian Bond, I welcome the decision that finally allows him to sit in the Georgia legislature. I wish his district hadn't voted for him—but it did, and that closes the argument in my book.

Georgia offers another instance where my heart bowed reluctantly to my philosophy. I was, it is no secret, a strong rooter for Bo Callaway in that state's gubernatorial race. Yet, because I believe firmly in State's Rights and resent the recent fiats by which the courts have unconstitutionally encroached on them, I found myself hoping that Georgia's laws would be respected and the election thrown into the legislature as provided by Georgia's statutes, even though I realized that would probably mean Bo's defeat.

PROVIDENTIALLY, I faced no such inner conflict in my own state. But had Communist Dorothy Healey, who polled an amazing 86,000 votes in last summer's Los Angeles County primary, won the office she sought, I fear I would have fought any attempt to unseat her. For you either abide by the rules or you don't make any.

Novato High's Office Test Is A Good Thing To Copy

Novato High School may be unique in one program which it has. In fact, this program is so good that it should be copied elsewhere. I don't mean only at other high schools and colleges, but in our city, county, state and federal governments.

Those wanting to run for office at Novato High School must pass a written test of 20 questions on student government before they can run. These are questions about the student government as set forth in the Constitution of the Associated Student Body at Novato High School. The students must have a passing grade of 70 per cent before he is allowed to take out his nomination papers.

ALTHOUGH THE test is true or false, the questions are varied enough to show whether the student is familiar with the office for which he is considering running.

Here are some of the questions:

The commissioner of justice is elected by the entire student body? Any officer on the executive council, except the president, may be a junior? The vice president is in charge of the representative assembly? The commissioner of student activities handles the sale of food at the football games? The class presidents are in charge of spirit week? The commissioner of internal affairs is in charge of this election.

SO ONE CAN readily see from this test that if the student did not know the constitution and how the offices are set up, he would not be allowed to run.

As far as we know, Novato is the only high school which makes prospective office seekers pass a written test.

Why shouldn't the same general theory apply to other office seekers? Why should someone run for a city council who has never attended a city council meeting and does not know what the functions of the council are?

Should a person run for any office in local, county, state or federal government who does not know how the government functions or what the functions of that office are?

WE HAVE SEEN far too many people run and get elected to an office who did not know what they were getting into. We even remember one case where someone ran for the office of county superintendent of schools and then refused to take the office he had run for and been elected to.

Many times we have seen people elected to office and by the time they had learned what their functions were, their term was half over. A simple test beforehand would show whether they knew enough about the office to know what the functions were of the job they were trying to get.

Think what a boon this would be to our democracy. The very threat of having to pass a written test on the job would make the serious office seeker bone up on the duties of the office. This alone might discourage some of the poorer candidates.

NOW, WHEN a person is elected to office, the public has no way of knowing whether that person has any knowledge of the job. Only during his first term in office can the public tell whether or not he is qualified. Even then, this can be hidden from the public in many ways.

A simple test on the basic functions and duties of an office would make the would-be office seeker know something about the job. A dog catcher's job is to catch stray animals? The president's job is to play golf in Palm Springs or fish off the Florida Keys?

Every office could have a basic test requirement before someone can run for it. It might improve the quality of politicians running for them.

School Leader's Reception Set

Welcome mat for John F. Plank, newly appointed superintendent of San Rafael City Schools, will be put out Sunday at a reception in San Rafael High School from 2 to 5 p.m.

Plank, former superintendent of Alford Unified School District in Riverside County, took up his new post today. He succeeds Bert C. Corona, who accepted a superintendency in Modesto. Asst. Supt. William C. Jordan has been acting superintendent in the interim.

Organizations represented at Sunday's reception will include San Rafael Parent - Teacher Assn., Marin County Federation of Teachers, San Rafael Teachers Assn., and California School Employees Assn.

Team Teaching On Board Agenda

The Larkspur School District board will hear reports on team teaching in district schools at 8 p.m. Thursday in the administration office.

The board will also hear a report on the district's participation in the county-sponsored neighborhood youth program. The board will discuss the use of $2,200 in federal funds received for purchase of library supplies.

CHP Check Turns Up Defective Autos

Motorists, are you having trouble with your steering lately? Has your horn developed a screech or is it your exhaust is smoking too much?

Never fear, the California Highway Patrol is here—with spot checks all around Marin County to insure that your car is safe enough to be allowed out.

Drivers may think the old chariot runs as sweet and safe as the day it came out of Detroit, but five-minute checks by highway patrol teams will soon show if essentials like mirrors or lights are defective.

The team picks a different location each day. Yesterday it was Novato. Last week, in Belvedere and Tiburon. Tomorrow, it may be an off-highway spot at the end of the block.

"Most peaple are pleased with the inspections," said Marin patrol Lt. William H. Porter. "Drivers have come up to the team voluntarily and requested inspections.

"Others have returned home with an inspected car and brought back the family's second car for a going over."

Porter has been pleased with the results and is working with Alameda County Patrol Officer Willian Flanigan to establish a permanent private vehicle inspection team.

These are some of the items patrol officers are looking at: Lights, brakes, window glass, tires, wipers, mufflers and smog control devices.

According to Porter, the team has found a large number of late model cars have needed adjustment of headlights.

Drivers, too, will be inspected, in a way. Registration papers and driving licenses are being scrutinized and officers are watching to see if changes of address have been notified and if cards are signed.

Drivers with faulty cars are being issued a slip with the defects listed. After they have been corrected, the vehicles have to be re-examined.

Cars with no defects have a blue "all clear" slip placed in the lower corner of the windshield.

But smug smiles are banished with this warning from the highway patrol: "The sticker shows the vehicle is equipped as required by law . . . however, this is no guarantee it will remain in this condition."

Porter stressed the need for regular inspection and maintenance if vehicles are to be kept roadworthy.

Unlike some other states, California does not insist motorists have their vehicles checked to conform to law.

But a bill passed in 1965 in Sacramento provides for the highway patrol to make spot checks on motor vehicles.

The first phase of the program ends next Tuesday. Anticipating a collective sigh of relief, Porter added: "Afterwards, it may be on a continuing basis in Marin County."

Sausalito Trustees Plan One School For All Pupils

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Sausalito school district trustees last night voted to build a new school plant at the Bayside School site to house all pupils in the district.

If a topographical survey of the site confirms advice by district architects Weibach, Boutmy and Silver that 1,200 kindergarden through eight grade pupils can be accommodated on the 13-acre site, other schools will be sold to finance a new plant. Trustees agreed, however, that if a new plant cannot be accommodated there, the Manzanita site in their next choice.

SALE VALUE

According to the architects, a new plant at Bayside will cost $2,½23,600. Sale value of Manzanita, Richardson Bay and Central schools has been estimated at $2,555,000. Thus, development at Bayside would cost $68,600 of the figures hold up.

Vote on the site selection was 3-1, trustee Martha Freebairn-Smith dissenting on the ground that more information was needed before selection.

Chairman Nathaniel Johnson abstained. The site, he objected, "looks so cramped to me." Arguing for the Manzanita site, Johnson noted that purchase of nine of 32 adjacent acres owned by Tamalpais high school district would allow later addition of pre-school facilities for all children. There is no room for pre-school facilities at the Bayside site, The architects said.

A new plant on the Manzanita site would give the district a profit of $230,000 after sale of other sites, according to the architects. Most expensive of the sites to develop as a single plant would be Richardson Bay, they said, which would cost to the district at $2,160,100 after sale of other sites.

OTHER AGENCIES

Their estimates did not take into account $452,000 the district expects to get from other agencies for a new school plant. The county board of supervisors had pledged $209,000, the county housing authority, $173,000, and the state, $70,000, Asst. Supt. Joseph Amato reported.

At present, however, state funds cannot be used for the Bayside site, Amato noted, because it lies outside the census tract picked by the legislature last year to insure that funds going to sausalito district would benefit Marin City residents. Amendment of the legislation to permit use of the funds for a new Bayside plant is expected this year, he said.

Trustee David E. Freedheim, a member of the district finance committee, said the committee would need about a month to review financing of a Bayside plant. Also to be considered, he said, is whether estimates of the sale value of other is realistic, and how quickly sale could be expected in the present tight money market.

The district's title to Central School is clouded, he noted, and 4.5 of the 9.8 acres at Manzanita revert to the county housing authority if it is abandoned as a school site. Housing authority director Donald O. Stutsman, however, told trustees that the authority coulde release the district from that condition.

Also, Freedheim said, sale of Bayside before 1976 would require payment of $45,000 to the federal government, which turned over the site to the district for a school.

FEDERAL FUNDS

Trustees asked Supt. Phillip W. Schneider to seek $3,400 in federal funds this week to pay for a topographical survey. If the funds are available, they agreed, he is to conduct a "telephone poll" of trustees to approve use of the funds to pay a surveyor.

In an eight-page general description of a new plant, Schneider also said class areas should contain not more than 25 pupils. Also, he said, a computer center should be provided.

SOME IDEAS

His outline, Schneider explained, "does not represent final thinking, but is a jumping-off point to give the architects some ideas to start preliminary drawings."

Sausalito School District trustees also:

1. Accepted resignation Joan Peterson, fifth grade teacher at Richardson Bay School, effective Feb. 3.

2. Endorsed a communtiy assembly to be held in March at Tamalpais High School to promote community relations.

3. Set their next meeting Feb. 14, because Feb. 13 is a school holiday.

No Visitors Allowed Yet At Quentin

Six days after last week's racial flare-up, San Quentin Prison inmates were today still cut off from contact with the outside world.

All tours and organization activities which brought people in from the outside have been discontinued indefinitely, Associate Warden James W. L. Park said. Visiting privileges by relatives have been withdrawn.

He said, "We hope to resume visiting for the inmates as soon as possible."

Today, about 1,300 men were released for work from their cells as an uneasy calm remained at the prison.

Park said about 200 prisoners were being questioned closely about the parts they played in last Wednesday's massive confrontation between Negro and white inmates.

"We are taking extra precautions with several hundred men. Each has to be interviewed to determine who among them pose continuing hazards," said Park.

He expected it would be "several weeks" before the prison returned to the routine it had before the clash.

Special Meeting

A special meeting has been called by trustees of Tomales High School District for 8 p.m. next Monday at the high school to go over the preliminary plans for the new high school.

Joint Planning With Cities–Key Problem

Marin County supervisors and members of the County Planning Commission agreed today that the biggest problem the county faces is working out some joint approach to planning with the cities.

County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker told the county officials his proposal for joint development of a uniform countywide zoning ordinance should be tabled because of negative responses from the cities.

FUNDS LACKING

He said it is doubtful that federal funds will be available for development of such a study or for development of a countywide general plan until some kind of agreement is reached.

Zucker said he sees the general plan as "self-renewing vehicle" that could change as conditions and desires change, not some kind of report that says what things will be like in 1980 or 1990 if present trends continue.

Supervisor John F. McInnis endorsed this approach, but said he was disturbed, and believed many city officials were also disturbed by the present situation in county planning.

PLAN CITED

He cited the Tamalpais Valley Master Plan, which was adopted several years ago but never backed up by zoning ordinances to implement it. He asked for a status report on all community plans. He said a master plan, without zoning backup, means the situation "only worsens and results in chaos."

McInnis agreed cooperation is needed, but said the county has long taken a patronizing attitude toward the cities.

Supervisors suggested that the planning commission try to meet with commissions of cities to reach accord.

Also discussed were changing proceedure to lift some of the details from the commission, giving more responsibility to the planning staff, relationship between the planning commission and parks and recreation commission, and some means of encouraging more citizen participation in developing county goals, such as another "future of Marin" conference.

TWO BODIES

Zucker wondered if there might be two commissions developed, one concerned with the county territory only, and the other with the general county-wide goals of both the county and its cities.

The two bodies agreed to meet again in about three months for further discussion.

Claude Stoller and Michael Praszker were absent from the commission and Peter H. Behr from the board of supervisors.

Two Trustees To Seek Ross Posts Again

Trustees Gay McLise and A. Crawford Greene Jr. will seek re-election to the Ross School District Board April 18.

Greene was absent at the board meeting last night, but McLise said he and Greene would seek re-election. Polls will be open from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m. in Ross School.

The board approved a proposal to begin separate instruction of emotionally disturbed children for an hour each day during school hours, beginning Feb. 1. State funds will help defray the cost.

The Ross School District Board also:

1. Voted to participate in the All-County Music Festival March 11 and 12 in College of Marin, and instructed Thomas Chesnut, music director, to survey needs for new instruments.

2. Scheduled a meeting in two weeks to discuss Parent-Teacher Assn. special events committee suggestion to install a stove in Ross School.

3. Granted leaves of absence to Mrs. Dortea Botermans and Mrs. Loraine H. Miller, teachers.

Association Of Merchants Is Discussed

Clifford S. Lund, president of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce, met with 35 merchants from downtown San Rafael this morning in a first step toward organizing independent merchants associations in the city's various commercial districts.

At the head of the associations would be a Merchants' Business Council, with representatives from each association. This would be tied to the chamber, since it would subscribe to a chamber-produced promotion campaign, he explained.

Areas which might wish separate associations, he said, are downtown San Rafael, Bret Harte, Montecito Shopping Center, Francisco Boulevard and Northgate Shopping Center.

Under Lund's plans, merchants in the associations would subscribe to the chamber's "Mission to Progress" promotional campaign this year.

Cost of participation in the program would be $125 a year for businesses which do not belong to the chamber. Members would pay only $87.50 a year, he said.

The Mission to Progress campaign would be a year-long celebration of the 150th anniversary of Mission San Rafael, and the 14th day of each month, ending Dec. 14, would be "Mission Day" in San Rafael.

"Friar Buyer Mission Day Sepcials" would be offered on those days, he said. The campaign costs would pay for all promotions throughout the year, including the purchase of Christmas decorations.

Student From Sweden Wins School Post

Beatrice Lundquist, exchange student from Sweden, has become the first exchange student elected to a student body office at Novato High School.

Miss Lundquist won the post of commissioner of internal affairs in voting last Friday.

Mike Ferretti was elected president of the student body for the spring semester. Debbie Donaldson was elected vice president, and Jo Anne Fagnani, secretary.

Others winning were: Hal McDowell, commissioner of justice; Donna Briggs, commissioner of public relations; Diana Bright, commissioner of student activities; Steve Freeberg, commissioner of athletics and awards, and Judy Fleming, commissioner of finance.

Sound Appointment To Highway Commission

We were disappointed that Don Emerson of Lake County was not named to the State Highway Commission.

At the same time, we are delighted that the northern counties are represented in one of the appointments made by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Moon Lim Lee, Weaverville businessman and member of a pioneer California family, will insure representation for counties to the north of San Francisco.

The choice of Lee, who is of Chinese ancestry, is significant in another respect.

From the outset of the gubernatorial campaign, some of Reagan's opponents attempted to pin the "extremist" and "racist" labels on him.

Reagan insisted, and subsequent events seem to bear out his contention, that he would not indulge in discrimination because of race, color or creed.

The appointment "is part of the continuing process this Administration is undertaking to assure that the best qualified men are named to key positions," said Governor Reagan. It also serves to dispel some of the "racist" charges flung at him during the campaign.

Lee has been in business in Weaverville, Trinity County, since 1922. He is past president of the Trinity County Historical Society, a member of the Chinese Historical Society of America, and serves on the advisory committee of the California National Highway Week Commission.

Lee traces his ancestry back to Chinese immigrants who came to work in the mines in the gold rush days and settled in Weaverville.

In local civic affairs, he has been active in the Weaverville Chamber of Commerce, Highway 299 Assn., Trinity County Recreation Park and Parkway District and the Weaverville Sanitary District.

We laud the Governor for a sound appointment and for providing Northern California with representation on the important State Highway Commission.

Fireplace Smoke

These chill, damp winter evenings is there any sight more cozy or comforting than smoke drifting out of a fireplace chimney? What vision of warmth and delight in watching the licking tongues of flame! It's everyman's bit of retrained pyromania coming to the foreground, a happy release.

And the aroma of the wood smoke, particularly Marin's fragrant eucalyptus, hanging close to the ground makes it a pleasure to inhale deeply.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

PARENTS CAN SHOW LEADERSHIP

The magazine headline that read "Parents Are More Important Than Anybody!" drew attention to a plain fact that is too often overlooked.

Parental responsibilities to children come first, to be sure. But the world outside the home needs their time and talents as well.

Parents who show a continuing personal interest in raising the level of public life invariably set a similar standard of leadership for their children.

Promote the common good of all people by voting intelligently at every election . . . Indicate by your obedience to authority that it is meant to protect freedom . . . Show an active concern for your schools . . . Participate conscientiously in worthwhile organizations and community affairs . . . Try to upgrade the level of literature and entertainment.

If you do these things, chances are, by the grace of God, your children will also do them when they become adults. But, if you don't, they probably won't either.

"Above all, hold unfailing your love for one another." (I Peter 4:8)

Impress on me, Lord, the need to bring about a better world through better families.

Lawmakers Make Sure Budget Doesn't Halt Four-Quarter Idea

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—The wolf-cry of educators that the conversion to the four-quarter year in the field of higher education would be jeopardized if funds in the University of California budget were curtailed got short shrift from the state Legislature as it considered resolutions assuring the program.

The resolutions were introduced by Sen. George Miller, D-Contra Costa, and Assemblyman Robert W. Crown, D-Alameda, respectively chairmen of Senate Finance and Assembly Ways and Means committees.

THE RESOLUTIONS contained a statement of the intention of the Legislature to finance the conversion program with $7,240,464 in the 1967-68 budgets of the university at Berkeley and Los Angeles, and the Los Angeles State College.

The Legislature, on recommendation of the Co-ordinating Council for Higher Education approved conversion some time ago. To date, some $4.5 million has been spent in setting up the quarter system.

The program, calling for full use of university and college buildings and facilities may save taxpayers about $208 million capital outlay during the next 10 years.

"Planning for conversion represents a tremendous investment in state funds and administration planning," said Senator Miller. "It would be grossly irresponsible to waste this investment at the last minute by not funding the conversion procedure."

THE SENATOR also pointed out the situation now requires "a special assurance by the Legislature that its past support of full-year operation of our campuses continues."

With the passage of the resolutions, the university regents and state college trustees will have no excuse to scuttle the program, which never has found much favor with educators anyhow, requiring as it does, that a lot more educators will have to work the year round.

"WE HAVE every intention," said Miller, "of taking advantage of the potential $208 million savings represented by year-round operation of the campuses."

When the conversion program was approved by the Legislature, the major argument in its favor was that students could obtain college educations in a far shorter time by attending college the year-round if they so chose.

Much support was seen for placing the entire school system of California on the year-round basis, both to speed the process of education, and to make maximum use of costly school facilities.

However, more or less as a compromise to the objections voiced by educators, it was decided to start at the top level in education, and put the university on the all-year plan, rather than attempt to make a sudden drastic change.

The Hospital Layout Liked

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Just a note to express our appreciation for the excellent coverage on our Hospital Emergency Department which appeared in the Jan. 17 issue of the Independent-Journal.

Not only was this presentation pictorially excellent, but we feel that the content was concise and informative in its attempt to enlighten the public on a service which is sometimes overlooked, except when it is vitally needed during times of stress.

My note brings with it appreciation from the Board of Directors, the Medical Staff, and Administration.

Drath's Trip— A Good Thing

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Phil Drath's departure to give aid and comfort to the enemy in North Vietnam appears to me to be a very good thing.

It makes his allegiance so very clear that the voters are not likely to have any doubts about him again, should he again have the temerity to attempt to be elected to any office.

If he were really "Pro-people" as he says, instead of Comrat he might bleat and bleed about the thousands of people in China, Hungary and Russia who have been tortured and butchered by the Reds.

May he never come back to Marin.

He Walks So Proud, The GI

Editor, Independent-Journal:

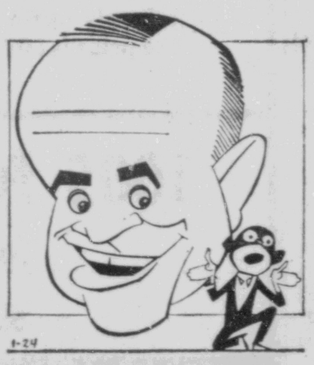

You sit at home and watch T.V.
You're sipping a glass of cold ice tea,
The news comes on and you hear
The All-star game is drawing near.
Then you see a far-off land
Where men are dying in the sand.
A frown appears across your face,
You're tired of hearing of that place.
Who cares about Vietnam across the sea?
That far-away place doesn't concern me.
You would rather hear the Beatles play,
Than listen to the world today!
But stop and think for a moment or two,
And ask yourself "Does this concern me?"
It's great to be alive and free,
But how about the guy across the Sea?
He gives up his life for you and me
So that you and I can live in Liberty.
He's far away to fight a war,
Instead of fighting it at your door.
This boy who lives in filth and slime,
How can he do it all the time?
The days are hot and the nights are, too.
What wonders a Coke could do!
He dreams of cold drinks and juicy steaks,
Then someone shouts "We got a hill to take."
You'll recognize him when he walks by
For there's a saddened look within his eye.
He walks so proud, yet looks so mean,
He's called The World's Greatest Fighting Machine.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

REMEMBER AL Johnson's often-imitated posture while he belted out songs like "Mammy" and "April Showers" — down on one knee, stretching his arms out to the audience? Well, David Ewen, in his anecdote-packed book, "American Popular Songs," declares that necessity was the mother of this stance. Jolson, scheduled to star in an extravaganza called "Honeymoon Express," in 1913, at the Winter Garden, developed an ingrown toenail during rehearsals. He was suffering such pain on opening night that when it came time to sing the still-popular "You Made Me Love You: I Didn't Want to Do It," he dropped to one knee to ease the pressure on the aching foot, then stretched out his arms to keep his balance. The audience responded ecstatically, and this became a standard part of his act for the rest of his life.

Girl Wearing Purple Dress Conducive To Love At First Sight

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

Eight out of 10 American husbands—old jokes to the contrary — actually get along with their mothers-in-law about as well as they do their wives.

You can always tell a poor neighborhood by the fact the young couples in it buy the most expensive-looking baby carriages.

If the authorities in any high school issued a decree that girl students had to wear miniskirts as a uniform, most of the girls would immediately show up in hoop skirts.

The only real fun I know of in attending a big public dinner is to place side bets on which of the famous people on the dais will fall asleep first.

Have adenoids gone out of style? You hardly ever hear them mentioned any more.

A COCKTAIL party never really comes alive until they run out of coat hangers and have to start piling things on the beds.

Pickpockets are usually lousy lovers and their girl friends constantly cheat on them.

Even in the hottest weather, no U.S. Supreme Court justice has ever had the courage to go into court wearing nothing but his underwear under his dark robe. But why not? The old Greeks and Romans did.

Cops say the cheapest crooks today are those who try to live it up on stolen credit cards.

I always suspect that a guy who uses a first initial, a three syllable second name and a two syllable last name—for instance one such as J. Bellington Bilker—is a con man at heart. However, over the years, a surprising number of them have headed philanthropic foundations.

THERE IS NO case on record of a man falling head over heels in love at first sight with a girl wearing a purple dress.

The only sure thing about sex is that there is less of it than there is talk about it. The same thing is true of rain.

The quickest way to shorten the war in Vietnam might be to hire Vince Lombardi of the Green Bay Packers as offensive coach.

An old-fashioned husband is one who knows where the refrigerator is in the kitchen, but has no idea how many burners there are on the stove.

When you apply for a bank loan nowadays, the fellow behind the desk is likely to ask, "Are you planning to buy a new car, or just making a visit to your dentist?"

The seasons are really getting confusing. It is now possible to see the first robin of spring before viewing the final football game left over from last year.

Shining Hour Of Liberalism Passes In Halls Of Congress

WASHINGTON — The liberal impulse in this new 90th Congress already looks puffed-out. Not that it won't keep trying to prevail. But the odds are against it.

The mood of liberalism had its most shining hour, perhaps for years to come, in the 89th Congress. There the Democrats completely dominated, thanks to the 1964 elections which swept in a wave of liberals.

BUT IN THIS 90th Congress, this time thanks to the 1966 elections, the mood and the people are more conservative.

Three recent events show it.

The vote to keep the playboy-preacher-politician Democrat from Harlem, Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, from taking his House seat until he can be investigated; the vote making it tougher to get action from the House Rules Committee; and the obvious defeat of an attempt to make it easier to kill a Senate filibuster.

Emerging now is a revived coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats who had been the tycoons of Congress for generations until the 89th moved in.

THAT CONGRESS, extending over 1965 and 1966, gave President Johnson a honeymoon, the kind he may never see again even if he serves two terms. It set a record for passing major legislation.

In the 1966 elections the Republicans gained 47 House seats and three in the Senate where Democrats outnumber them 64 to 36.

Although they still look vastly outnumbered there, the Republicans' leader there, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, is a powerful voice and influence, both of them highly conservative.

LAST WEDNESDAY Dirksen was in the forefront—although in this case Mansfield was by his side—in all but polishing off a liberal attempt to make it simpler to throttle a filibuster.

As the year goes on Dirksen will be the dominant conservative force in the Senate where a coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats could stymie a lot of Johnson programs.

But in the House that coalition has already been in operation. After viewing what the House did on its opening day, Jan. 10, a New York liberal Democrat, Rep. Emanuel Celler, said "what happened today is a forerunner of what you can expect in this Congress. The Republicans and Dixiecrats are going to kill all liberal legislation. They will be entirely reactionary."

ON THAT OPENING day the coalition deprived Powell of his seat, which he had held 22 years, until a special committee investigates his qualifications. This action did not specifically spell out the complaint against him.

But the argument related to two main questions: The finding of a House committee that he had many personal trips at taxpayers' expense; and a criminal contempt of court charge against him in New York after a verdict against him for defamation of character.

ON THE KEY VOTE 126 Democrats, almost all outside the South, and no Republicans were on his side. Against him were 119 Democrats, mostly from the South, and 186 Republicans, for a total of 305.

Then the coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats teamed up to abolish a rule requiring the House Rules Committee, often a bottleneck for liberal legislation, to report out a bill within a reasonable time.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Federal Red Tape Is Hearings' Target

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Due to get underway in the Senate is the most searching examination of the confusion, red tape, waste, bungling and incompetence in federal, state and local government since the penetrating studies by the noted Hoover Commission two decades ago.

Starting Jan. 31, leading state governors are scheduled to testify before the Senate Subcommittee on Intergovernmental Relations, headed by San. Edmund Muskie, D-Me. on the generally little-known but pressingly important "management crisis in government" and what should be done about it.

The following week, a number of prominent mayors and other local officials will present their complaints, views and recommendations. They will be followed by distinguished experts and specialists in the field of public administration.

HEARINGS WILL be concluded with the subcommittee visiting a number of states and cities "to learn first-hand," says Senator Muskie, "the problems of those on the firing line, and to find out how Congress and the federal establishment can help them without intruding on their local autonomy."

"Intergovernmental relations," explains Muskie, involve people — their health their homes, their jobs, their rights as citizens, and their security as free men. When governmental systems do not bring the full force of their resources to hear on urgent social and economic problems, it is the people who suffer and the nation that loses."

"The problems of American federalism are not the fault of any one agency, system or individual," says Muskie. "We are all involved — the voter, the elected official, the management administrator, even the judiciary. Riots, tension unmet needs, frustration and disillusionment are caused just as much by local attitudes as by indifferent and discriminatory policies of state agencies, or the effective administration of federal programs."

FOLLOWING A preliminary series of hearings last fall, at which cabinet members and other authorities testified, Senator Muskie held "there are three roads we must follow to solve our management crisis in government:"

1. "We must combine our federal programs, and stop the senseless proliferation which is confusing state and local administrators.

2. "We must reorganize our federal departments to concentrate fewer programs under fewer agencies."

3. "Where reorganization will not do the job, or combining programs is not achieved, we must develop an efficient method of coordination at the Washington level and in the field."

Muskie strongly favors setting up a "National Intergovernmental Affairs Council." In the last Congress the Senate passed this proposal, but the House didn't get around to considering it.

A STRONGER version of the measure will be introduced by Muskie in the near future and its enactment vigorously pushed.

As described by him, the proposed Intergovernmental Affairs Council would "sit at the right hand of the President" with the four-fold purpose of developing the policy of coordinating federal assistance, seeing that it is implemented, ironing out conflicts and contradictions and, most importantly, monitoring the effectiveness of this policy at state and local levels.

To Abide By Self-Imposed Rule, He Would Vote To Keep Powell

THUS A LETTER from a young Negro college student on a recent column: "Well, here you are again, with your racist justice, kicking a black man when he's down. I take it you'd like to be in Congress so you could vote to take Adam Clayton Powell's seat away and turn it over to an Uncle Tom."

For balm, I turn to a note from a colored lady who agreed with me on an older piece dealing with the excesses of CORE and SNCC: "Surely you don't believe the so-called Negro leadership speaks for us. What Mr. and Mrs. Average Negro American want are equal opportunities in jobs, education and voting rights. And when one of us steps out of line, we want him punished, too."

Which only proves—what I have long contended—that people are individuals and refuse to be herded into a monolith. The NAACP does not represent 20,000,000 Negroes, nor the Anti-Defamation League 10,000,000 Jews, nor the National Council of Churches 40,000,000 Protestants. When those organizations speak, they voice only the majority opinion of the handful that make up their executive boards. Even Mao, it now appears, doesn't speak for all of Red China.

BUT I WOULD remind the college student that this is the first time in 22 years that Adam Powell has been down. And that in all the previous times I have jabbed at him, Adam has been up—away up.

I think it's incontestable that the House was right in voting to strip Powell of the chairmanship of his important committee and barring him, pending further investigation of his conduct, from his seat. Not because of his private peccadilloes—which are outside my jurisdiction—but because they were apparently carried on at public expense. Thereupon they become every taxpayer's concern, and we are entitled to a public airing of the expense accounts involved.

NEVERTHELESS, I would vote to let him retain his seat. Certainly not because of the threats of Negro leaders all the way from A. Philip Randolph and Roy Wilkins down to the likes of Stokely Carmichael that to vote otherwise is to be marked for political extinction and could possibly bring on a third party, not to say—as some have—a Negro revolution. If America has fallen so low, it deserves oblivion, anyhow.

No, I would vote for the retention of Powell in his seat because it is crystal-clear that, whatever his derelictions, he remains the overwhelming choice of his constituency. And in a republic—so I believe—each section thereof is entitled to be represented by the man its electorate chooses. Whether he be rogue or saint, that verdict must be honored. Anything else is to open a Pandora's box that would allow a temporory majority to subvert the Constitution by denying an unpopular legislator his rightful seat.

IT IS FOR THAT same reason that, though I abhor the expressed views of Julian Bond, I welcome the decision that finally allows him to sit in the Georgia legislature. I wish his district hadn't voted for him—but it did, and that closes the argument in my book.

Georgia offers another instance where my heart bowed reluctantly to my philosophy. I was, it is no secret, a strong rooter for Bo Callaway in that state's gubernatorial race. Yet, because I believe firmly in State's Rights and resent the recent fiats by which the courts have unconstitutionally encroached on them, I found myself hoping that Georgia's laws would be respected and the election thrown into the legislature as provided by Georgia's statutes, even though I realized that would probably mean Bo's defeat.

PROVIDENTIALLY, I faced no such inner conflict in my own state. But had Communist Dorothy Healey, who polled an amazing 86,000 votes in last summer's Los Angeles County primary, won the office she sought, I fear I would have fought any attempt to unseat her. For you either abide by the rules or you don't make any.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By THERON NEWELL

Novato High's Office Test Is A Good Thing To Copy

Novato High School may be unique in one program which it has. In fact, this program is so good that it should be copied elsewhere. I don't mean only at other high schools and colleges, but in our city, county, state and federal governments.

Those wanting to run for office at Novato High School must pass a written test of 20 questions on student government before they can run. These are questions about the student government as set forth in the Constitution of the Associated Student Body at Novato High School. The students must have a passing grade of 70 per cent before he is allowed to take out his nomination papers.

ALTHOUGH THE test is true or false, the questions are varied enough to show whether the student is familiar with the office for which he is considering running.

Here are some of the questions:

The commissioner of justice is elected by the entire student body? Any officer on the executive council, except the president, may be a junior? The vice president is in charge of the representative assembly? The commissioner of student activities handles the sale of food at the football games? The class presidents are in charge of spirit week? The commissioner of internal affairs is in charge of this election.

SO ONE CAN readily see from this test that if the student did not know the constitution and how the offices are set up, he would not be allowed to run.

As far as we know, Novato is the only high school which makes prospective office seekers pass a written test.

Why shouldn't the same general theory apply to other office seekers? Why should someone run for a city council who has never attended a city council meeting and does not know what the functions of the council are?

Should a person run for any office in local, county, state or federal government who does not know how the government functions or what the functions of that office are?

WE HAVE SEEN far too many people run and get elected to an office who did not know what they were getting into. We even remember one case where someone ran for the office of county superintendent of schools and then refused to take the office he had run for and been elected to.

Many times we have seen people elected to office and by the time they had learned what their functions were, their term was half over. A simple test beforehand would show whether they knew enough about the office to know what the functions were of the job they were trying to get.

Think what a boon this would be to our democracy. The very threat of having to pass a written test on the job would make the serious office seeker bone up on the duties of the office. This alone might discourage some of the poorer candidates.

NOW, WHEN a person is elected to office, the public has no way of knowing whether that person has any knowledge of the job. Only during his first term in office can the public tell whether or not he is qualified. Even then, this can be hidden from the public in many ways.

A simple test on the basic functions and duties of an office would make the would-be office seeker know something about the job. A dog catcher's job is to catch stray animals? The president's job is to play golf in Palm Springs or fish off the Florida Keys?

Every office could have a basic test requirement before someone can run for it. It might improve the quality of politicians running for them.

School Leader's Reception Set

Welcome mat for John F. Plank, newly appointed superintendent of San Rafael City Schools, will be put out Sunday at a reception in San Rafael High School from 2 to 5 p.m.

Plank, former superintendent of Alford Unified School District in Riverside County, took up his new post today. He succeeds Bert C. Corona, who accepted a superintendency in Modesto. Asst. Supt. William C. Jordan has been acting superintendent in the interim.

Organizations represented at Sunday's reception will include San Rafael Parent - Teacher Assn., Marin County Federation of Teachers, San Rafael Teachers Assn., and California School Employees Assn.

Team Teaching On Board Agenda

The Larkspur School District board will hear reports on team teaching in district schools at 8 p.m. Thursday in the administration office.

The board will also hear a report on the district's participation in the county-sponsored neighborhood youth program. The board will discuss the use of $2,200 in federal funds received for purchase of library supplies.

SAVE $30.00 SET IN BRAVERMAN'S REPEAT SALE
TWIN HOLLYWOOD BEDS
Made by Famous Englander

We were fortunate in being able to get another shipment of these outstanding twin bed values. Last week the original order sold out in two days. Englander still had some overstock left, so we got another shipment. These will go just as fast.

HERE'S WHAT YOU GET:
- Englander Twin size Innerspring Mattress, deep quilted.
- Englander Box Spring.
- Twin Headboard in snowy white vinyl with brass button trim.
- Set of legs.

Limited Quantity, Twin Size Only

All For 69.95
Regular 99.95
$5.00 per month

An ideal bed for children's rooms, or spare bedrooms. Normally these would sell for 99.95 complete. At Braverman's special purchase price you pay only 69.95 for the mattress, box spring, headboard, and set of legs.

If you prefer to have a "steel bed frame" in place of legs, add only 8.95

Budget Terms
Convenient budget payments, up to two years. Or use Braverman's 30-60-90 Day 3-pay plan without interest.

You should know these FACTS about HOME BUYING in today's market.....

FINANCING A HOME NOW IS NOT IMPOSSIBLE!

Homes are being bought and sold every day. Don't be scared out of buying the home you need by the "tight money" talk you hear. It is not as easy to get a loan as it has been at some times in the past, but it is not impossible. Many good buys in existing homes are on the market now. So if you need a home, DON'T GIVE UP WITHOUT TRYING!

REMEMBER: Multiple Listing is the fastest way to find the home of your choice . . . Ask your Realtor.

NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY!

You should know these FACTS about HOME BUYING in today's market.....

FINANCING A HOME NOW IS NOT IMPOSSIBLE!

Homes are being bought and sold every day. Don't be scared out of buying the home you need by the "tight money" talk you hear. It is not as easy to get a loan as it has been at some times in the past, but it is not impossible. Many good buys in existing homes are on the market now. So if you need a home, DON'T GIVE UP WITHOUT TRYING!

REMEMBER: Multiple Listing is the fastest way to find the home of your choice . . . Ask your Realtor.

NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY!

Here's the closest-to-new 1966 Buick Skylark 4-dr. hardtop you'll ever find. Just over 6,000 miles on this little car that our used car manager has driven throughout 1966.

Astro Blue with blue full vinyl interior that you can't tell from a new car on our showroom floor. Fully equipped including power steering, V-8 engine, automatic, radio, heater, w/w tires, tinted glass, etc.

The new price on this car was $3607 but we've reduced the price down below average Blue Book price of $2715 to our price of $2650.

This car has never been registered and the purchaser will be the first owner of record. It carries a full 2-year or 24,000 mile new car General Motors guarantee.

ORDINANCE NO. 13
AN ORDINANCE DECLARING THE FURTHER MAINTENANCE OR USE OF CESSPOOLS, SEPTIC TANKS OR OTHER LOCAL MEANS OF SEWAGE DISPOSAL WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF THE BRET HARTE HEIGHTS SEWER ASSESSMENT DISTRICT TO BE A PUBLIC NUISANCE AND REQUIRING ALL INHABITED BUILDINGS THEREIN TO BE CONNECTED TO THE DISTRICT'S SEWERAGE SYSTEM

The Board of Directors of the San Rafael Sanitation District, County of Marin, do ordain as follows:

SECTION 1. The further maintenance or use of cesspools, septic tanks or other local means of sewage disposal within the boundaries of the Bret Harte Heights Sewer Assessment District is hereby declared to be a public nuisance.

SECTION 2. All buildings inhabited or used by human beings within the boundaries of said assessment district shall be connected to the district sewerage system, and appropriate connection fees paid not later than six (6) months from the date of the acceptance of the improvements within said assessment district by the Sanitation District.

Section 3. A violation of the provisions of this ordinance shall be a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of not to exceed One Hundred Dollars ($100.00), imprisonment not to exceed thirty (30) days, or both.

Section 4. This ordinance is to take effect and be in full force and effect at the expiration of thirty (30) days from and after its passage; and before the expiration of fifteen (15) days after the passage of the ordinance the same shall be published in a newspaper of general circulation published in the County of Marin, State of California.

The foregoing ordinance was passed and adopted at a regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the San Rafael Sanitation District held on the 19th day of January, 1967, by the following vote:

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS
(Advertisement)

1. NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Governing Board of the Marin Junior College District will receive bids for the furnishing of all labor, materials, transportation and services for construction of a Physical Education Storage Building comprising approximately 1,200 square feet in area, and the necessary appurtenant work, to be located at the College of Marin, Kentfield, Marin County, California.
2. Each bid to be in accordance with the plans and specifications now on file with FALK & BOOTH, 101 Howard Street, San Francisco, California 94105, where same may be examined and copies obtained.
3. Each bid shall be made on a form to be obtained at the office of FALK & BOOTH, and must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check or a bid bond for ten percent of the amount bid, made payable to the order of the Board of Trustees of the Marin Junior College District, and shall be sealed and filed with the Clerk of the Board on or before the 14th day of February, 1967, at 2:00 P.M. and will be opened in public at or about 2:00 P.M. of that day in Room 25, Harlan Hall, College of Marin, Kentfield, California.
4. The above-mentioned check or bond shall be given as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into a contract if awarded the work and will be retained as liquidated damages if the successful bidder refuses to enter into said contract after such award and after being requested to do so by the Board of Trustees of the Marin Junior College District.
5. The successful bidder will be required to furnish a labor and material bond in an amount equal to 50% of the contract price and a faithful performance bond in an amount equal to 100% of the contract price, said bonds to be secured from a surety company satisfactory to the Board of Trustees of the Marin Junior College District.
6. The general prevailing rate of per diem wages and rates for legal holidays and overtime work in the locality in which this work is to be performed for each craft or type of workman or mechanic needed to execute the contract, has been ascertained by the Governing Board of the Marin Junior College District to be as follows:

Class of Work	Wage Per Hr.	H&W	Pension	Vacation	Holiday	Appr. Tr.

* 8% withheld and sent to Vacation Fund.
 Employer contributes 1% of gross wages to National Employees Benefit Board, and $.10 per hour to local pension fund.
 $.43 per hour withheld and sent to Vacation Fund.

7. All labor to receive time and one-half for overtime, double time on holidays, unless otherwise specified.
8. All other trades not hereinabove mentioned to receive wage prescribed for that particular craft or type of workman.
9. The working day shall be eight (8) hours unless otherwise specified above. The per diem rate shall be the hourly rate multiplied by the number of hours in the working day.
10. All bidders must be contractors properly licensed to perform said work.
11. The Board of Trustees of the Marin Junior College District reserves the right to reject any and all bids and/or waive any irregularity in any bid received. Unless otherwise required by law, no bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of thirty (30) days after the date set for the opening thereof and the Board will act to accept or reject the successful bid within that period of time.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Intolerance To Fatty Food Can Be Just In The Imagination

VAN DELLEN

Some people have an idiosyncrasy to fat. Eating greasy fried potatoes, too much butter, or the visible fat on meat causes nausea. The individuals are otherwise normal.

Some intolerance to fried or fatty foods also is a symptom of gallbladder disease, possibly because these edibles stimulate the organ to contract and expel its bile. The ensuing indigestion may cause so much discomfort that the victim soon learns to avoid greasy edibles.

Dr. D. Taggart and B. P. Billington of New South Wales pulled a trick on 12 individuals who claimed that food, fried or baked in fat, caused severe dyspepsia. The symptoms included nausea, vomiting, belching, and abdominal soreness or pain.

THE INVESTIGATORS found that butter fat or oxidized beef drippings could be disguised if incorporated into American-type muffins. Each test meal consisted of three of these biscuits.

Dyspeptic symptoms developed only 8 per cent of the times when the disguised fats were consumed. The investigators concluded that dyspepsia after ingestion of fatty foods was not caused by the fat, but to prejudice about fat, or to domestic or personal disturbances at the time of eating.

THE ADAGE "Eat clams the year 'round and oysters only during the months containing an 'R' applies only to our Atlantic coast shellfish. In California, from mid-May to November, clams and mussels take up a neurotoxin from eating plankton (animal and plant life of a body of water) which in turn concentrates in their livers. This does no harm to the shellfish but the poison may be lethal to man.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.

LUNG DISTURBANCE

C. R. writes: What is the difference between emphysema and chronic fibrosis of the lungs?

REPLY

In emphysema, the bronchi are narrowed and the air sacs are overdistended. In pulmonary fibrosis the framework of the lung is scarred and thickened. Both disturbances frequently coexist making it difficult to tell whether the shortness of breath and cough are produced by one or both conditions.

ULCER DIET, WEIGHT

Mrs. H. A. writes: My husband's ulcer diet keeps him overweight. Should he try eating less?

REPLY

This problem confronts many ulcer patients and is difficult to overcome. Normal weight can be maintained by eating six smaller meals a day. He ought to try more skim milk and gelatin dishes and rely more upon antacids than on food to bring relief of discomfort.

GELATIN AND NAILS

L. K. A. writes: I have heard that eating gelatin helps to cure splitting and peeling fingernails. Do you think this procedure has any value?

REPLY

It has been reported that eating gelatin every day for four to six weeks may prove helpful. The results are not always satisfactory.

MUSCULAR RHEUMATISM

H. E. writes: Is myositis a new name for rheumatism?

REPLY

Not particularly. Rheumatism is a general term referring to distress in and about muscles, tendons, and joints. Myositis is more specific and refers to pain of muscular origin. In such instances the muscle tissue is swollen or inflamed.

THE BARE FACTS

J. S. writes: Is sleeping in the nude physiologically detrimental?

REPLY

No. Pajamas and nighties are recent innovations compared with the birthday suit.

PARATHYROIDS

M. N. E. writes: Where are the parathyroid glands and what do they do?

REPLY

These glands are small paired bodies attached to the back part of the thyroid gland in the neck. Their principal duty is to regulate calcium and phosphorus metabolism.

KNEE TROUBLE

I. H. writes: Why am I susceptible to water on the knee? This is the third time I have been bothered in several years.

REPLY

You are "susceptible" because you have a frayed knee cartilage, arthritis, or inflammation of bursa surrounding the joint.

JUMPY NERVES

R. H. writes: What causes jumping nerves under the skin all over the body?

REPLY

Irritability of this type generally stems from excessive use of stimulants or a nervous disorder.

ADENOIDS AND DEAFNESS

Mrs. W. writes: I have been advised to have my 7-year-old son's adenoids removed because of deafness. How could adenoids affect the ears?

REPLY

Removal of the adenoids because of deafness is useful only when adenoidal tissue has blocked the entrance to the eustachian tubes, the passageways that lead from the ears to the back of the threoat. When we descend in an elevator or a plane, we frequently hear a popping sound in these structures.

REPLY

The tumor usually is removed and incision closed. Barring complications, recovery takes one week.

DRINKING AND CANCER

B. I. writes: Could 30 years of heavy drinking cause cancer of the rectum?

Portable Rooms Soon To Solve Double Sessions

Doulbe sessions for two fourth grade classes at Mill Valley's Homestead School are expected to end Jan. 31, Asst. Supt. Leo B. Edson said today.

Two portable classrooms arrived Friday from Santa Rosa, he said, and should be completed by Monday.

Three portables at Park School were occupied last week, Edson noted, ending classes meeting in the basement, auditorium and teachers' room.

The portables replace classrooms declared unsafe under the state's earthquake resistance standards.

Novato Merchants Set Sign Meeting

The Novato Downtown Merchants Assn. will hold a special meeting on the proposed sign ordinance at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the city council chamber at the Novato Community House.

The Association has opposed portions of the proposed sign ordinance, urging that all existing signs be allowed to remain and that the merchants themselves have full control of signs placed in windows.

Jackie Studies Hong Kong Trip

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy is considering a trip to Hong Kong, with stops in Thailand and Cambodia, her New York office said yesterday.

Although plans are not specific, it was said that Mrs. Kennedy hoped to visit her half sister, Mrs. Lewis P. Rutherford, the former Janet Auchincloss, within two months. The Rutherfords were married in July at Newport, R.I. He is teaching in Hong Kong.

TV REVIEW

Specials On Presidents Announced

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The nation's last three presidents—Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson—are central figures in a trio of network television broadcasts currently planned for airing within the next several weeks.

On Feb. 12, according to NBC-TV, William Manchester, author of the controversial book "The Death of a President," about the late John F. Kennedy, will be interviewed in a special one-hour edition of "Meet the Press."

KENNEDY BOOK

NBC-TV notes that this will be Manchester's "first national television (and radio) interview program since the controversy arose over his book." The newsmen who will interview him will be announced later, says the network.

On Thursday, Peter Hurd, the artist who incurred President Johnson's displeasure with his portrait of the chief executive, is scheduled to discuss the matter in a conversation on NBC-TV's "Today" program.

Also on Thursday, ABC-TV will present an hour special in which former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, at his farm near Gettysburg, Pa., reminisces informally with journalist Alistair Cooke about the military brilliance of Winston Churchill in World War II.

IKE SPECIAL

The one-hour program is entitled "General Eisenhower on the Military Churchill," and ABC-TV has released in advance some recollections by the ex-president of the late British leader.

At one point, Eisenhower is quoted as recalling: "Churchill could be rather trenchant, if not a little sarcastic, in giving orders. But viewed today, they make us smile. To a chief marshal for air he cabled: 'I'm glad you have the matter, as you say, under examination. Pray report to me tomorrow what is going to be done.' And to a first sea lord he cabled in part: 'I have received your message. May I remind you that warships are meant to go under fire.'"

SOME QUOTES

The network also quotes Eisenhower as recalling: "Once Mr. Churchill said in a meeting: 'All I want is compliance with my wishes, after reasonable discussions.'"

And the following tale is also brought forth by the general, according to the network: "Did you ever hear the story of the Bismarck? The British Admiral told me the story himself. He wirlessed Churchill, 'The Bismarck is a wreck. The crew has left her but she won't sink. I've got just enough oil in my ship to get home.' The prime minister replied: 'You stay there until the Bismarck is on the bottom; and we'll send out and two you in.'"

Here's the closest-to-new 1966 Buick Skylark 4-dr. hardtop you'll ever find. Just over 6,000 miles on this little car that our used car manager has driven throughout 1966.

Astro Blue with blue full vinyl interior that you can't tell from a new car on our showroom floor. Fully equipped including power steering, V-8 engine, automatic, radio, heater, w/w tires, tinted glass, etc.

The new price on this car was $3607 but we've reduced the price down below average Blue Book price of $2715 to our price of $2650.

This car has never been registered and the purchaser will be the first owner of record. It carries a full 2-year or 24,000 mile new car General Motors guarantee.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS
(Advertisement)

1. NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Governing Board of the Marin Junior College District will receive bids for the furnishing of all labor, materials, transportation and services for construction of a Physical Education Storage Building comprising approximately 1,200 square feet in area, and the necessary appurtenant work, to be located at the College of Marin, Kentfield, Marin County, California.
2. Each bid to be in accordance with the plans and specifications now on file with FALK & BOOTH, 101 Howard Street, San Francisco, California 94105, where same may be examined and copies obtained.
3. Each bid shall be made on a form to be obtained at the office of FALK & BOOTH, and must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check or a bid bond for ten percent of the amount bid, made payable to the order of the Board of Trustees of the Marin Junior College District, and shall be sealed and filed with the Clerk of the Board on or before the 14th day of February, 1967, at 2:00 P.M. and will be opened in public at or about 2:00 P.M. of that day in Room 25, Harlan Hall, College of Marin, Kentfield, California.
4. The above-mentioned check or bond shall be given as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into a contract if awarded the work and will be retained as liquidated damages if the successful bidder refuses to enter into said contract after such award and after being requested to do so by the Board of Trustees of the Marin Junior College District.
5. The successful bidder will be required to furnish a labor and material bond in an amount equal to 50% of the contract price and a faithful performance bond in an amount equal to 100% of the contract price, said bonds to be secured from a surety company satisfactory to the Board of Trustees of the Marin Junior College District.
6. The general prevailing rate of per diem wages and rates for legal holidays and overtime work in the locality in which this work is to be performed for each craft or type of workman or mechanic needed to execute the contract, has been ascertained by the Governing Board of the Marin Junior College District to be as follows:

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Intolerance To Fatty Food Can Be Just In The Imagination

VAN DELLEN

Some people have an idiosyncrasy to fat. Eating greasy fried potatoes, too much butter, or the visible fat on meat causes nausea. The individuals are otherwise normal.

Some intolerance to fried or fatty foods also is a symptom of gallbladder disease, possibly because these edibles stimulate the organ to contract and expel its bile. The ensuing indigestion may cause so much discomfort that the victim soon learns to avoid greasy edibles.

Dr. D. Taggart and B. P. Billington of New South Wales pulled a trick on 12 individuals who claimed that food, fried or baked in fat, caused severe dyspepsia. The symptoms included nausea, vomiting, belching, and abdominal soreness or pain.

THE INVESTIGATORS found that butter fat or oxidized beef drippings could be disguised if incorporated into American-type muffins. Each test meal consisted of three of these biscuits.

Dyspeptic symptoms developed only 8 per cent of the times when the disguised fats were consumed. The investigators concluded that dyspepsia after ingestion of fatty foods was not caused by the fat, but to prejudice about fat, or to domestic or personal disturbances at the time of eating.

THE ADAGE "Eat clams the year 'round and oysters only during the months containing an 'R' applies only to our Atlantic coast shellfish. In California, from mid-May to November, clams and mussels take up a neurotoxin from eating plankton (animal and plant life of a body of water) which in turn concentrates in their livers. This does no harm to the shellfish but the poison may be lethal to man.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.

LUNG DISTURBANCE

C. R. writes: What is the difference between emphysema and chronic fibrosis of the lungs?

REPLY

In emphysema, the bronchi are narrowed and the air sacs are overdistended. In pulmonary fibrosis the framework of the lung is scarred and thickened. Both disturbances frequently coexist making it difficult to tell whether the shortness of breath and cough are produced by one or both conditions.

ULCER DIET, WEIGHT

Mrs. H. A. writes: My husband's ulcer diet keeps him overweight. Should he try eating less?

REPLY

This problem confronts many ulcer patients and is difficult to overcome. Normal weight can be maintained by eating six smaller meals a day. He ought to try more skim milk and gelatin dishes and rely more upon antacids than on food to bring relief of discomfort.

GELATIN AND NAILS

L. K. A. writes: I have heard that eating gelatin helps to cure splitting and peeling fingernails. Do you think this procedure has any value?

REPLY

It has been reported that eating gelatin every day for four to six weeks may prove helpful. The results are not always satisfactory.

MUSCULAR RHEUMATISM

H. E. writes: Is myositis a new name for rheumatism?

REPLY

Not particularly. Rheumatism is a general term referring to distress in and about muscles, tendons, and joints. Myositis is more specific and refers to pain of muscular origin. In such instances the muscle tissue is swollen or inflamed.

THE BARE FACTS

J. S. writes: Is sleeping in the nude physiologically detrimental?

REPLY

No. Pajamas and nighties are recent innovations compared with the birthday suit.

PARATHYROIDS

M. N. E. writes: Where are the parathyroid glands and what do they do?

REPLY

These glands are small paired bodies attached to the back part of the thyroid gland in the neck. Their principal duty is to regulate calcium and phosphorus metabolism.

KNEE TROUBLE

I. H. writes: Why am I susceptible to water on the knee? This is the third time I have been bothered in several years.

REPLY

You are "susceptible" because you have a frayed knee cartilage, arthritis, or inflammation of bursa surrounding the joint.

JUMPY NERVES

R. H. writes: What causes jumping nerves under the skin all over the body?

REPLY

Irritability of this type generally stems from excessive use of stimulants or a nervous disorder.

ADENOIDS AND DEAFNESS

Mrs. W. writes: I have been advised to have my 7-year-old son's adenoids removed because of deafness. How could adenoids affect the ears?

REPLY

Removal of the adenoids because of deafness is useful only when adenoidal tissue has blocked the entrance to the eustachian tubes, the passageways that lead from the ears to the back of the throat. When we descend in an elevator or a plane, we frequently hear a popping sound in these structures.

REPLY

The tumor usually is removed and incision closed. Barring complications, recovery takes one week.

DRINKING AND CANCER

B. I. writes: Could 30 years of heavy drinking cause cancer of the rectum?

Crosby Golf Story: Nicklaus Sizzles, Palmer Flops

By JACK STEVENSON

PEBBLE BEACH (AP)—Jack Nicklaus, flashing home on a string of birdies while Arnold Palmer collapsed, has added the Bing Crosby Golf Tournament championship to his ever growing list of titles.

"I've wanted to win this tournament ever since I turned pro, and everything I did happened to come out right this time," Nicklaus said. He now heads for the Los Angeles Open starting Thursday.

With five birdies on the final seven holes despite a cold, biting wind over the tough Pebble Beach course, Nicklaus scored a 31 over the last nine holes. He passed Palmer and Bill Casper and won with a 72-hole score of 284, four under par, on a final round 68.

Head and head all three battled the final day. Three times they were in a three-way tie for the lead and the situation changed on 14 of the 18 holes. Palmer bombed himself out with two shots out of bounds and a 9 on No. 14.

First Casper led, then Palmer and finally on the 13th hole, Nicklaus dropped the second of three straight birds to go into a lead he kept to win the $16,000 top prize in the $104,500 tournament. Casper collected $9,600 for 74 — 289 and Palmer $6,000 for 75-291.

Big Jack won the 1961 National Amateur title at Pebble Beach and since turning pro has won the U.S. Open, PGA and last year became the first to post consecutive victories in the Masters.

"I've started this year shooting better golf earlier because I played more late fall tournaments," Nicklaus explained. He has won four of the last five events he has played — the Sahara, the Canada Cup and the PGA team championships, both paired with Palmer, and now the Crosby.

The final round in the storm-delayed Crosby Tournament matched the three men who led the 1966 money lists — U.S. Open champion Casper at $121,944, Nicklaus at $111,419 and Palmer at $110,467.

Casper held a stroke lead at the start. At the end of nine holes he had a 37, Palmer had a 36 to tie him and Nicklaus stood just one stroke back with a 37.

At the 10th hole, Palmer and Nicklaus shot par. Casper went into a trap and Arnie took the lead by a stroke.

Casper pulled even with Palmer at the 11th by dropping a 12-foot birdie putt. Nicklaus remained one stroke back. Then as the winds whipped, his rally started in an unusual manner.

Nicklaus' tee shot on the 205-yard 12th went six feet past the green, and 25 feet from the hole.

"I took a putter and just tapped it, and the ball went into the hole," Nicklaus related, still a little amazed at that stroke of fate.

Casper, playing with Jack,hit into the woods and went over par, losing two strokes to Nicklaus.

"The 12th was the turning point of it all," the winner reflected.

Actually the 14th had as important an impact. Palmer, just one stroke behind at that point, hit consecutive fairway woods out of bounds, the second by only a yard, and carded the 9.

At 13, Nicklaus was carding a birdie with a four-foot putt. At ing with his brother Frank for 14, he dropped from three feet, then at 16 curled in a 55-footer and added his fifth bird with a 17-foot putt on 17.

Remembering he shot a 9 on the 18th a year ago, Nicklaus used a No. 1 iron off the tee on the 540-yard hole and collected a par and the first prize check.

"Even with those three straight double bogeys at Cypress Point in the second round, I played well all the way," he said. The wind that day was whipping up a gale.

Mike Souchak, who didn't qualify for individual pro competition in the final round because of a 228, one above the cut-off, collected $2,700 by team-the best-ball title with a 29-under-par 259.

Deadlocked at 293 and collecting $3,493 each for fourth were Bob Rosburg and Jack Burke Jr., with 74s, and Bill Parker with 76.

Joe Carr, who led the first round with a 68, one stroke ahead of Nicklaus, finished with an 80—307 and no money.

Sportsdom's First Double Dive: Who Will Get Lew-Lew Alcindor?

DOUBLE DIVE—Can you imagine a 1-0 or 2-1 professional basketball final score?

Of course you can't. But here is a hypothetical situation that could produce such a preposterous result:

It is the final day of the 1969-70 National Basketball Assn. season. San Francisco and Chicago, tied for last place, meet at Civic Auditorium with the winner escaping the cellar and the loser finishing dead last.

Well, the way the professional player drafts are set up, the team that finishes with the worst record gets first draft choice.

Now, with Lew Alcindor graduating from UCLA in June of 1970, do you think San Francisco and Chicago would try very hard to win this hypothetical final game?

IT COULD produce sportsdom's first double dive. I can picture such stars as Rick Barry and Nate Thurmond missing all their shots, intentionally fouling the opposition and doing all sorts of things to lose the game.

Coach Bill Sharman may have fits over his team's sudden inaccuracy, but I imagine Warrior owner Franklin Mieuli would love it.

Alcindor figures to be the biggest professional basketball attraction since Wilt Chamberlain's arrival and a last place finish in the 1969-70 NBA season could prove to be a financial boom for some franchise.

ANOTHER THOUGHT: It's a good thing the NBA outlawed its territorial draft rights system, else by 1970 11 franchises would be trying desperately to transfer into the Los Angeles territory.

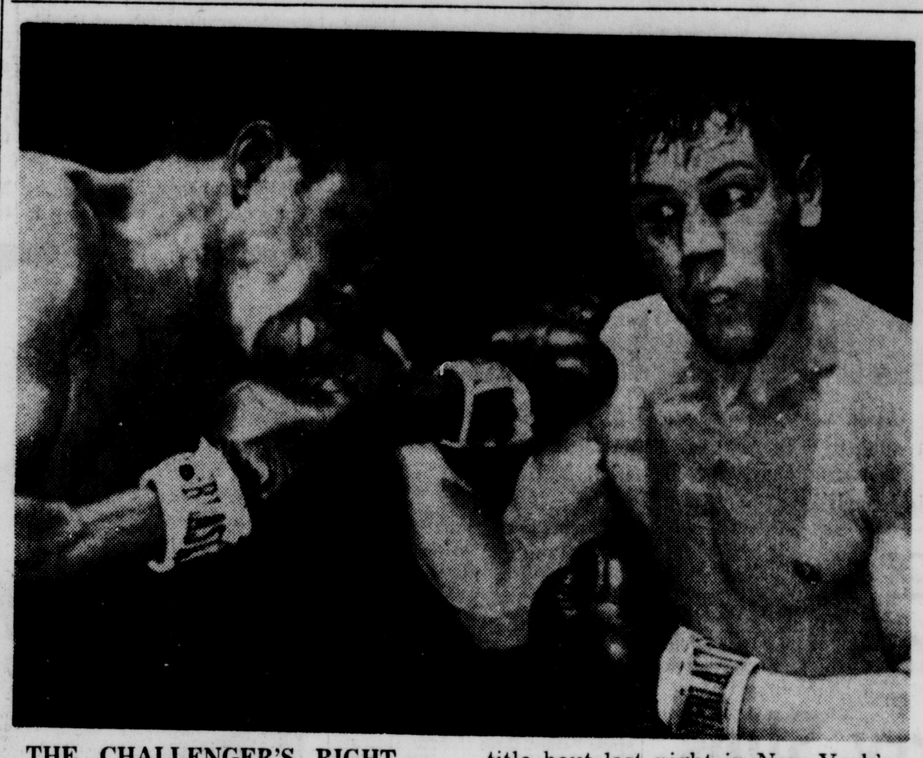

LOCAL BOY—Paul Valenti, one of Tamalpais High's most illustrious grads, was named Oregon's "Man of the Year" last night at a banquet sponsored by the Oregon Sportswriters and Sportscasters.

Valenti, former teammate and pal of Drake High principal Harold Allison at Tam in the late 1930s, coached Oregon State to the Pacific-Eight basketball title last season.

QUIPPING POST—Catcher Tom Haller, asked by disc jockey Carter B. Smith what the Giants do to get their batting eyes in shape during spring training, deadpanned: "Well, we eat a lot of carrots . . ."

Haller, incidentally, was the only sports celeb to show up for last night's Marin Cancer Society fund-raising dinner at Sabella's of Marin. Warrior Nate Thurmond and 49ers Kermit Alexander and Alvin Randolph were no-shows for various, sundry and Monday reasons.

THE PROMOTERS—College of Marin cage coach Cal Riemcke has invited all boys in the Terra Linda Recreation Basketball League to attend the Marin-Lassen college game at Kentfield Saturday night, free of charge.

ON TARGET AND OFF — Griffith lands a sharp left to the head of Archer in the first round of their championship bout, but Archer's counter to Griffith's midsection is off the mark. (AP Wirephotos)

Griffith May Meet Italy Champ Next

NEW YORK (AP) — Middleweight champion Emile Griffith apparently has ended his series with Joey Archer on a second straight close decision and now it may be the turn of Italy's Nino Benvenuti.

After the 28-year-old Griffith had scraped out his narrow but unanimous 15-round decision at Madison Square Garden last night matchmaker Teddy Brenner said that Benvenuti, the European 160-pound champion had agreed to terms for a March 22 title fight at the Garden.

"If the price is right, Emile will be ready," said Gil Clancy, Griffith's trainer and co-manager. "Emile is a fighting champion. He ducks nobody."

Benvenuti, the former world junior middleweight king and beaten only once in his career, was an interested spectator of the return Griffith-Archer fight.

"I wasn't impressed," the handsome, 28-year-old Italian said. "I think I can beat both of them. I just hope I can get the chance with Griffith."

Garden officials will talk to the managers this afternoon.

Griffith received $75,000 and Archer about $25,000 o nhis 15 per cent of the gross gate of $127,119 paid by 14,838 customers and the television receipts.

NO KNOCKDOWNS

As in the first fight last July 13, there were no knockdowns. Griffith came close to scoring one in the second round when he clipped Archer with a short right to the jaw and the challenger's right knee dipped to the canvas. Referee Art Mercante didn't count, thus ruling it was not a knockdown.

Griffith claimed it was a knockdown but Archer said, "I slipped. I came right back at him if you remember."

It was in that same second round that Archer suffered a deep, purplish bruise under his right eye. Good corner work kept it from breaking open.

Outside of the second, the big round was the eighth, won by Griffith as he kept the pressure on for the full three minutes. The champ opened up with left jabs followed by left hooks to the head and body and solid rights to the head.

"I was not at my best but I thought I won clearly," said Griffith. "The more pressure I put on him the more he ran."

"I thought I won it decisively," said Archer, who relied on his snapping left jabs, occasional rights, and dancing feet."I thought I won at least nine rounds. I don't know what I've got to do to win a decision in the Garden. That's three now, one with Joe Gonzalez and two with Griffith."

SCORE CARDS

Referee Art Mercante and 6-1 in rounds for Griffith. Judge Joe Eppy had Griffith ahead, 8-7. The Associated Press had Griffith ahead on one card, 7-6-2, and Archer the winner on a second writer's card, 8-6-1.

A ringside poll showed a big edge for Griffith, 21-8-1, but most of the writers had the scoring very close. It was that kind of a fight.

Most of the rounds were close, too.

Because of their contrasting styles, they could probably fight 100 times with the same outcome, close but no trophies for Archer.

In their first fight on July 13, Griffith won by majority decision. The judges had him the winner, 9-5-1 and 8-7 while the referee, Johnny LoBianco, had it even 7-7-1.

Archer was a 13-10 favorite the first time but last night the odds favored Griffith by 8-5. The odds shot up from even money before the weighin when Archer weighed 161¼ pounds — 1¼ pounds over the 160-pound division limit. He took steam baths and a haircut in the next two hours to make 160 on the nose. Griffith weighted 152.

Redbirds In Good Shape, Says Stan

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Stan Musial, who is the third general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals in four years, feels the National League club is in good shape for the 1967 baseball campaign.

The 46-year-old Musial, who played 22 years with the Cardinals, became general manager yesterday, succeeding Robert Howsam, who resigned Sunday to accept a similar post with the Cincinnati Reds.

Howsam replaced Bing Devine as general manager during the 1964 season.

"We have a good, well balanced ball club," Musial said after his selection was announced. "We plan no major player changes or trades at this time," he added.

Musial, who will hold the titles of general manager and vice president, became the ball club's No. 1 administrative official less than a month before the first Cardinals report to spring training in St. Petersburg, Fla.

With only 15 players on the 40-man roster signed, Musial's first job will be to get the players to agree to 1967 terms.

Among those still to be signed is Roger Maris, who hit 61 homers for the New York Yankees in 1961. Maris came to the Cardinals in a winter trade that sent third baseman Charlie Smith to the Yanks.

UNSIGNED PLAYERS

Musial said he planned to talk with Howsam about Maris and other players still unsigned.

"We have a good nucleus of veterans and young players, especially pitchers," Musial said. "Getting Roger Maris should help our attack. Our big question is third base and it would be great if outfielder Mike Shannon can do the job there."

Musial, in becoming general manager of the Cardinals, also will be the boss of his former roommate, Red Schoendienst, the club's field manager.

August A. Busch Jr., president of the Cardinals, noted the close relationship between Musial and Schoendienst, and said, "It is only fair to say that both Stan and Red fully understand that record — not personal friendship — will be the judge of the future."

Musial, who retired as an active player in 1963, took over as general manager of the Cardinals 25 years after he reported to the club as a rookie for the 1942 season. He appeared briefly at the tailend of the 1941 season with the Cardinals.

During his playing career, Musial collected over 3,000 hits, had a lifetime batting average of .331 and hit 475 home runs. He set 16 major league records during his career.

Warriors' Guards Hurting

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The San Francisco Warriors will be hard-pressed to get a pair of guards on the court tonight when they host lowly Baltimore. at Civic Auditorium, 8:30 o'clock.

It was announced yesterday that peppery Jimmy King will be sidelined for two weeks because of internal bleeding in his thigh.

Paul Neumann is still shakey after a flu bout and Al Attles has a tendon pull. The only healthy backcourt men are Jeff Mullins, rookie Joe Ellis and recently reactivated Bob Warlick.

Players from both Los Angeles and St. Louis have been quoted as saying they have just about conceded the Warriors first place in the Western Division and hope to beat them in the playoffs.

But San Francisco coach Bill Sharman insists the team must still go some to take the Western Division. He points out San Francisco plays 15 of its remaining 32 games against the top three teams in the Eastern Division. The Warriors are 4-8 against these teams so far this season.

Wilt Stopped, But 76ers Roll Along

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wilt Chamberlain finally missed, but the Philadelphia 76ers scored another hit in the victory column.

The 76ers collected the last eight points of the game last night for a 112-105 National Basketball Association victory over the St. Louis Hawks at Memphis, Tenn.

The triumph, in the only league action of the night, gave the Eastern Division leading 76ers a 46-4 record.

With 5:54 remaining in the second quarter, Chamberlain drove in for a reverse lay-up, but the ball rolled off the rim, snapping his string of field goals made at 32. He entered the game with a streak of 28 and dunked his first four against the Hawks. The old record was 19, by Chamberlain.

St. Louis rallied from a 12-point deficit in the last quarter to tie the score at 100-100 with 3:42 remaining.

Then with a minute left and the Hawks leading 105-104, Chet Walker put the 76ers ahead 106-105 with a basket. Walker then came through with two foul shots, and Chamberlain added a pair and Billy Cunningham put in a lay-up.

Chamberlain, who made nine of 12 shots from field, topped Philadelphia scorers with 22 points. Hal Greer got 19 and Cunningham 17. Joe Caldwell scored 22, Bill Bridges 20 and Len Wilkens 18 for St. Louis.

Unanimous Vote For UCLA In National Cage Rating

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

It looks as though nothing will stop UCLA's torrid basketball team except, maybe, some cold weather.

The top-ranked Bruins make their first appearance of the season away from the West Coast this weekend when they meet Illinois Friday and Lyola of Illinois Saturday, both games in Chicago Stadium.

Illinois has won eight games and lost four while Loyola is 7-6. Each figures to provide stronger resistance than the Bruins' opponents of last week, Portland and the University of California at Santa Barbara. UCLA trampled Portland 122-57 and UC at Santa Barbara 119-75.

The Bruins are unanimous choices for first place in The Associated Press' major college poll for the second straight week today. They collected all 39 votes for the top position in the balloting by a national panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

North Carolina advanced to second place while Houston held the No. 3 spot and Louisville slipped two notches to fourth. Princeton held fifth place.

North Carolina, Houston and Princeton were not scheduled last week. Louisville dropped its second game of the year, 59-58 to Cincinnati, after scoring its 15th victory, 66-50 over Dayton.

Texas Western, Kansas, Western Kentucky, Vanderbilt and Providence round out the first 10.

Western Kentucky and Vanderbilt are the new teams in the rankings. They replaced Florida and New Mexico, eighth and ninth, respectively, a week ago.

The top 10, with first place votes in parentheses, season records through Saturday, Jan. 21 and total points on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 bases:

1. UCLA (39)	14-0	390
2. North Carolina	12-1	279
3. Houston	14-1	269
4. Louisville	15-2	255

6. Texas Western	12-2	206
7. Kansas	12-3	93
8. Western Kentucky	14-1	70
9. Vanderbilt	13-2	67
10. Providence	11-3	50

Others receiving votes, listed alphabetically: Boston College, Bradley, Brigham Young, Cincinnati, Cornell, Dayton, Florida, Iowa, Mississippi State, New Mexico, Northwestern, St. John's, N.Y., St. Peter's, N.J., Syracuse, Tennessee, Toledo, Tulsa, University of the Pacific, Utah State, Yale.

Valentine, Kosak Win Yacht Races

A SECRET PUNCH?

Terrell To Work Out Behind Locked Doors

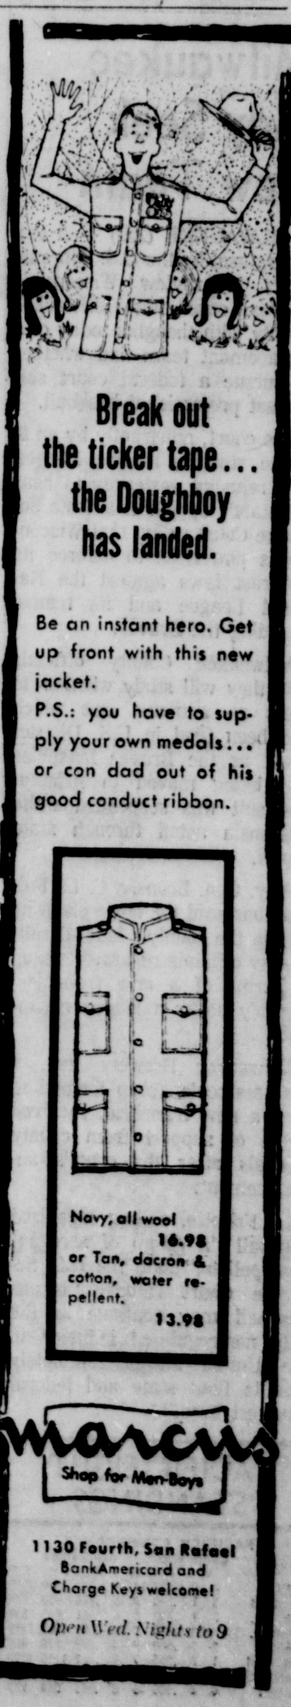

HOUSTON (AP) — Ernie Terrell, the World Boxing Assn.'s designated heavyweight champion, headed behind closed doors today to perfect a classified punch for use on Cassius Clay, a consensus champion, in the Astrodome Feb. 6.

Sam Solomon, Terrell's manager, said his man's training sessions in Astrohall will be closed to everyone from now on, including the news people and lingering members of the paid audience for Clay's sessions in the same gym.

"On Sunday, one of the Clay men shot motion pictures of Terrell boxing," Solomon said. "This is something that usually isn't permitted in fight camps. That is why we have decided on a closed workout."

Terrell has been favoring his left in the open workouts, Solomon said yesterday. "They say that Ernie's right hand is weak. I hope Clay's people keep thinking that way."

A standing-room crowd of some 1,300 watched Clay spar five rounds yesterday. Terrell took yesterday off and tomorrow is Clay's day of rest.

Jackie Studies Hong Kong Trip

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy is considering a trip to Hong Kong, with stops in Thailand and Cambodia, her New York office said yesterday.

Although plans are not specific, it was said that Mrs. Kennedy hoped to visit her half sister, Mrs. Lewis P. Rutherford, the former Janet Auchincloss, within two months. The Rutherfords were married in July at Newport, R.I. He is teaching in Hong Kong.

TV REVIEW

Specials On Presidents Announced

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The nation's last three presidents—Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson—are central figures in a trio of network television broadcasts currently planned for airing within the next several weeks.

On Feb. 12, according to NBC-TV, William Manchester, author of the controversial book "The Death of a President," about the late John F. Kennedy, will be interviewed in a special one-hour edition of "Meet the Press."

KENNEDY BOOK

NBC-TV notes that this will be Manchester's "first national television (and radio) interview program since the controversy arose over his book." The newsmen who will interview him will be announced later, says the network.

On Thursday, Peter Hurd, the artist who incurred President Johnson's displeasure with his portrait of the chief executive, is scheduled to discuss the matter in a conversation on NBC-TV's "Today" program.

Also on Thursday, ABC-TV will present an hour special in which former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, at his farm near Gettysburg, Pa., reminisces informally with journalist Alistair Cooke about the military brilliance of Winston Churchill in World War II.

IKE SPECIAL

The one-hour program is entitled "General Eisenhower on the Military Churchill," and ABC-TV has released in advance some recollections by the ex-president of the late British leader.

At one point, Eisenhower is quoted as recalling: "Churchill could be rather trenchant, if not a little sarcastic, in giving orders. But viewed today, they make us smile. To a chief marshal for air he cabled: 'I'm glad you have the matter, as you say, under examination. Pray report to me tomorrow what is going to be done.' And to a first sea lord he cabled in part: 'I have received your message. May I remind you that warships are meant to go under fire.'"

SOME QUOTES

The network also quotes Eisenhower as recalling: "Once Mr. Churchill said in a meeting: 'All I want is compliance with my wishes, after reasonable discussions.'"

And the following tale is also brought forth by the general, according to the network: "Did you ever hear the story of the Bismarck? The British Admiral told me the story himself. He wirlessed Churchill, 'The Bismarck is a wreck. The crew has left her but she won't sink. I've got just enough oil in my ship to get home.' The prime minister replied: 'You stay there until the Bismarck is on the bottom; and we'll send out and two you in.'"

Portable Rooms Soon To Solve Double Sessions

Doulbe sessions for two fourth grade classes at Mill Valley's Homestead School are expected to end Jan. 31, Asst. Supt. Leo B. Edson said today.

Two portable classrooms arrived Friday from Santa Rosa, he said, and should be completed by Monday.

Three portables at Park School were occupied last week, Edson noted, ending classes meeting in the basement, auditorium and teachers' room.

The portables replace classrooms declared unsafe under the state's earthquake resistance standards.

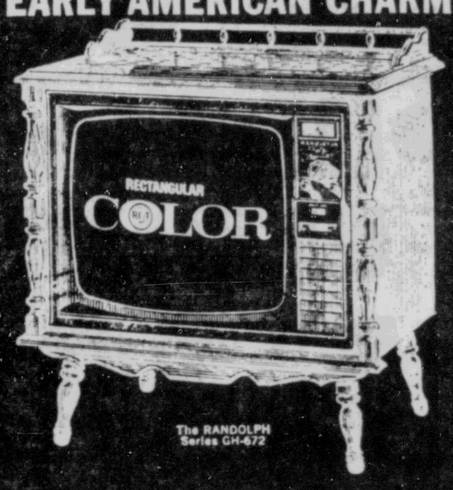

Novato Merchants Set Sign Meeting

The Novato Downtown Merchants Assn. will hold a special meeting on the proposed sign ordinance at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the city council chamber at the Novato Community House.

The Association has opposed portions of the proposed sign ordinance, urging that all existing signs be allowed to remain and that the merchants themselves have full control of signs placed in windows.

The Art Of Vaulting: A Glass Menagerie

If a field of selling platers, none of which had ever run a mile under a week before, suddenly began snapping clocks at 1:30 and a fraction, track stewards would begin frisking the jockeys for hand buzzers, or the trainers for dripping syringes.

If a field of pros who had been having trouble making the cut at major golf tournaments suddenly began carding 59's, the PGA would send out spies to see if they had been playing all the holes, teeing it up in the rough, or whether they had learned a new stroke-saving shot with a pencil.

PROGRESS COMES an inch at a time, a fraction of a second every decade. "Barriers" in sports don't collapse; they crumble slowly, like old cookies. When Ruth hit his 60 homers, he had already hit 59 one year. Bannister had only 2 seconds to make up to break the 4-minute "barrier."

The point is, you don't break the 60-homer "barrier" with 75. A guy gets a hot hand (and an 8-game longer season) and he breaks it by one. The 7-foot high jump barrier was not broken by a 9-foot leap.

WHICH IS WHY the sports world was dismayed in the past six years when the pole vault "barrier" has gone from 15 to 18 feet. Only one of two conclusions could be reached: either gravity wasn't working or the judges' yardsticks. Since airplanes continue to land, and 12 inches continue to equal a foot, the list of suspects soon narrowed down to one—the pole. Glass—one of the oldest substances known to man—has been added to it. And shortly feet were added to the record.

MORALITY NOW became the issue, as it usually does. The sport had now become no longer pole-vaulting but a form of soaring. It was all started by a vaulter whose all-time best had been 14 feeta 6 inches. His form was a ghastly, chicken-stepping, crooked run down the asphalt. His pole vault looked like a guy trying to poke a ferret out from under a porch with a broom. He tried a fiber glass pole—and then, only one day after he couldn't make 14 with an aluminum one, he was catapulting so high in the air he was coming down with snow in his hair.

THE BIGGEST scream came from the resident champion of the art form, Don Bragg, who had hoped to parlay an Olympic championship into a career as Tarzan of the Apes, an ignoble ambition which was now disappearing as fast as the aluminum pole. "You might as well fire a guy out of a cannon," protested Don. But pretty soon, Bragg was without a post. Bragg never could get the hang of glass vaulting because, with his vault, he might just as well have tried straw. He broke more glass than the San Francisco earthquake.

When the Russians sanctioned the glass pole, it meant two things: They have plenty of glass in Russia; it was not one of their critical shortages like barbers and scissors, and glass was IN. Without Russia, international amateur athletics is like the American Football League. Nice. But second rate.

SINCE THAT time, performance in the pole vault has been so uneven that you would almost advocate a sobriety test every other event. A man who vaulted 17 feet one night couldn't make 16 the next. Clearly, the pole was innconsistent. It was the only event in track and field in which technology outweighed pathology. It was the pole that needed the pep talk, the rubdown, the whirlpool bath.

As the heights got higher and higher, the landing pit needed changes; someone suggested landing lights. After all, people can get killed falling from 20 feet.

BOB SEAGREN, who is one of five vaulters who has topped 17 feet in the glass menagerie, is one who thinks man can go as high as he dares fall. For one thing, a whole generation of vaulters are coming along who will never have gone over a cross-bar on anything but a glass pole. Bob is almost the last of the generation who learned on bamboo poles, and who considered the family clothesline a good start. "They will be going over the telephone wires if they can get a good runway and pole plan now," he predicts.

As usual, the physics outweigh the metaphysics in the case. But you would have to admit that the vaulter of this generation and those of six years ago are—and will remain—poles apart.

Milwaukee May Seek New Team

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A second refusal by the U.S. Supreme Court to review Wisconsin's Braves case left Milwaukee County with thoughts today of a replacement team and whether to pursue a federal court suit against professional baseball.

The court, apparently by an 8-0 vote, stuck by its Dec. 12 decision refusing yesterday to hear the state's appeal of a State Supreme Court ruling that Wisconsin is powerless to enforce its antitrust laws against the National League and its teams, including the Braves.

Milwaukee County officials said they will study whether to press an antitrust suit which had been filed in U.S. District Court as the Braves franchise was being moved to Atlanta. The suit was suspended while Wisconsin acted through state courts.

Atty. Gen. Bronson C. La Follette has said the state plans no role in the county's federal suit. County officials resumed talking in terms of a new franchise, possibly under a league expansion.

Milwaukee Brewers Inc., a businessmen's group formed to seek a new franchise, received offers of support from county officials after the court's announcement.

La Follette, calling organized baseball "a group of arrogant monopolists," said the U.S. Supreme Court refusal "means baseball may continue as the only non-regulated industry in the United States completely free to flout state and federal antitrust laws."

Funeral For Race Driver Billy Foster

VICTORIA, B.C. (AP) — Funeral service will be held tomorrow for race car driver Billy Foster, 29, killed Friday in a practice run for Sunday's 500-mile stock car race.

Foster, only Canadian to qualify and run in the Indianapolis 500, died when his car struck a retaining wall at the Riverside, Calif., track.

He had competed for 18 months on the U.S. Auto Club's championship trail for Indianapolis-type cars and also run the USAC stock car circuit.

Foster, who began racing cars on a dirt track here 12 years ago, was named the USAC Rookie-of-the-Year in its late model stock car division in 1965.

The $85,000 Riverside race, for which he qualified Thursday, was halted Sunday by a rainstorm after only 135 miles had been completed. Stewards said it will be finished next Sunday.

Foster was the second British Columbia race driver to be killed in less than a year. Bob McLean of Vancouver died in a sports car race last March at Sebring, Fla., when his car slid off a hairpin turn and burst into flames.

GO AWAY, BIRDIE—Billy Casper seems to be waving off a seagull while trying for a birdie of his own on the seventh hole at Pebble Beach during the Bing Crosby Golf Tournament. The seagull went away but so did Casper's birdie. (AP Wirephoto)

NICKLAUS WON IT FOR BAG TOTER GONZALVES

By GORDON SAKAMOTO

PEBBLE BEACH (UPI) — Behind every champion there's usually an unnoticed worker who quietly goes about making the winner's job easier. As far as Jack Nicklaus is concerned, that man is Dede Gonzalves, a golf caddy.

Who's Dede Gonzalves? Ask Nicklaus, the 1967 Bing Crosby National pro-am winner, and he'll tell you Dede is the unsung hero of Pebble Beach.

Nicklaus, who won the rain-delayed tournament yesterday, thinks so much of the stumpy, 63-year-old caddy that he said he won it for Gonzalves.

Gonzalves has served as Nicklaus's only caddy—a too often taken-for-granted job—at Pebble Beach since the pro from Columbus, Ohio, won the National Amateur championship in 1961.

For Nicklaus, Gonzalves has meant a world of steady, constructive advice.

"Dede's always been kidding me about when I was going to finally win this tournament, so this year I came here determined to win for him," Nicklaus said after he had collected the $16,000 prize money with a 284 total.

"He knows this course like the palm of his hand and there isn't a thing I'd do here without consulting him. That's how much faith I have in the man," Nicklaus said.

Gonzalves should know the course well. He estimated that as both a caddy and player, he has toured the picturesque, 6,747-yard course at least 10,000 times in the last 40 years.

Gonzalves, who was born in Monterey, served four years in the Army and after his discharge worked as a seasonal employee in a nearby cannery.

His love for the game developed between cannery seasons when he became a frequent visitor to the course and in 1927 decided to become a full-time caddy.

His first winner dates back to 1929 when he worked for Jimmy Johnson, who won the National Amateur. Thirty-two years later, Gonzalves caddied for a youngster he considered an outstanding prospect, Nicklaus.

"I thought he would be the greatest golfer in the world then. Look at him now," Gonzalves said as he toured the course with the two-time Masters Champion in yesterday's windup round in the Crosby.

"He had an excellent all-game—maybe a little weak in putting but not much—was young and even then had an excellent temperment. In my book, he's the greatest."

Dede may not know it but the feeling is mutual.

A SERIOUS CHAMPION — Jack Nicklaus and his wife Barbara provide a serious study of quiet victory after Nicklaus stormed back on the last nine holes to overhaul Arnold Palmer and Billy Casper and win the Bing Crosby Golf Tournament by five strokes yesterday. (AP Wirephoto)

NBA SCORING RACE

Baylor And West Gain, Barry Slips

NEW YORK (AP) — Elgin Baylor and Jerry West of the Los Angeles Lakers scored a total of 225 points last week, but the Lakers didn't take advantage of the production — losing all four games they played.

Baylor scored 115 to boost his total to 1,083, good for fifth place in the National Basketball Assn. scoring race, and West threw in 110 for a total of 1,161, good for fourth place, according to league statistics released today.

San Francisco's Rick Barry tailed off somewhat but still is comfortably in first place with 1,669 points for a 36.3 average.

Oscar Robertson, in second place, raised his average to over 30 points a game — 30.2, by scoring 107 points for 1,268.

Wilt Chamberlain, third in scoring with 1,172 points, continues to lead in field goal percentage, 693, and rebounds, 1,193, and is third in assists, 355.

Adrian Smith of Cincinnati leads in free throw percentage with .895, and Guy Rodgers of Chicago leads in assists with 629.

Oregon Family Shuffle Elevates Cas And Frei

EUGENE, Ore. (UPI) — Oregon today had a new football coach to go with a new 40,000-seat stadium and he promised to try to restore "exciting football" to the Webfoots.

Jerry Frei, a 42-year-old assistant here for 12 years, was named yesterday to succeed Len Casanova, dean of Pacific Eight coaches with 16 seasons at Oregon.

Casanova, 61, was elevated to athletic director.

"I know we've had some problems the past couple of years," Frei said. "I hope we have the personnel coming up to make us that exciting team again."

Oregon was 3-7 last season and 4-5-1 in 1965.

Frei, who played college football at Wisconsin as a lineman in the 1940s, praised Casanova, who took Oregon to the Rose Bowl in 1958 and had an overall record of 82-73-8.

"I will attempt to maintain the high level of the football program he has built," he said.

"Our jobs now are to go ahead full steam with our recruiting and to prepare for spring practice."

Frei indicated he may hire two new assistant coaches, one to replace himself and the other to help assistant ack Roche, who was given the additional job of associate baseball coach in yesterday's "in the family" athletic department shuffle.

The other Oregon assistants are Max Coley, John Robinson, Phil McHugh and Norm Chapman. Frei said he hoped they would remain.

Casanova, who has been in coaching since he graduated from Santa Clara in 1927, replaced Leo Harris as athletic director. Harris, 62, will remain on the scene in a part-time capacity until his retirement at 65.

Under Harris, the Oregon Athletic Department made money and construction of a new stadium was started. It is scheduled for completion next fall in time for the Oregon-Colorado game in September.

Bass, Baughan Recovering From Pro Bowl Wounds

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — After visits to Hollywood Presbyterian Hospital, Dick Bass and Maxie Baughan of the Los Angeles Rams are recovering from Pro Bowl injuries.

Fullback Bass caught a knee in the face on the first place of Sunday's game in the Coliseum and underwent surgery for a fractured cheekbone yesterday. The operation was a success, a Rams spokesman said.

Baughan, a linebacker, underwent tests yesterday at the same hospital, and they indicated he was suffering a back abrasion, and not a ruptured kidney which was suspected at first.

Bass is to go to Vietnam tomorrow with two other National Football League players to visit American servicemen there. Baughan will go soon to his Atlanta, Ga., home.

Unbeaten Clark To Fight Grant

OAKLAND (AP) — California state heavyweight champion Henry Clark of San Francisco will meet undefeated Steve Grant of Oakland in a non-title, 10-round fight at Oakland Civic Auditorium Feb. 15, promoter Jimmy Cozenza announced yesterday.

16 Home Tilts For Oakland Soccer Team

OAKLAND (AP) — The California Clippers of the National Professional Soccer League will play 16 home games this year in the new Oakland Coliseum.

This announcement was made yesterday at a news conference in Oakland attended by Coliseum officials and the Oakland team's two Texas owners, Joseph I. O'Neill Jr. and Toby Hilliard, both former Pennsylvanians.

The Clippers will open their season April 16 against the Pittsburgh Phantoms, one of the league's 10 teams.

The National League lacks the sanction of the Federation of Football Association (FIFA), but has a CBS television contract. The rival San Francisco Golden Gales of the North American Soccer League has FIFA sanction and plans to start play in 1968.

Fights Last Night

NEW YORK — Emile Griffith, 152, New York, outpointed Joey Archer, 160, New York, 15. Griffith retained his world middleweight title.

Length Of Reel Line Important In Making Big Trout Catches

STEVENS

I recently received word that another world record was established in 1966. On July 26, Jim Thurston, owner-manager of Saskamac Lodge at Uranium City, Saskatchewan, Canada, hooked, played and finally landed a lake trout weighing an even 40 pounds on a 4-pound test line.

Of particular interest to me was the length of line he had on his reel. I noted that his reel contained 600 feet of the four-pound line, and thereon is a caution I would suggest to all local anglers who feature fishing with very light tackle.

FOR SUCH TACKLE, any person trying for a trophy fish on light tackle, the rod must be very resilient, able to bend nearly double and then return to its original condition. The rod must act as a shock-absorber, as it were. And the line? The one all-important feature must be length.

YOU NOTE Angler Thurston had 600 feet of that four-pound test line. Line that was long enough to allow a fish to become tired from fighting the steady and ever-increasing resistance. Angler Thurston reports that he had several hookups with other large fish, but did not have at those times sufficient line to check the power drive of the fish. He knew, as do all expert light tackle fishermen, that with a four-pound test line it would be impossible to check the first headlong drive of a large fish without line long enough to tire a fish regardless of his size by the steady tension against its mouth.

ANOTHER CONDITION that favored the Thurston catch was that his 40-pound trout was hooked in still water. He didn't have a tidal flow to contend with. We have out here, and when you add the speed of a tidal current to the speed of a very large fish in his first power drive, unless the angler has enough line on his reel to allow for an unusually long distance of that first or even second or third dash for freedom made by the fish. Figure it out for yourself. If you hook a fish that is capable of making an initial drive of 300 feet and you are using a line only 200 feet long and testing four pounds, what is bound to happen?

WHY ALL the palaver? Just this: If you would establish a record for landing a very large striped bass on very light rod and line, the area to make the attempt should be in waters not affected by the tidal flow, that are practically clear of underwater snags and where your fish has plenty of room to maneuver. Back country waters like the Sherman Island Lake, The Big Break, or Franks Tract. Such spots make a good place to fish the "Coiled Line" method.

JOHN COLAGROSS, recording secretary of the Fishing Fools Sports Club, sent me the list of winners in the club's recent bass derby. Here it is: First, Mit Ikeda, 32-pounder; second, Emil Wagner, 29 pounds 10 ounces; third, Tom Yamamoto, 28-6; fourth, Harry Ushijim, 26-6; fifth, Ed Sugiura, 25-3; sixth, Don Janderbeur, 24-12; seventh, Bob Campers, 24-7; eighth, N. Nagareda, 23-3; ninth, Paul Howell, 22-15; tenth, Frank Nakayama, 22-11.

THE OLD ONE-TWO AS LEADERS

'Comeback Of Year' Honors To Oriole Frank Robinson

NEW YORK (AP) — Frank Robinson, the Baltimore Orioles slugger who has added the Comeback of the Year award to a closetful of 1966 trophies, is anxious to begin another comeback—from knee surgery.

Robinson, who rebounded after the controversial trade that sent him from Cincinnati to the Orioles last winter and captured the batting triple crown in his first American League season, won The Associated Press' Comeback award by an overwhelming margin.

But, despite the latest honor — he previously was named the American League's most valuable player, the S. Rae Hickok Professional Athlete of the Year and The Associated Press Male Athlete of the Year —the 31-year-old outfielder remains concerned about his progress since the knee operation last Nov. 22.

Cracked medio cartilage was removed from his right knee, and Robinson contends his extensive travels on the banquet circuit have slowed recuperation.

"With some 20-25 dinners," he said, "I haven't been able to exercise my right knee as I should. My right leg is 1½ inches smaller, around the calf and thigh, than the other one, and I need to build it up."

$100,000 CONTRACT

Robinson, however, expects to be ready at the start of the 1967 campaign — for which he will be paid a reported $100,000 — and the lean Californian looks forward to surpassing last year's offensive figures.

"But I don't look to top 49 homers," he said. "I'll be satisfied to hit 40."

Robinson received 194 first-place votes and 685 points in the Comeback of the Year poll of sports writers and broadcasters. Golfer Arnold Palmer was a distant second, with 38 first-place ballots and 351 points.

Points were awarded on the basis of three for first place, two for second and one for third.

Robinson's batting punch — .316 average, 122 RBI, 49 homers—led the Orioles to the A.L. pennant and a four-game World Series sweep over the Los Angeles Dodgers. He had batted .296, with 33 homers and 113 RBI, for the Reds in 1965.

PALMER'S JACKPOT

Palmer, who had not won a major tournament in the two previous years, won more money in 1966 than any other golfer in history. He pocketed $154,692, beating out Jack Nicklaus by $346.

Auto racer John Surtees of Britain, who bounced back from a serious 1965 injury to win several Grand Prix events last year, was third in the voting with 149 points, including eight first-place nominations.

Relief pitcher Phil Regan of the Dodgers; running back Dick Bass of the Los Angeles Rams; light-heavyweight boxing champion Dick Tiger; first baseman Boog Powell of the Orioles; golfer Billy Casper, and two teams — the Orioles and the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League — finished behind Robinson, Parlmer and Surtees.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates announced yesterday that infielder Jose Pagan has signed his contract for next season. The Pirates said Pagan, 32, mailed his contract from his home in Caguas, P.R.

Nine Straight Meadow Club Titles For Mrs. John Cann

Wedding Gift Started Her Golf Career

By GARY TISCHLER

Wedding presents are usually bright and silvery enough to blind you or they're all lace and frills and wrapped in ooh's and ah's.

Fourteen years ago, Mrs. John Cann found a set of golf clubs among her wedding gifts. They were from her thoughtful husband, himself an avid golfer.

Mrs. Cann took the hint. Five years of constant lessons, hard practice and work later, she won her first tournament championship at Meadow Club in Fairfax.

Last May, Mrs. Cann, of 25 Entrada Ave., San Anselmo, won her ninth straight championship. It has almost been automatic.

COOKBOOK INSTEAD?

"I think he should have given me a cookbook," Mrs. Cann said.

"I started playing at Presidio," she said. "I felt right at home. It was raining."

Mrs. Cann originally came from Seattle, Wash., where rain is automatic, too.

Forty years old, trim, and a good hitter on the course, Mrs. Cann is a believer in golf. To her, playing a good round of golf beats those aspirins every time.

"Well, first of all, it's a wonderful way to exercise," she said. "It's a good escape mechanism. You don't have to think about anything but golf. It relieves a lot of tension and it's a fine way to keep from getting fat."

EIGHT HANDICAP

A good day of golf to Mrs. Cann is shooting below 80, to go with her eight handicap.

"I don't take it half seriously enough," she said. "My handicap used to be six. My husband says I'm not enough of a competitor."

Those Meadow Club championships all came in match play and most of them went no further than the 16th hole.

"There was one, about three years ago," she recalled. "I remember I had trouble hitting the fairway while the other women kept hitting it, pitching and putting it in. I finally won on the 20th hole. That's the longest it's gone."

CHAMPIONSHIP FORM—Mrs. John Cann of San Anselmo displays the championship form which has helped her win nine straight Meadow Club ladies' titles. Action came in her title match against Mrs. Norman Green in 1965. (Independent-Journal photo)

Mrs. Cann is right at home on the athletic range. In addition to golf, she bowls in two leagues, a scratch and a handicap, and plays a little tennis on the side as well as cooking "when I find time."

"I carry about a 171 average," she said of her bowling activity.

She spends about three days a week playing golf "when I'm playing well."

The way the Meadow Club championships have been rolling in, Mrs. Cann must still be playing well.

NFL's Washington Signs Draft Choice

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Redskins announced today the signing of Dick Redding of Northwestern State College of Louisiana, their 11th round draft pick a year ago.

Redding, 6-foot and 200 pounds, from Natchitoches, La., was used as a tight end in college but the Redskins said he will be tried at split end.

631 SERIES, 277 GAME

Big Scores At Nave Lanes

Royal Druba of the Novato Sportsmen League rolled games of 219, 222, and 190 for a 631 series to lead the bowlers at Nave Lanes last week.

A SPECIAL PLEA TO CLARENCE TROUTMAN, WOMELSDORF, PENN..

(PEOPLE DON'T KNOW IT WENT 600,000 MILES BEFORE IT DID.)

New-car Transporter Clarence Troutman drove his 1954 Dodge tractor 600,000 miles before a universal joint let go right across the street from the Dodge truck plant. Then he drove it another 491,000 miles before trading it on a new Dodge D700 tractor. Other than the universal, what did Mr. Troutman replace on his Dodge? "The engine every 200,000 miles. Every 150,000 to 175,000 miles I rebuilt the transmission and rear axle." And that was about it. Except that he did replace one brake drum somewhere along the line. Now he figures he'll put another million miles on the new D700 then both of them will be ready for retirement.

Crosby Golf Story: Nicklaus Sizzles, Palmer Flops

By JACK STEVENSON

PEBBLE BEACH (AP)—Jack Nicklaus, flashing home on a string of birdies while Arnold Palmer collapsed, has added the Bing Crosby Golf Tournament championship to his ever growing list of titles.

"I've wanted to win this tournament ever since I turned pro, and everything I did happened to come out right this time," Nicklaus said. He now heads for the Los Angeles Open starting Thursday.

With five birdies on the final seven holes despite a cold, biting wind over the tough Pebble Beach course, Nicklaus scored a 31 over the last nine holes. He passed Palmer and Bill Casper and won with a 72-hole score of 284, four under par, on a final round 68.

Head and head all three battled the final day. Three times they were in a three-way tie for the lead and the situation changed on 14 of the 18 holes. Palmer bombed himself out with two shots out of bounds and a 9 on No. 14.

First Casper led, then Palmer and finally on the 13th hole, Nicklaus dropped the second of three straight birds to go into a lead he kept to win the $16,000 top prize in the $104,500 tournament. Casper collected $9,600 for 74 — 289 and Palmer $6,000 for 75-291.

Big Jack won the 1961 National Amateur title at Pebble Beach and since turning pro has won the U.S. Open, PGA and last year became the first to post consecutive victories in the Masters.

"I've started this year shooting better golf earlier because I played more late fall tournaments," Nicklaus explained. He has won four of the last five events he has played — the Sahara, the Canada Cup and the PGA team championships, both paired with Palmer, and now the Crosby.

The final round in the storm-delayed Crosby Tournament matched the three men who led the 1966 money lists — U.S. Open champion Casper at $121,944, Nicklaus at $111,419 and Palmer at $110,467.

Casper held a stroke lead at the start. At the end of nine holes he had a 37, Palmer had a 36 to tie him and Nicklaus stood just one stroke back with a 37.

At the 10th hole, Palmer and Nicklaus shot par. Casper went into a trap and Arnie took the lead by a stroke.

Casper pulled even with Palmer at the 11th by dropping a 12-foot birdie putt. Nicklaus remained one stroke back. Then as the winds whipped, his rally started in an unusual manner.

Nicklaus' tee shot on the 205-yard 12th went six feet past the green, and 25 feet from the hole. "I took a putter and just tapped it, and the ball went into the hole," Nicklaus related, still a little amazed at that stroke of fate.

Casper, playing with Jack,hit into the woods and went over par, losing two strokes to Nicklaus.

"The 12th was the turning point of it all," the winner reflected.

Actually the 14th had as important an impact. Palmer, just one stroke behind at that point, hit consecutive fairway woods out of bounds, the second by only a yard, and carded the 9.

At 13, Nicklaus was carding a birdie with a four-foot putt. At ing with his brother Frank for 14, he dropped from three feet, then at 16 curled in a 55-footer and added his fifth bird with a 17-foot putt on 17.

Remembering he shot a 9 on the 18th a year ago, Nicklaus used a No. 1 iron off the tee on the 540-yard hole and collected a par and the first prize check.

"Even with those three straight double bogeys at Cypress Point in the second round, I played well all the way," he said. The wind that day was whipping up a gale.

Mike Souchak, who didn't qualify for individual pro competition in the final round because of a 228, one above the cut-off, collected $2,700 by teaming with his brother Frank for the best-ball title with a 29-under-par 259.

Deadlocked at 293 and collecting $3,493 each for fourth were Bob Rosburg and Jack Burke Jr., with 74s, and Bill Parker with 76.

Joe Carr, who led the first round with a 68, one stroke ahead of Nicklaus, finished with an 80—307 and no money.

Sportsdom's First Double Dive: Who Will Get Lew-Lew Alcindor?

DOUBLE DIVE—Can you imagine a 1-0 or 2-1 professional basketball final score?

Of course you can't. But here is a hypothetical situation that could produce such a preposterous result:

It is the final day of the 1969-70 National Basketball Assn. season. San Francisco and Chicago, tied for last place, meet at Civic Auditorium with the winner escaping the cellar and the loser finishing dead last.

Well, the way the professional player drafts are set up, the team that finishes with the worst record gets first draft choice.

Now, with Lew Alcindor graduating from UCLA in June of 1970, do you think San Francisco and Chicago would try very hard to win this hypothetical final game?

IT COULD produce sportsdom's first double dive.

I can picture such stars as Rick Barry and Nate Thurmond missing all their shots, intentionally fouling the opposition and doing all sorts of things to lose the game.

Coach Bill Sharman may have fits over his team's sudden inaccuracy, but I imagine Warrior owner Franklin Mieuli would love it.

Alcindor figures to be the biggest professional basketball attraction since Wilt Chamberlain's arrival and a last place finish in the 1969-70 NBA season could prove to be a financial boom for some franchise.

ANOTHER THOUGHT: It's a good thing the NBA outlawed its territorial draft rights system, else by 1970 11 franchises would be trying desperately to transfer into the Los Angeles territory.

LOCAL BOY—Paul Valenti, one of Tamalpais High's most illustrious grads, was named Oregon's "Man of the Year" last night at a banquet sponsored by the Oregon Sportswriters and Sportscasters.

Valenti, former teammate and pal of Drake High principal Harold Allison at Tam in the late 1930s, coached Oregon State to the Pacific-Eight basketball title last season.

QUIPPING POST—Catcher Tom Haller, asked by disc jockey Carter B. Smith what the Giants do to get their batting eyes in shape during spring training, deadpanned: "Well, we eat a lot of carrots . . ."

Haller, incidentally, was the only sports celeb to show up for last night's Marin Cancer Society fund-raising dinner at Sabella's of Marin. Warrior Nate Thurmond and 49ers Kermit Alexander and Alvin Randolph were no-shows for various, sundry and Monday reasons.

THE PROMOTERS—College of Marin cage coach Cal Riemcke has invited all boys in the Terra Linda Recreation Basketball League to attend the Marin-Lassen college game at Kentfield Saturday night, free of charge.

ON TARGET AND OFF — Griffith lands a sharp left to the head of Archer in the first round of their championship bout, but Archer's counter to Griffith's midsection is off the mark. (AP Wirephotos)

Griffith May Meet Italy Champ Next

NEW YORK (AP) — Middleweight champion Emile Griffith apparently has ended his series with Joey Archer on a second straight close decision and now it may be the turn of Italy's Nino Benvenuti.

After the 28-year-old Griffith had scraped out his narrow but unanimous 15-round decision at Madison Square Garden last night matchmaker Teddy Brenner said that Benvenuti, the European 160-pound champion had agreed to terms for a March 22 title fight at the Garden.

"If the price is right, Emile will be ready," said Gil Clancy, Griffith's trainer and co-manager. "Emile is a fighting champion. He ducks nobody."

Benvenuti, the former world junior middleweight king and beaten only once in his career, was an interested spectator of the return Griffith-Archer fight.

"I wasn't impressed," the handsome, 28-year-old Italian said. "I think I can beat both of them. I just hope I can get the chance with Griffith."

Garden officials will talk to the managers this afternoon.

Griffith received $75,000 and Archer about $25,000 o nhis 15 per cent of the gross gate of $127,119 paid by 14,838 customers and the television receipts.

NO KNOCKDOWNS

As in the first fight last July 13, there were no knockdowns. Griffith came close to scoring one in the second round when he clipped Archer with a short right to the jaw and the challenger's right knee dipped to the canvas. Referee Art Mercante didn't count, thus ruling it was not a knockdown.

Griffith claimed it was a knockdown but Archer said, "I slipped. I came right back at him if you remember."

It was in that same second round that Archer suffered a deep, purplish bruise under his right eye. Good corner work kept it from breaking open.

Outside of the second, the big round was the eighth, won by Griffith as he kept the pressure on for the full three minutes. The champ opened up with left jabs followed by left hooks to the head and body and solid rights to the head.

"I was not at my best but I thought I won clearly," said Griffith. "The more pressure I put on him the more he ran."

"I thought I won it decisively," said Archer, who relied on his snapping left jabs, occasional rights, and dancing feet."I thought I won at least nine rounds. I don't know what I've got to do to win a decision in the Garden. That's three now, one with Joe Gonzalez and two with Griffith."

SCORE CARDS

Referee Art Mercante and 6-1 in rounds for Griffith. Judge Joe Eppy had Griffith ahead, 8-7. The Associated Press had Griffith ahead on one card, 7-6-2, and Archer the winner on a second writer's card, 8-6-1.

A ringside poll showed a big edge for Griffith, 21-8-1, but most of the writers had the scoring very close. It was that kind of a fight.

Most of the rounds were close, too.

Because of their contrasting styles, they could probably fight 100 times with the same outcome, close but no trophies for Archer.

In their first fight on July 13, Griffith won by majority decision. The judges had him the winner, 9-5-1 and 8-7 while the referee, Johnny LoBianco, had it even 7-7-1.

Archer was a 13-10 favorite the first time but last night the odds favored Griffith by 8-5. The odds shot up from even money before the weighin when Archer weighed 161¼ pounds — 1¼ pounds over the 160-pound division limit. He took steam baths and a haircut in the next two hours to make 160 on the nose. Griffith weighted 152.

Redbirds In Good Shape, Says Stan

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Stan Musial, who is the third general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals in four years, feels the National League club is in good shape for the 1967 baseball campaign.

The 46-year-old Musial, who played 22 years with the Cardinals, became general manager yesterday, succeeding Robert Howsam, who resigned Sunday to accept a similar post with the Cincinnati Reds.

Howsam replaced Bing Devine as general manager during the 1964 season.

"We have a good, well balanced ball club," Musial said after his selection was announced. "We plan no major player changes or trades at this time," he added.

Musial, who will hold the titles of general manager and vice president, became the ball club's No. 1 administrative official less than a month before the first Cardinals report to spring training in St. Petersburg, Fla.

With only 15 players on the 40-man roster signed, Musial's first job will be to get the players to agree to 1967 terms.

Among those still to be signed is Roger Maris, who hit 61 homers for the New York Yankees in 1961. Maris came to the Cardinals in a winter trade that sent third baseman Charlie Smith to the Yanks.

UNSIGNED PLAYERS

Musial said he planned to talk with Howsam about Maris and other players still unsigned.

"We have a good nucleus of veterans and young players, especially pitchers," Musial said. "Getting Roger Maris should help our attack. Our big question is third base and it would be great if outfielder Mike Shannon can do the job there."

Musial, in becoming general manager of the Cardinals, also will be the boss of his former roommate, Red Schoendienst, the club's field manager.

August A. Busch Jr., president of the Cardinals, noted the close relationship between Musial and Schoendienst, and said, "It is only fair to say that both Stan and Red fully understand that record — not personal friendship — will be the judge of the future."

Musial, who retired as an active player in 1963, took over as general manager of the Cardinals 25 years after he reported to the club as a rookie for the 1942 season. He appeared briefly at the tailend of the 1941 season with the Cardinals.

During his playing career, Musial collected over 3,000 hits, had a lifetime batting average of .331 and hit 475 home runs. He set 16 major league records during his career.

Warriors' Guards Hurting

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The San Francisco Warriors will be hard-pressed to get a pair of guards on the court tonight when they host lowly Baltimore. at Civic Auditorium, 8:30 o'clock.

It was announced yesterday that peppery Jimmy King will be sidelined for two weeks because of internal bleeding in his thigh.

Paul Neumann is still shakey after a flu bout and Al Attles has a tendon pull. The only healthy backcourt men are Jeff Mullins, rookie Joe Ellis and recently reactivated Bob Warlick.

Players from both Los Angeles and St. Louis have been quoted as saying they have just about conceded the Warriors first place in the Western Division and hope to beat them in the playoffs.

But San Francisco coach Bill Sharman insists the team must still go some to take the Western Division. He points out San Francisco plays 15 of its remaining 32 games against the top three teams in the Eastern Division. The Warriors are 4-8 against these teams so far this season.

Wilt Stopped, But 76ers Roll Along

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wilt Chamberlain finally missed, but the Philadelphia 76ers scored another hit in the victory column.

The 76ers collected the last eight points of the game last night for a 112-105 National Basketball Association victory over the St. Louis Hawks at Memphis, Tenn.

The triumph, in the only league action of the night, gave the Eastern Division leading 76ers a 46-4 record.

With 5:54 remaining in the second quarter, Chamberlain drove in for a reverse lay-up, but the ball rolled off the rim, snapping his string of field goals made at 32. He entered the game with a streak of 28 and dunked his first four against the Hawks. The old record was 19, by Chamberlain.

St. Louis rallied from a 12-point deficit in the last quarter to tie the score at 100-100 with 3:42 remaining.

Then with a minute left and the Hawks leading 105-104, Chet Walker put the 76ers ahead 106-105 with a basket. Walker then came through with two foul shots, and Chamberlain added a pair and Billy Cunningham put in a lay-up.

Chamberlain, who made nine of 12 shots from field, topped Philadelphia scorers with 22 points. Hal Greer got 19 and Cunningham 17. Joe Caldwell scored 22, Bill Bridges 20 and Len Wilkens 18 for St. Louis.

Unanimous Vote For UCLA In National Cage Rating

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

It looks as though nothing will stop UCLA's torrid basketball team except, maybe, some cold weather.

The top-ranked Bruins make their first appearance of the season away from the West Coast this weekend when they meet Illinois Friday and Lyola of Illinois Saturday, both games in Chicago Stadium.

Illinois has won eight games and lost four while Loyola is 7-6. Each figures to provide stronger resistance than the Bruins' opponents of last week, Portland and the University of California at Santa Barbara. UCLA trampled Portland 122-57 and UC at Santa Barbara 119-75.

The Bruins are unanimous choices for first place in The Associated Press' major college poll for the second straight week today. They collected all 39 votes for the top position in the balloting by a national panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

North Carolina advanced to second place while Houston held the No. 3 spot and Louisville slipped two notches to fourth. Princeton held fifth place.

North Carolina, Houston and Princeton were not scheduled last week. Louisville dropped its second game of the year, 59-58 to Cincinnati, after scoring its 15th victory, 66-50 over Dayton.

Texas Western, Kansas, Western Kentucky, Vanderbilt and Providence round out the first 10.

Western Kentucky and Vanderbilt are the new teams in the rankings. They replaced Florida and New Mexico, eighth and ninth, respectively, a week ago.

The top 10, with first place votes in parentheses, season records through Saturday, Jan. 21 and total points on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 bases:

1. UCLA (39)	14-0	390
2. North Carolina	12-1	279
3. Houston	14-1	269
4. Louisville	15-2	255

A SECRET PUNCH?

Terrell To Work Out Behind Locked Doors

HOUSTON (AP) — Ernie Terrell, the World Boxing Assn.'s designated heavyweight champion, headed behind closed doors today to perfect a classified punch for use on Cassius Clay, a consensus champion, in the Astrodome Feb. 6.

Sam Solomon, Terrell's manager, said his man's training sessions in Astrohall will be closed to everyone from now on, including the news people and lingering members of the paid audience for Clay's sessions in the same gym.

"On Sunday, one of the Clay men shot motion pictures of Terrell boxing," Solomon said. "This is something that usually isn't permitted in fight camps. That is why we have decided on a closed workout."

Terrell has been favoring his left in the open workouts, Solomon said yesterday. "They say that Ernie's right hand is weak. I hope Clay's people keep thinking that way."

A standing-room crowd of some 1,300 watched Clay spar five rounds yesterday. Terrell took yesterday off and tomorrow is Clay's day of rest.

Today is Tuesday, Jan. 24, the 24th day of 1967 with 341 to follow.

The moon is approaching the full stage. The morning stars are Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus, Saturn and Jupiter.

American ballerina Maria Tallchief was born on this day in 1925.

Onthis day in history:

In 1848, gold was discovered in the Sacramento River near Goloma.

In 1945, Soviet troops crossed the Oder River and landed on German soil for the first time.

In 1946, the United Nations General Assembly voted to create an Atomic Energy Commission.

In 1966, President Johnson submitted a record $112.8 billion budget. Also 117 persons were killed in the crash of an Air India jet 707 on Mont Blanc in France.

A Thought for the Day — American journalist H. L. Mencken said: "It is the dull man who is always sure, and the sure man who is always dull."

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Sometimes You Just Can't Win, Even By Making The Right Play

"Keep your head down, and don't look up during the bidding or play," a friend of mine advised his wife during a recent bridge game.

"It doesn't do anything for her game," he whispered to me. "but it stops her from seeing the look on my face."

The lady had just played the hand shown today.

Opening lead — ♠ J

South took the queen of spades, led a heart to dummy's king and returned the jack of diamonds for a finesse.

I played a low diamond from the West hand.

SOUTH STYMIED

Our heroine continued with dummy's low diamond.

My partner (and wife) discarded a spade from the East hand.

South put up the ace of diamonds and continued with the queen of diamonds.

I refused the trick again.

Now South had three diamond tricks but could not get a fourth. She could get to dummy with the king of clubs to set up another diamond, but then she would never get back to dummy for the good diamond.

South lost no diamonds but eventually had to give up two hearts. Down one.

NOTHING WRONG

There was nothing wrong with leading a heart to dummy's king and returning the jack of diamonds from dummy.

But South must step up with the ace of diamonds and return the queen of diamonds next.

When this trick is refused, South can still continue with the deuce of diamonds.

It is a cinch to set up the diamonds with the king of clubs as an entry.

South gets four diamond tricks instead of only three, making the slam.

SURPRISE SCOLDING

As the hand was actually played, my defense was simple but correct.

I expected no medals for it, but I certainly didn't expect to be scolded.

Unfortunately, my wife heard my friend's whispered explanation of his advice.

"Husbands!" she hissed at me.

Sometimes there's no way to win even if you make the right play.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 2 notrump (22 to 24 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠ 6 5 3
♡ K 7
◇ J 10 9 8 5
♣ K 8 4

ANSWER:

Bid three notrump.

The combined point count should be 29 to 31 points, adding your 7 points to partner's count. The total is easily enough for game, but is not up to the 33 points usually needed for slam.

The Art Of Vaulting: A Glass Menagerie

If a field of selling platers, none of which had ever run a mile under a week before, suddenly began snapping clocks at 1:30 and a fraction, track stewards would begin frisking the jockeys for hand buzzers, or the trainers for dripping syringes.

If a field of pros who had been having trouble making the cut at major golf tournaments suddenly began carding 59's, the PGA would send out spies to see if they had been playing all the holes, teeing it up in the rough, or whether they had learned a new stroke-saving shot with a pencil.

PROGRESS COMES an inch at a time, a fraction of a second every decade. "Barriers" in sports don't collapse; they crumble slowly, like old cookies. When Ruth hit his 60 homers, he had already hit 59 one year. Bannister had only 2 seconds to make up to break the 4-minute "barrier."

The point is, you don't break the 60-homer "barrier" with 75. A guy gets a hot hand (and an 8-game longer season) and he breaks it by one. The 7-foot high jump barrier was not broken by a 9-foot leap.

WHICH IS WHY the sports world was dismayed in the past six years when the pole vault "barrier" has gone from 15 to 18 feet. Only one of two conclusions could be reached: either gravity wasn't working or the judges' yardsticks. Since airplanes continue to land, and 12 inches continue to equal a foot, the list of suspects soon narrowed down to one—the pole. Glass—one of the oldest substances known to man—has been added to it. And shortly feet were added to the record.

MORALITY NOW became the issue, as it usually does. The sport had now become no longer pole-vaulting but a form of soaring. It was all started by a vaulter whose all-time best had been 14 feeta 6 inches. His form was a ghastly, chicken-stepping, crooked run down the asphalt. His pole vault looked like a guy trying to poke a ferret out from under a porch with a broom. He tried a fiber glass pole—and then, only one day after he couldn't make 14 with an aluminum one, he was catapulting so high in the air he was coming down with snow in his hair.

THE BIGGEST scream came from the resident champion of the art form, Don Bragg, who had hoped to parlay an Olympic championship into a career as Tarzan of the Apes, an ignoble ambition which was now disappearing as fast as the aluminum pole. "You might as well fire a guy out of a cannon," protested Don. But pretty soon, Bragg was without a post. Bragg never could get the hang of glass vaulting because, with his vault, he might just as well have tried straw. He broke more glass than the San Francisco earthquake.

When the Russians sanctioned the glass pole, it meant two things: They have plenty of glass in Russia; it was not one of their critical shortages like barbers and scissors, and glass was IN. Without Russia, international amateur athletics is like the American Football League. Nice. But second rate.

SINCE THAT time, performance in the pole vault has been so uneven that you would almost advocate a sobriety test every other event. A man who vaulted 17 feet one night couldn't make 16 the next. Clearly, the pole was innconsistent. It was the only event in track and field in which technology outweighed pathology. It was the pole that needed the pep talk, the rub-down, the whirlpool bath.

As the heights got higher and higher, the landing pit needed changes; someone suggested landing lights. After all, people can get killed falling from 20 feet.

BOB SEAGREN, who is one of five vaulters who has topped 17 feet in the glass menagerie, is one who thinks man can go as high as he dares fall. For one thing, a whole generation of vaulters are coming along who will never have gone over a cross-bar on anything but a glass pole. Bob is almost the last of the generation who learned on bamboo poles, and who considered the family clothesline a good start. "They will be going over the telephone wires if they can get a good runway and pole plan now," he predicts.

As usual, the physics outweigh the metaphysics in the case. But you would have to admit that the vaulter of this generation and those of six years ago are—and will remain—poles apart.

GO AWAY, BIRDIE—Billy Casper seems to be waving off a seagull while trying for a birdie of his own on the seventh hole at Pebble Beach during the Bing Crosby Golf Tournament. The seagull went away but so did Casper's birdie.

NICKLAUS WON IT FOR BAG TOTER GONZALVES

By GORDON SAKAMOTO

Independent-Journal Sports
32 Jan. 24, 1967

PEBBLE BEACH (UPI) — Behind every champion there's usually an unnoticed worker who quietly goes about making the winner's job easier. As far as Jack Nicklaus is concerned, that man is Dede Gonzalves, a golf caddy.

Who's Dede Gonzalves? Ask Nicklaus, the 1967 Bing Crosby National pro-am winner, and he'll tell you Dede is the unsung hero of Pebble Beach.

Nicklaus, who won the rain-delayed tournament yesterday, thinks so much of the stumpy, 63-year-old caddy that he said he won it for Gonzalves.

Gonzalves has served as Nicklaus's only caddy—a too often taken-for-granted job—at Pebble Beach since the pro from Columbus, Ohio, won the National Amateur championship in 1961.

For Nicklaus, Gonzalves has meant a world of steady, constructive advice.

"Dede's always been kidding me about when I was going to finally win this tournament, so this year I came here determined to win for him," Nicklaus said after he had collected the $16,000 prize money with a 284 total.

"He knows this course like the palm of his hand and there isn't a thing I'd do here without consulting him. That's how much faith I have in the man," Nicklaus said.

Gonzalves should know the course well. He estimated that as both a caddy and player, he has toured the picturesque, 6,747-yard course at least 10,000 times in the last 40 years.

Gonzalves, who was born in Monterey, served four years in the Army and after his discharge worked as a seasonal employee in a nearby cannery.

His love for the game developed between cannery seasons when he became a frequent visitor to the course and in 1927 decided to become a full-time caddy.

His first winner dates back to 1929 when he worked for Jimmy Johnson, who won the National Amateur. Thirty-two years later, Gonzalves caddied for a youngster he considered an outstanding prospect, Nicklaus.

"I thought he would be the greatest golfer in the world then. Look at him now," Gonzalves said as he toured the course with the two-time Masters Champion in yesterday's windup round in the Crosby.

"He had an excellent all-game—maybe a little weak in putting but not much—was young and even then had an excellent temperment. In my book, he's the greatest."

Dede may not know it but the feeling is mutual.

A SERIOUS CHAMPION — Jack Nicklaus and his wife Barbara provide a serious study of quiet victory after Nicklaus stormed back on the last nine holes to overhaul Arnold Palmer and Billy Casper and win the Bing Crosby Golf Tournament by five strokes yesterday.

NBA SCORING RACE

Baylor And West Gain, Barry Slips

NEW YORK (AP) — Elgin Baylor and Jerry West of the Los Angeles Lakers scored a total of 225 points last week, but the Lakers didn't take advantage of the production — losing all four games they played.

Baylor scored 115 to boost his total to 1,083, good for fifth place in the National Basketball Assn. scoring race, and West threw in 110 for a total of 1,161, good for fourth place, according to league statistics released today.

San Francisco's Rick Barry tailed off somewhat but still is comfortably in first place with 1,669 points for a 36.3 average.

Oscar Robertson, in second place, raised his average to over 30 points a game — 30.2, by scoring 107 points for 1,268.

Wilt Chamberlain, third in scoring with 1,172 points, continues to lead in field goal percentage, 693, and rebounds, 1,193, and is third in assists, 355.

Adrian Smith of Cincinnati leads in free throw percentage with .895, and Guy Rodgers of Chicago leads in assists with 629.

Oregon Family Shuffle Elevates Cas And Frei

EUGENE, Ore. (UPI) — Oregon today had a new football coach to go with a new 40,000-seat stadium and he promised to try to restore "exciting football" to the Webfoots.

Jerry Frei, a 42-year-old assistant here for 12 years, was named yesterday to succeed Len Casanova, dean of Pacific Eight coaches with 16 seasons at Oregon.

Casanova, 61, was elevated to athletic director.

"I know we've had some problems the past couple of years," Frei said. "I hope we have the personnel coming up to make us that exciting team again."

Oregon was 3-7 last season and 4-5-1 in 1965.

Frei, who played college football at Wisconsin as a lineman in the 1940s, praised Casanova, who took Oregon to the Rose Bowl in 1958 and had an overall record of 82-73-8.

"I will attempt to maintain the high level of the football program he has built," he said.

"Our jobs now are to go ahead full steam with our recruiting and to prepare for spring practice."

Frei indicated he may hire two new assistant coaches, one to replace himself and the other to help assistant ack Roche, who was given the additional job of associate baseball coach in yesterday's "in the family" athletic department shuffle.

The other Oregon assistants are Max Coley, John Robinson, Phil McHugh and Norm Chapman. Frei said he hoped they would remain.

Casanova, who has been in coaching since he graduated from Santa Clara in 1927, replaced Leo Harris as athletic director. Harris, 62, will remain on the scene in a part-time capacity until his retirement at 65.

Under Harris, the Oregon Athletic Department made money and construction of a new stadium was started. It is scheduled for completion next fall in time for the Oregon-Colorado game in September.

Milwaukee May Seek New Team

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A second refusal by the U.S. Supreme Court to review Wisconsin's Braves case left Milwaukee County with thoughts today of a replacement team and whether to pursue a federal court suit against professional baseball.

The court, apparently by an 8-0 vote, stuck by its Dec. 12 decision refusing yesterday to hear the state's appeal of a State Supreme Court ruling that Wisconsin is powerless to enforce its antitrust laws against the National League and its teams, including the Braves.

Milwaukee County officials said they will study whether to press an antitrust suit which had been filed in U.S. District Court as the Braves franchise was being moved to Atlanta. The suit was suspended while Wisconsin acted through state courts.

Atty. Gen. Bronson C. La Follette has said the state plans no role in the county's federal suit. County officials resumed talking in terms of a new franchise, possibly under a league expansion.

Milwaukee Brewers Inc., a businessmen's group formed to seek a new franchise, received offers of support from county officials after the court's announcement.

La Follette, calling organized baseball "a group of arrogant monopolists," said the U.S. Supreme Court refusal "means baseball may continue as the only non-regulated industry in the United States completely free to flout state and federal antitrust laws."

Funeral For Race Driver Billy Foster

VICTORIA, B.C. (AP) — Funeral service will be held tomorrow for race car driver Billy Foster, 29, killed Friday in a practice run for Sunday's 500-mile stock car race.

Foster, only Canadian to qualify and run in the Indianapolis 500, died when his car struck a retaining wall at the Riverside, Calif., track.

He had competed for 18 months on the U.S. Auto Club's championship trail for Indianapolis-type cars and also run the USAC stock car circuit.

Foster, who began racing cars on a dirt track here 12 years ago, was named the USAC Rookie-of-the-Year in its late model stock car division in 1965.

The $85,000 Riverside race, for which he qualified Thursday, was halted Sunday by a rainstorm after only 135 miles had been completed. Stewards said it will be finished next Sunday.

Foster was the second British Columbia race driver to be killed in less than a year. Bob McLean of Vancouver died in a sports car race last March at Sebring, Fla., when his car slid off a hairpin turn and burst into flames.

Bass, Baughan Recovering From Pro Bowl Wounds

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — After visits to Hollywood Presbyterian Hospital, Dick Bass and Maxie Baughan of the Los Angeles Rams are recovering from Pro Bowl injuries.

Fullback Bass caught a knee in the face on the first place of Sunday's game in the Coliseum and underwent surgery for a fractured cheekbone yesterday. The operation was a success, a Rams spokesman said.

Baughan, a linebacker, underwent tests yesterday at the same hospital, and they indicated he was suffering a back abrasion, and not a ruptured kidney which was suspected at first.

Bass is to go to Vietnam tomorrow with two other National Football League players to visit American servicemen there. Baughan will go soon to his Atlanta, Ga., home.

Unbeaten Clark To Fight Grant

OAKLAND (AP) — California state heavyweight champion Henry Clark of San Francisco will meet undefeated Steve Grant of Oakland in a non-title, 10-round fight at Oakland Civic Auditorium Feb. 15, promoter Jimmy Cozenza announced yesterday.

16 Home Tilts For Oakland Soccer Team

OAKLAND (AP) — The California Clippers of the National Professional Soccer League will play 16 home games this year in the new Oakland Coliseum.

This announcement was made yesterday at a news conference in Oakland attended by Coliseum officials and the Oakland team's two Texas owners, Joseph I. O'Neill Jr. and Toby Hilliard, both former Pennsylvanians.

The Clippers will open their season April 16 against the Pittsburgh Phantoms, one of the league's 10 teams.

The National League lacks the sanction of the Federation of Football Association (FIFA), but has a CBS television contract. The rival San Francisco Golden Gales of the North American Soccer League has FIFA sanction and plans to start play in 1968.

Late Upsurge Erases Earlier Market Loss

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed with a show of strength in turbulent trading today.

The market was erasing a loss as the session ended, a process which had been going on most of the afternoon.

Volume for the day was estimated at 10.1 million shares compared with 10.8 million yesterday.

Control Data was the most active issue, rising 3 points.

The market sank sharply in the morning but showed recuperative power, cutting its losses by a wide margin.

While Wall Street analysts said they welcomed a correction, the selling was short-lived.

Du Pont erased a substantial loss and showed a net gain exceeding a point. General Motors continued more than a point lower.

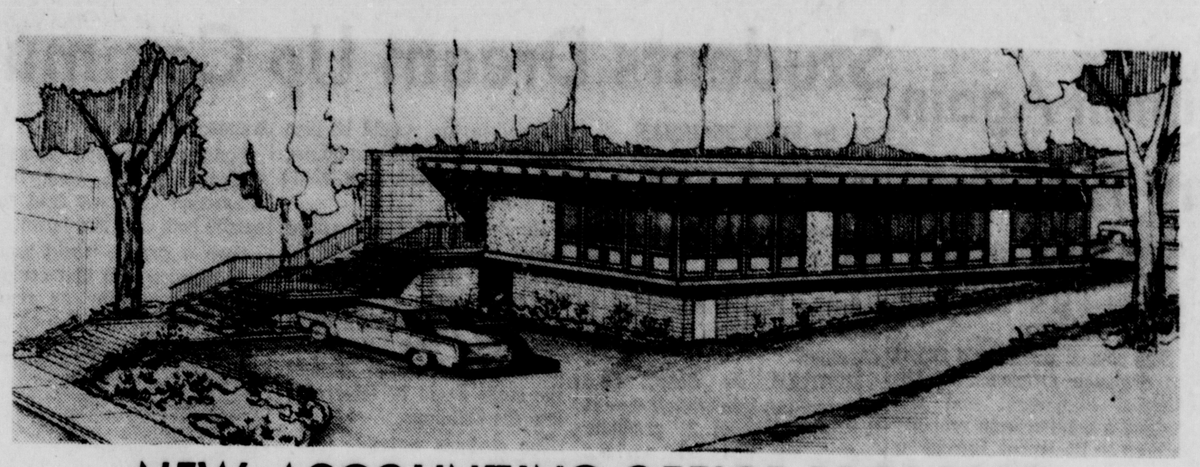

IBM, which declared a stock dividend, was up 2. Gains of a point or more were shown by Polaroid, U. S. Smelting, Raytheon, Illinois Central, Merck, Transitron, Occidental Petroleum and SCM Corp.

On the American Stock Exchange an early decline was erased and the market advanced.

NEW ACCOUNTING OFFICE PROPOSED

This building, designed by Wagstaff and McDonald, San Anselmo, is planned for occupancy in August by certified public accountant Peter James Wikel, who is also a featured writer on tax matters for the Independent-Journal. It is to be located at 275 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, will have 2,000 square feet of office space and off-street parking for eight or nine cars.

60 Banks Ready New Credit Cards

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The California Bancard Assn., involving 60 California banks, expects to have more than one million credit cards mailed in time for start of operations this summer.

The retail credit card program organized by four San Francisco-headquartered banks also plans to sign up more than 30,000 merchants across the state.

The Bank of California, Crocker-Citizens National Bank, United California Bank, and Wells Fargo Bank announced the association last October. The other 56 banks joined later.

Cadillac Sales

DETROIT — Record setting Cadillac new car sales of 6,508 for mid-January have been reported by Fred T. Hopkins, general sales manager of Cadillac Motor Car Division. The 6,508 domestic deliveries set an all time high for the Jan. 11-20 selling period, topping the former mid-Jauary record of 6,343 posted last year.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Advice On Stock Depends On Goal

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "Some time ago we purchased 100 shares of Morrison-Knudson at 31. It has declined steadily to 23½. We are not pressed for funds but are in retirement and cannot afford a loss. Should we hold or sell?" —I.B.

A. The answer to your question depends entirely on your investment objective. Morrison-Knudson is a worldwide general contractor—building roads, bridges and manufacturing facilities. Share earnings have very little changed over the past decade and dividend payments are below the 1960 level. The stock is not suitable for growth. If that is your aim, you should look elsewhere. I do not believe that price recovery will come quickly in this type of issue and if that element is important to you I'm afraid you will be disappointed.

I regard Morrison-Knudson as a stock of good quality, offering a realtively high yield on a dividend that seems secure. If inobjective, I would hold the stock and disregard market fluctuations.

Q. "We are in our seventies and have $20,000 in savings; home and income property worth $30,000 free and clear; $100 a week salary. Would you advise selling our real estate and investing in bonds?" — W.B.

A. I don't believe I would. In your circumstances, you should buy only corporate bonds of come during retirement is your good quality, carrying a fairly high coupon and offering call protection for several years ahead. Bond prices have been moving higher, and issues such as I have described no longer yield six per cent or more. I think you would now do well to get a 5.5 per cent return. I doubt if it would pay you to sell your home and reinvest. If your income property is well situated and offers you a return equivalent to present bond yields—as it probably does—I would hold it as a very good long-term hedge against inflation.

Debate Seen Over LBJ's Tax Policies

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — President Johnson's proposals for an income tax surcharge and greater Social Security assessments and benefits are bound to set off political arguments now and philosophical debates forever.

The two proposals are finely intertwined.

If the President receives his entire Social Security package it might necessitate a tax increase. Bigger payouts would mean the Social Security fund would have less money to invest in government securities. The government needs that money.

But a tax increase on top of added costs for higher Social Security benefits would be intolerable to many people. One or the other, perhaps, but not both.

Johnson's Social Security package could be cut in two, thus lessening the need for a tax increase. But that would put the onus on the cutters as having deprived the elderly of greater benefits.

Social Security seems always to have been mixed up in such affairs. As it now stands, Social Security has tremendous backing from most elements of American life, Congress included, but it has been and may always be controversial.

The size of Social Security — that alone — can provoke disputes. Johnson's proposals call for maximum assessments of $390 in 1969, and that's 13 times the original levy made in 1937.

The assessment for 1968 of $343 wasn't scheduled under the present setup to take effect until after 1972. Its a big jump. If passed, a lot of people will feel the pinch. They'll want help.

This will resurrect an old argument, one that trips more tempers than most issues. That is, whether or not to draw on general revenue funds to help pay the cost of Social Security.

This seems innocent enough. It isn't. It symbolizes in one issue a basic difference between some liberals and some conservatives and, perhaps by an emotional extension, the difference between welfarism and capitalism.

Those who criticize Social Security because they think it is a potentially cancerous growth on free enterprise argue that if funds are obtained from general revenues then payouts constitute a dole rather than insurance. This, they argue, is the guaranteed wage they have come to fear.

These critics argue that Social Security should be self supporting, that its assessments and payments should be scheduled in such a way that the fund would pay its way and be independent of other tax issues.

Even with the big increases in assessments that President Johnson is seeking, the payout to recipients for the present would still be far below the level that permits a minimum of creature comforts.

The minimum benefit for a couple with 25 years of coverage would be raised to $150 and that for a single person to $100. Few recipients could live on this .

The pressure for use of general revenue funds is thus an already potent one, and the issue is bound to be faced sooner or later.

The FISHIN' FOOL

By RALPH STEVENS

STEVENS

I recently received word that another world record was established in 1966. On July 26, Jim Thurston, owner-manager of Saskamac Lodge at Uranium City, Saskatchewan, Canada, hooked, played and finally landed a lake trout weighing an even 40 pounds on a 4-pound test line.

Of particular interest to me was the length of line he had on his reel. I noted that his reel contained 600 feet of the four-pound line, and thereon is a caution I would suggest to all local anglers who feature fishing with very light tackle.

FOR SUCH TACKLE, any person trying for a trophy fish on light tackle, the rod must be very resilient, able to bend nearly double and then return to its original condition. The rod must act as a shock-absorber, as it were. And the line? The one all-important feature must be length.

YOU NOTE Angler Thurston had 600 feet of that four-pound test line. Line that was long enough to allow a fish to become tired from fighting the steady and ever-increasing resistance. Angler Thurston reports that he had several hookups with other large fish, but did not have at those times sufficient line to check the power drive of the fish. He knew, as do all expert light tackle fishermen, that with a four-pound test line it would be impossible to check the first headlong drive of a large fish without line long enough to tire a fish regardless of his size by the steady tension against its mouth.

ANOTHER CONDITION that favored the Thurston catch was that his 40-pound trout was hooked in still water. He didn't have a tidal flow to contend with. We have out here, and when you add the speed of a tidal current to the speed of a very large fish in his first power drive, unless the angler has enough line on his reel to allow for an unusually long distance of that first or even second or third dash for freedom made by the fish. Figure it out for yourself. If you hook a fish that is capable of making an initial drive of 300 feet and you are using a line only 200 feet long and testing four pounds, what is bound to happen?

WHY ALL the palaver? Just this: If you would establish a record for landing a very large striped bass on very light rod and line, the area to make the attempt should be in waters not affected by the tidal flow, that are practically clear of underwater snags and where your fish has plenty of room to maneuver. Back country waters like the Sherman Island Lake, The Big Break, or Franks Tract. Such spots make a good place to fish the "Coiled Line" method.

JOHN COLAGROSS, recording secretary of the Fishing Fools Sports Club, sent me the list of winners in the club's recent bass derby. Here it is: First, Mit Ikeda, 32-pounder; second, Emil Wagner, 29 pounds 10 ounces; third, Tom Yamamoto, 28-6; fourth, Harry Ushijim, 26-6; fifth, Ed Sugiura, 25-3; sixth, Don Janderbeur, 24-12; seventh, Bob Campers, 24-7; eighth, N. Nagareda, 23-3; ninth, Paul Howell, 22-15; tenth, Frank Nakayama, 22-11.

'Comeback Of Year' Honors To Oriole Frank Robinson

NEW YORK (AP) — Frank Robinson, the Baltimore Orioles slugger who has added the Comeback of the Year award to a closetful of 1966 trophies, is anxious to begin another comeback—from knee surgery.

Robinson, who rebounded after the controversial trade that sent him from Cincinnati to the Orioles last winter and captured the batting triple crown in his first American League season, won The Associated Press' Comeback award by an overwhelming margin.

But, despite the latest honor — he previously was named the American League's most valuable player, the S. Rae Hickok Professional Athlete of the Year and The Associated Press Male Athlete of the Year —the 31-year-old outfielder remains concerned about his progress since the knee operation last Nov. 22.

Cracked medio cartilage was removed from his right knee, and Robinson contends his extensive travels on the banquet circuit have slowed recuperation.

"With some 20-25 dinners," he said, "I haven't been able to exercise my right knee as I should. My right leg is 1½ inches smaller, around the calf and thigh, than the other one, and I need to build it up."

$100,000 CONTRACT

Robinson, however, expects to be ready at the start of the 1967 campaign — for which he will be paid a reported $100,000 — and the lean Californian looks forward to surpassing last year's offensive figures.

"But I don't look to top 49 homers," he said. "I'll be satisfied to hit 40."

Robinson received 194 first-place votes and 685 points in the Comeback of the Year poll of sports writers and broadcasters. Golfer Arnold Palmer was a distant second, with 38 first-place ballots and 351 points.

Points were awarded on the basis of three for first place, two for second and one for third.

Robinson's batting punch — .316 average, 122 RBI, 49 homers—led the Orioles to the A.L. pennant and a four-game World Series sweep over the Los Angeles Dodgers. He had batted .296, with 33 homers and 113 RBI, for the Reds in 1965.

PALMER'S JACKPOT

Palmer, who had not won a major tournament in the two previous years, won more money in 1966 than any other golfer in history. He pocketed $154,692, beating out Jack Nicklaus by $346.

Auto racer John Surtees of Britain, who bounced back from a serious 1965 injury to win several Grand Prix events last year, was third in the voting with 149 points, including eight first-place nominations.

Relief pitcher Phil Regan of the Dodgers; running back Dick Bass of the Los Angeles Rams; light-heavyweight boxing champion Dick Tiger; first baseman Boog Powell of the Orioles; golfer Billy Casper, and two teams — the Orioles and the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League — finished behind Robinson, Parlmer and Surtees.

Pagan Inks Pact

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates announced yesterday that infielder Jose Pagan has signed his contract for next season. The Pirates said Pagan, 32, mailed his contract from his home in Caguas, P.R.

Nine Straight Meadow Club Titles For Mrs. John Cann

Wedding Gift Started Her Golf Career

By GARY TISCHLER

Wedding presents are usually bright and silvery enough to blind you or they're all lace and frills and wrapped in ooh's and ah's.

Fourteen years ago, Mrs. John Cann found a set of golf clubs among her wedding gifts. They were from her thoughtful husband, himself an avid golfer.

Mrs. Cann took the hint. Five years of constant lessons, hard practice and work later, she won her first tournament championship at Meadow Club in Fairfax.

Last May, Mrs. Cann, of 25 Entrada Ave., San Anselmo, won her ninth straight championship. It has almost been automatic.

COOKBOOK INSTEAD?

"I think he should have given me a cookbook," Mrs. Cann said.

"I started playing at Presidio," she said. "I felt right at home. It was raining."

Mrs. Cann originally came from Seattle, Wash., where rain is automatic, too.

Forty years old, trim, and a good hitter on the course, Mrs. Cann is a believer in golf. To her, playing a good round of golf beats those aspirins every time.

"Well, first of all, it's a wonderful way to exercise," she said. "It's a good escape mechanism. You don't have to think about anything but golf. It relieves a lot of tension and it's a fine way to keep from getting fat."

EIGHT HANDICAP

A good day of golf to Mrs. Cann is shooting below 80, to go with her eight handicap.

"I don't take it half seriously enough," she said. "My handicap used to be six. My husband says I'm not enough of a competitor."

Those Meadow Club championships all came in match play and most of them went no further than the 16th hole.

"There was one, about three years ago," she recalled. "I remember I had trouble hitting the fairway while the other women kept hitting it, pitching and putting it in. I finally won on the 20th hole. That's the longest it's gone."

CHAMPIONSHIP FORM—Mrs. John Cann of San Anselmo displays the championship form which has helped her win nine straight Meadow Club ladies' titles. Action came in her title match against Mrs. Norman Green in 1965. (Independent-Journal photo)

Mrs. Cann is right at home on the athletic range. In addition to golf, she bowls in two leagues, a scratch and a handicap, and plays a little tennis on the side as well as cooking "when I find time."

"I carry about a 171 average," she said of her bowling activity.

She spends about three days a week playing golf "when I'm playing well."

The way the Meadow Club championships have been rolling in, Mrs. Cann must still be playing well.

NFL's Washington Signs Draft Choice

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Redskins announced today the signing of Dick Redding of Northwestern State College of Louisiana, their 11th round draft pick a year ago.

Redding, 6-foot and 200 pounds, from Natchitoches, La., was used as a tight end in college but the Redskins said he will be tried at split end.

631 SERIES, 277 GAME

A SPECIAL PLEA TO CLARENCE TROUTMAN, WOMELSDORF, PENN..

(PEOPLE DON'T KNOW IT WENT 600,000 MILES BEFORE IT DID.)

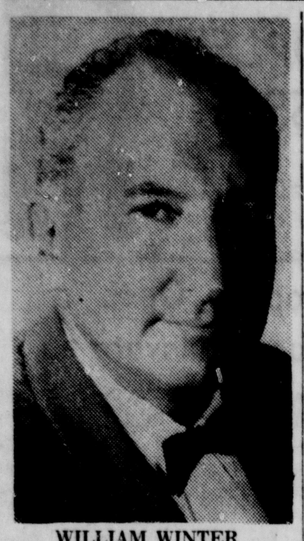

New-car Transporter Clarence Troutman drove his 1954 Dodge tractor 600,000 miles before a universal joint let go right across the street from the Dodge truck plant. Then he drove it another 491,000 miles before trading it on a new Dodge D700 tractor. Other than the universal, what did Mr. Troutman replace on his Dodge? "The engine every 200,000 miles. Every 150,000 to 175,000 miles I rebuilt the transmission and rear axle." And that was about it. Except that he did replace one brake drum somewhere along the line. Now he figures he'll put another million miles on the new D700 then both of them will be ready for retirement.

WILLIAM WINTER
Speaker at college

Commentator To Conclude Lectures

William Winter, newspaper, radio and television reporter and commentator for more than 30 years, will speak on "The Current Crisis" Friday at 8 p.m. in the concluding talk in College of Marin's fall semester concert-lecture series in Olney Hall. The lecture is free.

Winter started as a trial attorney at 20. His daily broadcasts from San Francisco during World War II brought him the reputation as the "Voice of America" in the Pacific war zone.

He publishes a weekly commentary on world events in addition to his broadcasts.

Dinner Meeting Set Tomorrow

Belvedere will host the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen tomorrow in a dinner meeting at the San Francisco Yacht Club, starting at 6:30 p.m.

Robert Van Blairicom will show a film and talk about "The Crusie of the Armorel," a voyage he and his wife took from the Isle of Wight, on the south coast of England, to Sausalito in 1959. The Van Blaricoms lived in Sausalito 11 years before moving recently to Tiburon.

On the agenda for discussion is the County-City Services Committee. Council members will consider the board of supervisors' proposal to do away with the committee and delegate its responsibilities to the Local Agency Formation Commission.

Federal Flood Insurance Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government subsidized flood insurance was proposed yesterday by Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore.

A bill he introduced in Congress would provide for issuance of the insurance by private companies at "reasonable premium rates" with the government making up the difference between these and the actuarial risk for insurance for floods, mudslides and tidal waves.

Hub Councilmen Again Face Nursery Problem

A petition claiming that the San Anselmo co-operative Nursery at 25 Myrtle Lane is a nuisance will again be considered by the San Anselmo City Council today at 8 p.m. at City Hall.

The petition, signed by 25 residents of Myrtle Lane and Laurel Avenue, was first presented to the council Dec. 13, but the council took no action then for lack of sufficient information.

The nursery is an adult education project of the College of Marin.

A map recommended by the planning commission, showing the ultimate boundaries of San Anselmo including Sleepy Hollow, will be considered for presentation to the Local Agency Formation Commission.

Widening of Sir Francis Drake removed in the project, will again be before the council.

Eugene R. Hammond has submitted a claim against the city for damages to his car when he drove it into a hole in front of the Red Hill Shopping Center.

Max Friedman seeks permission to use a building at 1405 San Anselmo Avenue for a Duplex. The council will consider declaring a retaining wall in the creek at 144 Meadowcroft Drive a nuisance.

The council will hear a report on drainage problems on Los Angeles Boulevard, and will receive a petition from property owners on Rosemont Avenue for a larger fire hydrant.

Geologists Ask Bay Quake Study

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U. S. Geological Survey asked Congress today for $271,000 to speed up earthquake research in the San Francisco Bay Area and along the San Andreas Fault.

The funds were included in the agency's $88,199,000 budget request for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Geological Survey officials said the research would help in the location and design of structures in earthquake-prone areas and was expected to lead ultimately to the prediction of earthquakes.

Students Dream Up Commute Ideas

By FRED McGEHAN
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — While their elders debate, some brainy graduate students have come up with a plan to cure urban transit ills by the year 2000.

Named Project METRAN, it calls for some radical innovations.

METRAN — Short for metropolitan transportation — is the brainchild of 31 graduate engineering and planning students at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

First to come, if the students have their way, would be BOS or Bus Only Streets. "Every third or fourth street" in a downtown area would be closed to cars and parking and turned over solely to buses.

Buses would be redesigned to provide "bubble" tops for better sightseeing and wide, curb-level doors for quicker entering. "Travel time could be cut in half by more doors and quicker access," say the students. Such a system, they feel, "could come almost immediately."

Starting around 1980, BOS would gradually be supplanted by PERC — Personalized Capsule.

PERC is envisioned as a two-man capsule resembling a ski-lift gondola that would be electrically powered and run on narrow concrete guideways above city sidewalks.

Hundreds of the capsules would travel at speeds of 20 miles an hour around ctiy business and shipping districts. Passengers could step directly from PERC'S into stores and offices because the stops would be integrated into the buildings.

The students estimate that a PERC prototype to connect the Logan International Airport with a nearby transit stop in Boston would cost $15 million to develop and construct.

Meanwhile out in the suburbs, a 10-passenger "Minibus" called GENIE would be introduced to take suburbanites from their homes to central transit stations for downtown travel.

Wishing a ride, a suburbanite would dial a number and a GENIE would be dispatched to his house. Its route would be computer-controlled so several stops could be made in any one sector.

Home-waiting time would be "two-and-a-half to three minutes" and travel time would be "about five minutes," the students say.

A reverse routing process would be in effect for the homeward trip.

Linking city and suburbia, probably by 1990, would be an automated guideway that could handle both cars and buses.

Such a system would require dual-purpose cars that could be operated manually on regular streets and hooked into an electrical system for driverless guideway travel.

Cars would be checked for mechanical defects at guideway toll booths and a computer would control access to the 60-mile-an-hour traffic stream. By punching his destination on an in-car computer, the driver could relax with a paper while his route was automatically plotted.

A gigantic central computer would plot alternate routes to bypass accidents and tie-ups.

Once in town, the driver would step out at his destination and let his car be automatically parked in a nearby garage.

Camaro MOD-ness is catching on

ONLY CAR IN ITS CLASS TO GIVE YOU ALL THIS

And all this is only a sampling of what's making Camaro come on so strong, so fast. They're things you expect in a sporty driving machine. But only get in Camaro. Look 'em over. Then, make your next move one that'll drive you absolutely wild. Take a trip in the goer most mod for '67 . . . Camaro! We're holding one for you.

more mod in the body—Longer, lower, wider, heavier than any car for the price. Overall space: more head, hip, leg and shoulder room.

boss mover—Boldest standard V8 on the scene—210 hp. (Up to 350 cu. in. on order.) Altogether, you've got a choice of 15 power teams. (Would you believe the closest runner-up has only 13? Believe it.) For mixing four-on-the-floor, order one with any engine, even Sixes.

big on buckets—In every model, a pair. Every pair, the most comfortable hip-huggers around. But if you like your passenger closer, we'll make it easy by ordering the Strato-back front seat (sport coupe only) with fold-down center armrest.

most agile one in town—Camaro, for the price, has the lock on responsive sports car handling and surefootedness. Credit goes to its new wide stance and proved suspension. But this we want you to experience for yourself in a test drive. It's some of what's making Camaro MOD-ness catch on.

gone-mod headlights—Chalk up another for singular styling: Camaro Rally Sport's hideaway eyes give you an open and shut case for exclusiveness at its price. When closed you've got an unbroken sweep of fender-to-fender grille. All MOD, man!

way-out model choices—Note to shoppers: please plan to spend more time with us. You'll want to see all nine exterior styling combinations for each Camaro model. (The others only have three.)

wild fold-down rear seat—For extra package room, on both hardtop and convertible, you can specify the fold-down rear seat. Notice when the seat back is down, it's fully carpeted. (Carpeting, of course, is standard on all Camaros.)

boss, too: the value bit—Camaro alone gives you all these: rust inhibiting flush-and-dry rocker panels; smoother, more lustrous Magic-Mirror acrylic lacquer finish; and longer lasting bonded brake linings.

now dig the price—Camaro costs virtually the same as the others, if not less, when the extras most people want are added. Your dealer will give you the exact figures when you come in for a ride.

ALMANAC

Today is Tuesday, Jan. 24, the 24th day of 1967 with 341 to follow.

The moon is approaching the full stage. The morning stars are Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus, Saturn and Jupiter.

American ballerina Maria Tallchief was born on this day in 1925.

Onthis day in history:

In 1848, gold was discovered in the Sacramento River near Goloma.

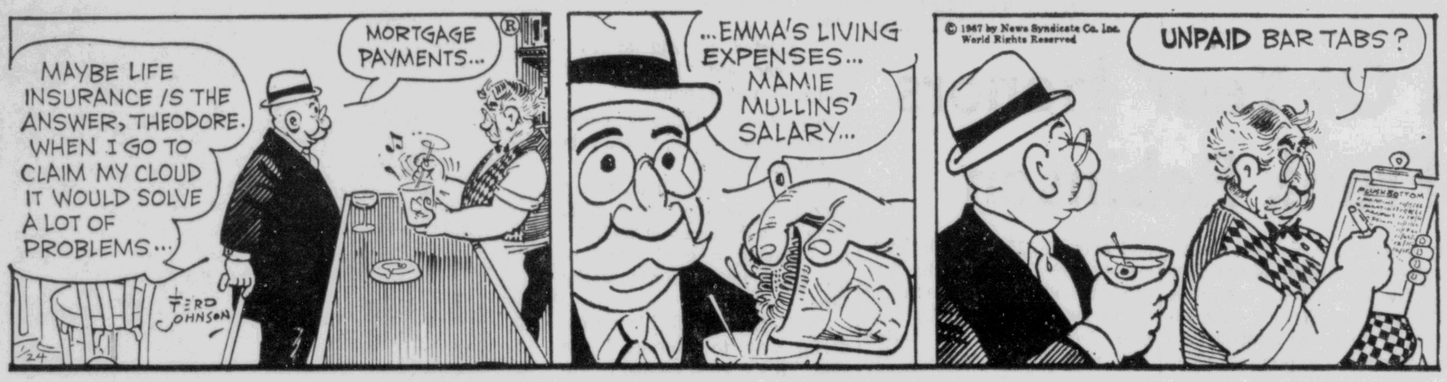

In 1945, Soviet troops crossed the Oder River and landed on German soil for the first time.

In 1946, the United Nations General Assembly voted to create an Atomic Energy Commission.

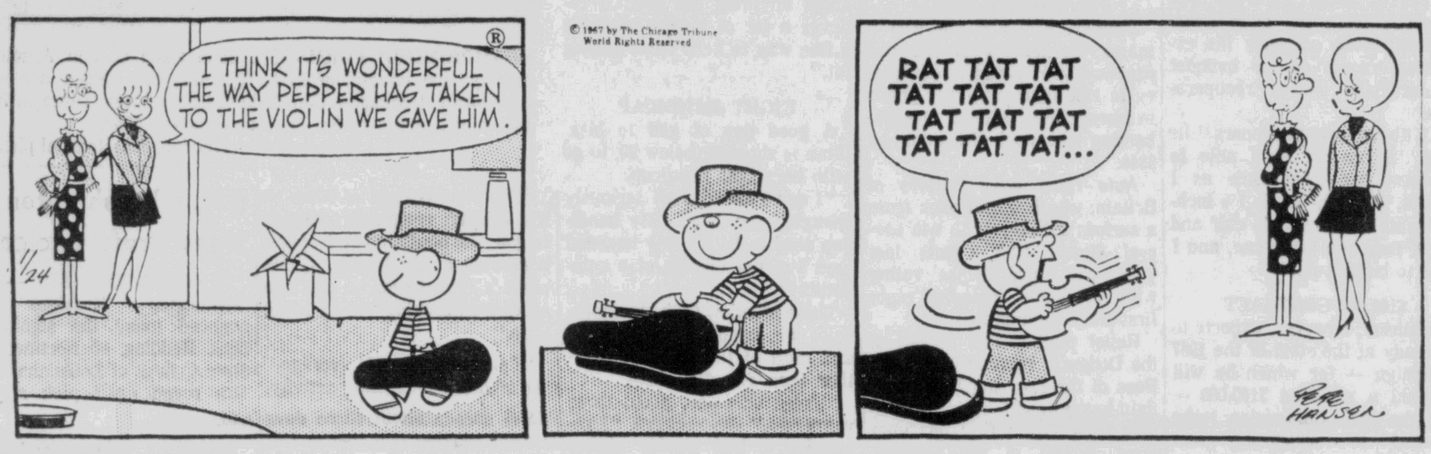

In 1966, President Johnson submitted a record $112.8 billion budget. Also 117 persons were killed in the crash of an Air India jet 707 on Mont Blanc in France.

A Thought for the Day — American journalist H. L. Mencken said: "It is the dull man who is always sure, and the sure man who is always dull."

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Sometimes You Just Can't Win, Even By Making The Right Play

"Keep your head down, and don't look up during the bidding or play," a friend of mine advised his wife during a recent bridge game.

"It doesn't do anything for her game," he whispered to me. "but it stops her from seeing the look on my face."

The lady had just played the hand shown today.

Opening lead — ♠ J

South took the queen of spades, led a heart to dummy's king and returned the jack of diamonds for a finesse.

I played a low diamond from the West hand.

SOUTH STYMIED

Our heroine continued with dummy's low diamond.

My partner (and wife) discarded a spade from the East hand.

South put up the ace of diamonds and continued with the queen of diamonds.

I refused the trick again.

Now South had three diamond tricks but could not get a fourth. She could get to dummy with the king of clubs to set up another diamond, but then she would never get back to dummy for the good diamond.

South lost no diamonds but eventually had to give up two hearts. Down one.

NOTHING WRONG

There was nothing wrong with leading a heart to dummy's king and returning the jack of diamonds from dummy.

But South must step up with the ace of diamonds and return the queen of diamonds next.

When this trick is refused, South can still continue with the deuce of diamonds.

It is a cinch to set up the diamonds with the king of clubs as an entry.

South gets four diamond tricks instead of only three, making the slam.

SURPRISE SCOLDING

As the hand was actually played, my defense was simple but correct.

I expected no medals for it, but I certainly didn't expect to be scolded.

Unfortunately, my wife heard my friend's whispered explanation of his advice.

"Husbands!" she hissed at me.

Sometimes there's no way to win even if you make the right play.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 2 notrump (22 to 24 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠ 6 5 3
♥ K 7
♦ J 10 9 8 5
♣ K 8 4

ANSWER:

Bid three notrump.

The combined point count should be 29 to 31 points, adding your 7 points to partner's count. The total is easily enough for game, but is not up to the 33 points usually needed for slam.

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Light-face type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

Late Upsurge Erases Earlier Market Loss

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed with a show of strength in turbulent trading today.

The market was erasing a loss as the session ended, a process which had been going on most of the afternoon.

Volume for the day was estimated at 10.1 million shares compared with 10.8 million yesterday.

Control Data was the most active issue, rising 3 points.

The market sank sharply in the morning but showed recuperative power, cutting its losses by a wide margin.

While Wall Street analysts said they welcomed a correction, the selling was short-lived.

Du Pont erased a substantial loss and showed a net gain exceeding a point. General Motors continued more than a point lower.

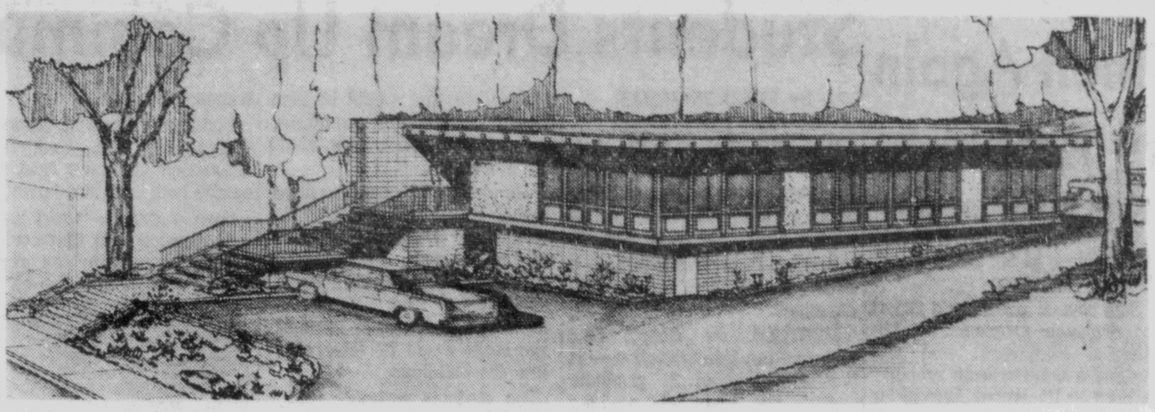

IBM, which declared a stock dividend, was up 2. Gains of a point or more were shown by Polaroid, U. S. Smelting, Raytheon, Illinois Central, Merck, Transitron, Occidental Petroleum and SCM Corp.

On the American Stock Exchange an early decline was erased and the market advanced.

NEW ACCOUNTING OFFICE PROPOSED

This building, designed by Wagstaff and McDonald, San Anselmo, is planned for occupancy in August by certified public accountant Peter James Wikel, who is also a featured writer on tax matters for the Independent-Journal. It is to be located at 275 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, will have 2,000 square feet of office space and off-street parking for eight or nine cars.

60 Banks Ready New Credit Cards

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The California Bancard Assn., involving 60 California banks, expects to have more than one million credit cards mailed in time for start of operations this summer.

The retail credit card program organized by four San Francisco-headquartered banks also plans to sign up more than 30,000 merchants across the state.

The Bank of California, Crocker-Citizens National Bank, United California Bank, and Wells Fargo Bank announced the association last October. The other 56 banks joined later.

Cadillac Sales

DETROIT — Record setting Cadillac new car sales of 6,508 for mid-January have been reported by Fred T. Hopkins, general sales manager of Cadillac Motor Car Division. The 6,508 domestic deliveries set an all time high for the Jan. 11-20 selling period, topping the former mid-Jauary record of 6,343 posted last year.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "Some time ago we purchased 100 shares of Morrison-Knudson at 31. It has declined steadily to 23½. We are not pressed for funds but are in retirement and cannot afford a loss. Should we hold or sell?" —I.B.

A. The answer to your question depends entirely on your investment objective. Morrison-Knudson is a worldwide general contractor—building roads, bridges and manufacturing facilities. Share earnings have very little changed over the past decade and dividend payments are below the 1960 level. The stock is not suitable for growth. If that is your aim, you should look elsewhere. I do not believe that price recovery will come quickly in this type of issue and if that element is important to you I'm afraid you will be disappointed.

I regard Morrison-Knudson as a stock of good quality, offering a realtively high yield on a dividend that seems secure. If inobjective, I would hold the stock and disregard market fluctuations.

Q. "We are in our seventies and have $20,000 in savings; home and income property worth $30,000 free and clear; $100 a week salary. Would you advise selling our real estate and investing in bonds?" — W.B.

A. I don't believe I would. In your circumstances, you should buy only corporate bonds of come during retirement is your good quality, carrying a fairly high coupon and offering call protection for several years ahead. Bond prices have been moving higher, and issues such as I have described no longer yield six per cent or more. I think you would now do well to get a 5.5 per cent return. I doubt if it would pay you to sell your home and reinvest. If your income property is well situated and offers you a return equivalent to present bond yields—as it probably does—I would hold it as a very good long-term hedge against inflation.

Debate Seen Over LBJ's Tax Policies

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — President Johnson's proposals for an income tax surcharge and greater Social Security assessments and benefits are bound to set off political arguments now and philosophical debates forever.

The two proposals are finely intertwined.

If the President receives his entire Social Security package it might necessitate a tax increase. Bigger payouts would mean the Social Security fund would have less money to invest in government securities. The government needs that money.

But a tax increase on top of added costs for higher Social Security benefits would be intolerable to many people. One or the other, perhaps, but not both.

Johnson's Social Security package could be cut in two, thus lessening the need for a tax increase. But that would put the onus on the cutters as having deprived the elderly of greater benefits.

Social Security seems always to have been mixed up in such affairs. As it now stands, Social Security has tremendous backing from most elements of American life, Congress included, but it has been and may always be controversial.

The size of Social Security — that alone — can provoke disputes. Johnson's proposals call for maximum assessments of $390 in 1969, and that's 13 times the original levy made in 1937.

The assessment for 1968 of $343 wasn't scheduled under the present setup to take effect until after 1972. Its a big jump. If passed, a lot of people will feel the pinch. They'll want help.

This will resurrect an old argument, one that trips more tempers than most issues. That is, whether or not to draw on general revenue funds to help pay the cost of Social Security.

This seems innocent enough. It isn't. It symbolizes in one issue a basic difference between some liberals and some conservatives and, perhaps by an emotional extension, the difference between welfarism and capitalism.

Those who criticize Social Security because they think it is a potentially cancerous growth on free enterprise argue that if funds are obtained from general revenues then payouts constitute a dole rather than insurance. This, they argue, is the guaranteed wage they have come to fear.

These critics argue that Social Security should be self supporting, that its assessments and payments should be scheduled in such a way that the fund would pay its way and be independent of other tax issues.

Even with the big increases in assessments that President Johnson is seeking, the payout to recipients for the present would still be far below the level that permits a minimum of creature comforts.

The minimum benefit for a couple with 25 years of coverage would be raised to $150 and that for a single person to $100. Few recipients could live on this .

The pressure for use of general revenue funds is thus an already potent one, and the issue is bound to be faced sooner or later.

The San Quentin Chapter of California Correctional Officers Assn. has as its president Alfred F. Mello.

WILLIAM WINTER
Speaker at college

Commentator To Conclude Lectures

William Winter, newspaper, radio and television reporter and commentator for more than 30 years, will speak on "The Current Crisis" Friday at 8 p.m. in the concluding talk in College of Marin's fall semester concert-lecture series in Olney Hall. The lecture is free.

Winter started as a trial attorney at 20. His daily broadcasts from San Francisco during World War II brought him the reputation as the "Voice of America" in the Pacific war zone.

He publishes a weekly commentary on world events in addition to his broadcasts.

Dinner Meeting Set Tomorrow

Belvedere will host the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen tomorrow in a dinner meeting at the San Francisco Yacht Club, starting at 6:30 p.m.

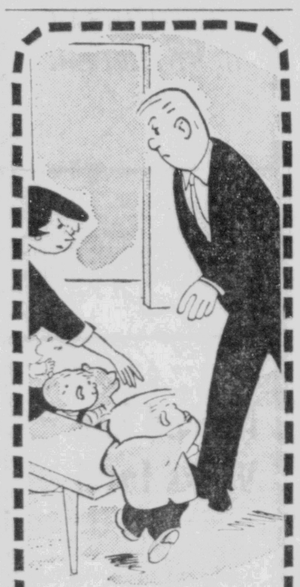

Robert Van Blairicom will show a film and talk about "The Crusie of the Armorel," a voyage he and his wife took from the Isle of Wight, on the south coast of England, to Sausalito in 1959. The Van Blaricoms lived in Sausalito 11 years before moving recently to Tiburon.

On the agenda for discussion is the County-City Services Committee. Council members will consider the board of supervisors' proposal to do away with the committee and delegate its responsibilities to the Local Agency Formation Commission.

Federal Flood Insurance Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government subsidized flood insurance was proposed yesterday by Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore.

A bill he introduced in Congress would provide for issuance of the insurance by private companies at "reasonable premium rates" with the government making up the difference between these and the actuarial risk for insurance for floods, mudslides and tidal waves.

Hub Councilmen Again Face Nursery Problem

A petition claiming that the San Anselmo co-operative Nursery at 25 Myrtle Lane is a nuisance will again be considered by the San Anselmo City Council today at 8 p.m. at City Hall.

The petition, signed by 25 residents of Myrtle Lane and Laurel Avenue, was first presented to the council Dec. 13, but the council took no action then for lack of sufficient information.

The nursery is an adult education project of the College of Marin.

A map recommended by the planning commission, showing the ultimate boundaries of San Anselmo including Sleepy Hollow, will be considered for presentation to the Local Agency Formation Commission.

Widening of Sir Francis Drake removed in the project, will again be before the council.

Eugene R. Hammond has submitted a claim against the city for damages to his car when he drove it into a hole in front of the Red Hill Shopping Center.

Max Friedman seeks permission to use a building at 1405 San Anselmo Avenue for a Duplex. The council will consider declaring a retaining wall in the creek at 144 Meadowcroft Drive a nuisance.

The council will hear a report on drainage problems on Los Angeles Boulevard, and will receive a petition from property owners on Rosemont Avenue for a larger fire hydrant.

Geologists Ask Bay Quake Study

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U. S. Geological Survey asked Congress today for $271,000 to speed up earthquake research in the San Francisco Bay Area and along the San Andreas Fault.

The funds were included in the agency's $88,199,000 budget request for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Geological Survey officials said the research would help in the location and design of structures in earthquake-prone areas and was expected to lead ultimately to the prediction of earthquakes.

Students Dream Up Commute Ideas

By FRED McGEHAN
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — While their elders debate, some brainy graduate students have come up with a plan to cure urban transit ills by the year 2000.

Named Project METRAN, it calls for some radical innovations.

METRAN — Short for metropolitan transportation — is the brainchild of 31 graduate engineering and planning students at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

First to come, if the students have their way, would be BOS or Bus Only Streets. "Every third or fourth street" in a downtown area would be closed to cars and parking and turned over solely to buses.

Buses would be redesigned to provide "bubble" tops for better sightseeing and wide, curb-level doors for quicker entering. "Travel time could be cut in half by more doors and quicker access," say the students. Such a system, they feel, "could come almost immediately."

Starting around 1980, BOS would gradually be supplanted by PERC — Personalized Capsule.

PERC is envisioned as a two-man capsule resembling a ski-lift gondola that would be electrically powered and run on narrow concrete guideways above city sidewalks.

Hundreds of the capsules would travel at speeds of 20 miles an hour around ctiy business and shipping districts. Passengers could step directly from PERC'S into stores and offices because the stops would be integrated into the buildings.

The students estimate that a PERC prototype to connect the Logan International Airport with a nearby transit stop in Boston would cost $15 million to develop and construct.

Meanwhile out in the suburbs, a 10-passenger "Minibus" called GENIE would be introduced to take suburbanites from their homes to central transit stations for downtown travel.

Wishing a ride, a suburbanite would dial a number and a GENIE would be dispatched to his house. Its route would be computer-controlled so several stops could be made in any one sector.

Home-waiting time would be "two-and-a-half to three minutes" and travel time would be "about five minutes," the students say.

A reverse routing process would be in effect for the homeward trip.

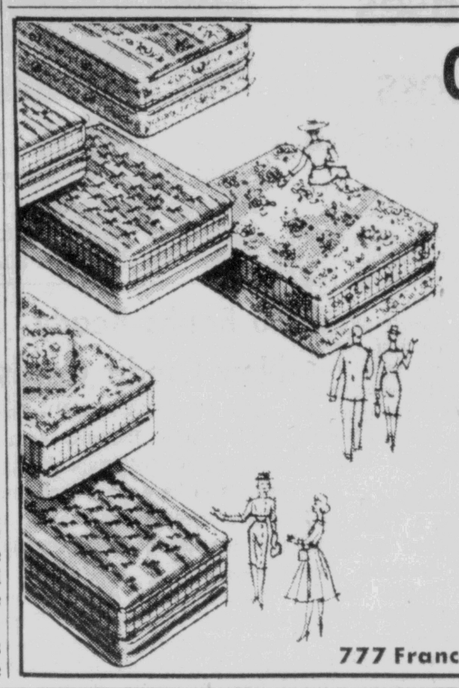

Linking city and suburbia, probably by 1990, would be an automated guideway that could handle both cars and buses.

Such a system would require dual-purpose cars that could be operated manually on regular streets and hooked into an electrical system for driverless guideway travel.

Cars would be checked for mechanical defects at guideway toll booths and a computer would control access to the 60-mile-an-hour traffic stream. By punching his destination on an in-car computer, the driver could relax with a paper while his route was automatically plotted.

A gigantic central computer would plot alternate routes to bypass accidents and tie-ups.

Once in town, the driver would step out at his destination and let his car be automatically parked in a nearby garage.

Camaro MOD-ness is catching on

ONLY CAR IN ITS CLASS TO GIVE YOU ALL THIS

And all this is only a sampling of what's making Camaro come on so strong, so fast. They're things you expect in a sporty driving machine. But only get in Camaro. Look 'em over. Then, make your next move one that'll drive you absolutely wild. Take a trip in the goer most mod for '67 . . . Camaro! We're holding one for you.

more mod in the body—Longer, lower, wider, heavier than any car for the price. Overall space: more head, hip, leg and shoulder room.

boss mover—Boldest standard V8 on the scene—210 hp. (Up to 350 cu. in. on order.) Altogether, you've got a choice of 15 power teams. (Would you believe the closest runner-up has only 13? Believe it.) For mixing four-on-the-floor, order one with any engine, even Sixes.

big on buckets—In every model, a pair. Every pair, the most comfortable hip-huggers around. But if you like your passenger closer, we'll make it easy by ordering the Strato-back front seat (sport coupe only) with fold-down center armrest.

most agile one in town—Camaro, for the price, has the lock on responsive sports car handling and surefootedness. Credit goes to its new wide stance and proved suspension. But this we want you to experience for yourself in a test drive. It's some of what's making Camaro MOD-ness catch on.

gone-mod headlights—Chalk up another for singular styling: Camaro Rally Sport's hideaway eyes give you an open and shut case for exclusiveness at its price. When closed you've got an unbroken sweep of fender-to-fender grille. All MOD, man!

way-out model choices—Note to shoppers: please plan to spend more time with us. You'll want to see all nine exterior styling combinations for each Camaro model. (The others only have three.)

wild fold-down rear seat—For extra package room, on both hardtop and convertible, you can specify the fold-down rear seat. Notice when the seat back is down, it's fully carpeted. (Carpeting, of course, is standard on all Camaros.)

boss, too: the value bit—Camaro alone gives you all these: rust inhibiting flush-and-dry rocker panels; smoother, more lustrous Magic-Mirror acrylic lacquer finish; and longer lasting bonded brake linings.

now dig the price—Camaro costs virtually the same as the others, if not less, when the extras most people want are added. Your dealer will give you the exact figures when you come in for a ride.

FREE... WILD NEW SOUNDS!

An exclusive record, The Cyrkle doing "Camaro" with "SS 396" by Paul Revere and the Raiders, is yours for driving any '67 Chevrolet. Get one while they last! Available only at Chevrolet dealerships to licensed drivers.
